this book presents reflections on the relationship between narratives and argumentative discourse it focuses on their functional and structural similarities or dissimilarities and offers diverse perspectives and conceptual tools for analyzing the narratives potential power for justification explanation and persuasion divided into two sections the first part under the title narratives as sources of knowledge and argument includes five chapters addressing rather general theoretical and characteristically philosophical issues related to the argumentative analysis and understanding of narratives we may perceive here how scholars in argumentation theory have recently approached certain topics that have a close connection with mainstream discussions in epistemology and the cognitive sciences about the justificatory potential of narratives the second part entitled argumentative narratives in context brings us six more chapters that concentrate on either particular functions played by argumentatively oriented narratives or particular practices that may benefit from the use of special kinds of narratives here the focus is either on the detailed analysis of contextualized examples of narratives with argumentative qualities or on the careful understanding of the particular demands of certain well defined situated activities as diverse as scientific theorizing or war policing that may be satisfied by certain uses of narrative discourse during the last 10 years more and more linguistic and psycholinguistic research has been devoted to the study of discourse and written texts much of this research deals with the markers that underline the connections and the breaks between clauses and sentences plus the use of these markers by adults and children in the production and comprehension of oral and written material in this volume major observations and theoretical views from both sides of the atlantic are brought together to appeal to a wide range of linguists psychologists and speech therapists the volume presents contributions from researchers interested specifically in adult language and from others concerned with developmental aspects of language some contributors deal primarily with production whereas others concentrate on comprehension some direct their attention to oral discourse while others focus on written texts to preserve overall coherence however the contributors were given the following recommendations with regard to the level of linguistic analysis the emphasis should be on the clause level more particularly on the relationships between clauses special emphasis should also be placed on linguistic markers e g connectives markers of segmentation punctuation an overview of a given field of research should be offered and current research should be put into perspective for contributors in the developmental field attention should be paid to the fact that an account of the acquisition of some language functions throughout childhood should be included only if general principles of interclause relations that might be masked by the exclusive examination of adult evidence could be derived from it
