this volume offers novel insights into linguistic diversity in the domains of spatial and temporal reference searching for uniformity amongst diversity a number of authors discuss expression of dynamic spatial relations cross linguistically in a vast range of typologically different languages such as bezhta french hinuq italian japanese polish serbian and spanish among others the contributions on linguistic expression of time all shed new light on pertinent questions regarding this cognitive domain such as the hotly debated relationship between cross linguistic differences in talking about time and universal principles of utterance interpretation modelling temporal inference through aspectual interactions as well as the complexity of the acquisition of tense aspect relations in a second language the topic of space and time in language and culture is also represented from a different point of view in the sister volume space and time in languages and cultures language culture and cognition hcp 37 which discusses spatial and temporal constructs in human language cognition and culture in order to come closer to a better understanding of the interaction between shared and individual characteristics of language and culture that shape the way people interact with each other and exchange information about the spatio temporal constructs that underlie their cognitive social and linguistic foundations the theoretical issues addressed in the present volume are semantic and cognitive properties of reciprocal events syntactic properties of reciprocals and the relationship of reciprocals to other grammatical categories several papers discuss the history of reciprocal constructions offering alternative hypotheses regarding the grammaticalization of reciprocals the formal functional typological and historical approaches in the present volume complement each other contributing together to the understanding of forms and syntactic and semantic properties of reciprocal markers several papers in the present volume make a double contribution to the problems of reciprocal constructions they provide new descriptive data and they address theoretical issues at the same time the languages discussed include english dutch german greek polish nyulnyulan australia amharic ethio semitic bilin cushitic chadic languages bantu halkomelem salishan mandarin yukaghir and a number of oceanic languages the volume also includes a study of grammaticalization of reciprocals and reflexives in african languages this comprehensive study concentrates particularly on the use of a closed set of motion verbs in five of the major dialects including mandarin wú hakka min and cantonese the author shows that these dialects form a continuum with some exhibiting more characteristics of a verb framed language than the others the phenomenon reflects the various stages of typological transformation and grammaticalization that the dialects have undergone this innovative and original volume brings together studies that apply cognitive and functional linguistics to the study of the l2 acquisition of japanese with each article grounded on the usage based model and or conceptual notions such as foregrounding and subjectivity the volume sheds light on how cognitive and functional linguistics can help us understand aspects of japanese acquisition that have been neglected by traditionalists southern min also known as hokkien or minnan is a major branch of chinese spoken mainly in fujian and taiwan but also in guangdong hainan and hong kong as well as in many countries of southeast asia highly conservative in its linguistic profile it is considered by many scholars to be a living language fossil due to the preservation of many archaic features that reflect its long lasting history and culture yet to date there has been no comprehensive study of southern min using a typological framework as the tendency is to base analyses on the model of mandarin chinese the standard language this grammar aims to present a systematic description of the hui an variety of southern min mainly based on data collected via naturally occurring conversation the volume includes four parts nominal structure predicate structure clause structure and complex sentences as well as a brief overview of phonology it will have great appeal for heritage speakers graduate students and scholars in both chinese linguistics and typology this volume explores the implications of chinese for linguistic theory building and for the field of second language acquisition bringing together selected papers from the first international symposium on chinese theoretical and applied linguistics it sheds light upon under documented topics in a variety of areas within theoretical and applied research the topics covered here include competing approaches within optimality theory to phonological opacity formal solutions to puzzles in shanghaiense morphosyntax and different approaches to polarity items and presentational sentences in chinese with regard to applied linguistics the contributions in this volume address challenges in the acquisition of chinese phonology by l1 danish speakers as well as the acquisition of the mandarin ba construction by cantonese learners and the expression of social judgements in the l1 and l2 taken together the papers in this volume contribute to the empirical documentation of aspects of the chinese language and its acquisition as well as helping to unpack the significance of chinese for mainstream linguistic theory csia 2014 focusses on improvements in computer science in industrial application the contributions are grouped into five main sections 1 computer and information technology 2 business management e commerce and tourism this section covers mainly basic theory and general method of economic management businesses and market economy nbs the history of chinese philosophy is a comprehensive and authoritative examination of the movements and thinkers that have shaped chinese philosophy over the last three thousand years an outstanding team of international contributors provide seventeen accessible entries organised into five clear parts identity of chinese philosophy classical chinese philosophy i pre han period classical chinese philosophy ii from han through tang classical chinese philosophy iii from song through early qing modern chinese philosophy from late qing through 21st century this outstanding collection is essential reading for students of chinese philosophy and will be of interest to those seeking to explore the lasting significance this rich and complex philosophical tradition this indispensable volume contains articles that represent the best of huang s work on the syntax semantics interface over the last two decades it includes three general topics a questions indefinites and quantification b anaphora c lexical structure and the syntax of events this volume brings together 19 cutting edge studies written by some of the most prominent linguists working on chinese formal syntax as a festschrift volume dedicated to yen hui audrey li the contributions to the volume address a wide range of issues currently developing in the field of chinese syntax grouped into five thematic sections on the structure of lexical and functional projections modal verb syntax syntax semantics interactions the syntax and interpretation of particles and the acquisition of syntactic structures with its rich descriptive content sourced from different varieties of chinese and its theoretical orientation and analyses the book provides an important new resource both for researchers with a primary interest in chinese and other linguists interested in discovering how properties of chinese can inform the analysis of other languages nicky venditti a u s army helicopter pilot with a love of fast cars and practical jokes went to vietnam in 1969 and was dead in 11 days killed by an americal division grenade training explosion at chu lai the full story of the incident did not come out until the author david venditta a different spelling venditti s cousin made a chance discovery that began a decades long effort to find out exactly what happened what the army did about it and who was held responsible this book documents the army's mishandling of the incident and the effects on the families and friends of venditti and of the two other young soldiers who died with him Edward Harold Stuart Simmonds who died on November 9 1994 aged 75 will be remembered as one of the few distinguished scholars who combined a knowledge of both the languages and the literatures of Thailand and Laos and who between 1951 and 1967 succeeded almost single handedly in establishing the study of Tai languages literature and culture in British universities this book presents a fascinating series of essays written in his honour as a subject of universal appeal spatial demonstratives have been studied extensively from a variety of disciplines what marks the present study as distinct is that it is an English-Chinese comparative study set in a cognitive linguistic framework and that the methodology features a parallel corpora based discourse analysis approach the framework illuminates the nature of the demonstratives basic and extended meaning and use the connections between them and the mechanisms that govern and constrain their trends of extension the corpora place the English and Chinese demonstratives in comparable discourse contexts and processes providing an ecological environment for the observation of how their behavior fits into the respective structural and discourse systems of the two languages the study also illuminates important issues such as the subjectivity of language language as a representational system and a vehicle of communication the interface between form and function and the role of context in discourse comprehension this is the first of two volumes of research on discourse particles focusing exclusively on the languages of Asia from the perspective of formal as well as non-formal semantics and pragmatics within linguistics there has been a great deal of interest in discourse particles especially within semantics and pragmatics the term discourse particles has been used to cover a broad range of phenomena including such things as sentence final particles discourse adverbs and other related phenomena however most research in the area particularly within formal semantics and pragmatics focuses on a restricted set of languages and there is little consensus on the proper formal treatment of particles partly due to the limited range of data available in recent years there has been extensive development of the formal approach to discourse particles which often treats these words as devices for marking information updates it is also vital to extend this data to non-western languages like Japanese Korean or Chinese this edited volume includes chapters on Japanese Mandarin Tagalog Kimaragang Dusun Malay Singlish Thai and Vietnamese the chapters are informed by recent theoretical work in formal semantics and pragmatics relating to the meaning of particles the collection contributes to our theoretical understanding of the meaning of discourse particles and to empirical knowledge of discourse particles in the languages of Asia it will be of interest to postgraduate students and scholars of semantics and pragmatics structure is at the rock bottom of all explanatory sciences Jan Koster forty years ago the hypothesis that underlying the bewildering variety of syntactic phenomena are general and unified structural patterns of unexpected beauty and simplicity gave rise to major advancements in the study of Dutch and Germanic syntax with important implications for the theory of grammar as a whole Jan Koster was one of the central figures in this development and he has continued to explore the structure preserving hypothesis throughout his illustrious career this collection of articles by over forty syntacticians celebrates the advancements made in the study of syntax over the past forty years reflecting on the structural principles underlying syntactic phenomena and emulating the approach to syntactic analysis embodied in Jan Koster's teaching and research amongst the troubadour poets Giraut de Borneil was one of the most important and influential this 1989 edition covers Giraut's entire output on the early morning of March 16 1968 American soldiers from three platoons of Charlie Company 1st Battalion 20th Infantry Regiment 11th Brigade 23rd Infantry Division entered a group of hamlets located in the Son Tinh district of South Vietnam located near the demilitarized zone and known as pinkville because of the high level of vietcong infiltration the soldiers many still teenagers who had been in the country for three months were on a search and destroy mission the tet offensive had occurred only weeks earlier and in the same area and had made them jittery so had mounting losses from booby traps and a seemingly invisible enemy three hours after the gis entered the hamlets more than five hundred unarmed villagers lay dead killed in cold blood the atrocity took its name from one of the hamlets known by the americans as my lai 4 military authorities attempted to suppress the news of my lai until some who had been there in particular a helicopter pilot named hugh thompson and a door gunner named lawrence colburn spoke up about what they had seen the official line was that the villagers had been killed by artillery and gunship fire rather than by small arms that line soon began to fray lieutenant william calley one of the platoon leaders admitted to shooting the villagers but insisted that he had acted upon orders an exposé of the massacre and cover up by journalist seymour hersh followed by graphic photographs incited international outrage and congressional and u s army inquiries began calley and nearly thirty other officers were charged with war crimes though calley alone was convicted and would serve three and a half years under house arrest before being paroled in 1974 my lai polarized american sentiment many saw calley as a scapegoat the victim of a doomed strategy in an unwinnable war others saw a war criminal president nixon was poised to offer a presidential pardon the atrocity intensified opposition to the war devastating any pretense of american moral superiority its effect on military morale and policy was profound and enduring the army implemented reforms and began enforcing adherence to the hague and geneva conventions before launching an offensive during desert storm in 1991 one general warned his brigade commanders no my lais in this division do you hear me compelling comprehensive and haunting based on both exhaustive archival research and extensive interviews howard jones s my lai will stand as the definitive book on one of the most devastating events in american military history this volume introduces students to the most controversial incident of the vietnam war the my lai massacre when almost 400 vietnamese civilians were killed in four hours the authors discuss the ramifications of the cover up and the ensuing investigations for the american public policymakers the anti war movement and the soldiers involved they examine the causes of the massacre and the issues of culpability and human rights the narrative is built around 70 primary documents drawn mainly from testimony and reports from the government enquiry into the outrage accessible to readers useful to specialists much as been written on michelangelo by 1970 the number of scholarly books and articles exceeded 4 000 approximately a tenth in english in the past 25 years the literature has grown exponentially with a notable increase in english language publications the five volume series reproduces some 100 articles in english selected from a broad range of books and journals the collection is both accessible to the general reader and useful to the specialist offering a representative sample of old and new commentary on the artist and his work the career of a genius articles are arranged chronologically with separate volumes covering the artist s early life and works the sistine chapel ceiling commission associated with san lorenzo the tomb of julius ii and other roman projects and a final volume devoted to drawings poetry and miscellaneous studies spanning his entire 89 year life the articles explore michelangelo s prodigious creativity as an artist thinker and poet the sheer quantity of what has been written on michelangelo can be intimidating most student have little sense of how to approach or effectively utilize the vast literature by presenting a varied introduction to a great artist this collection is a handy reference tool for a wide array of topics problems and literature this book constitutes the thoroughly refereed post workshop proceedings of the 19th chinese lexical semantics workshop clsw 2018 held in chiayi taiwan in may 2018 the 50 full papers and 19 short papers included monitoring of vegetation structure and functioning is critical to modeling terrestrial ecosystems and energy cycles in particular leaf area index lai is an important structural property of vegetation used in many land surface vegetation climate and crop production models canopy structure lai fcover plant height and biomass and biochemical parameters leaf pigmentation and water content directly influence the radiative transfer process of sunlight in vegetation determining the amount of radiation measured by passive sensors in the visible and infrared portions of the electromagnetic spectrum optical remote sensing rs methods build relationships exploiting in situ measurements and or as outputs of physical canopy radiative transfer models the increased availability of passive radar and lidar rs data has fostered their use in many applications for the analysis of land surface properties and processes thanks also to their insensitivity to weather conditions and the capability to exploit rich structural and textural information data fusion and multi sensor integration techniques are pressing topics to fully exploit the information conveyed by both optical and microwave bands language is a symbolic system of meanings evoked by linguistic forms the choice of forms in communication is non arbitrary rather speakers pick those forms whose meanings best convey their discourse intention the meaning of the mandarin ba construction argues jing schmidt is discourse dramaticity a concept that includes high conceptual salience and subjectivity the ba construction and its syntactic variations are never interchangeable because contrast in their meanings determines difference in their functions quantitative analyses based on authentic data validate the postulation of discourse dramaticity by taking discourse pragmatics seriously the dramaticity hypothesis enables a unitary explanation that transcends sentence grammar the diachronic treatment reveals the syntactic change of the ba construction as an adaptive process of pragmatization which raises the issue of linguistic evolution as a result of socio cultural development this book will be of particular value to readers interested in the interaction between grammar and pragmatics and to teachers confronting the controversy of the ba construction in foreign language pedagogy
