conflict dynamics presents case studies of six nation states sierra leone the republic of congo sri lanka myanmar indonesia and peru in the book alethia h cook and marie olson lounsbery examine the evolving nature of violence in intrastate conflicts as well as the governments and groups involved by focusing on the context of the relationships involved the capacities of the conflict's participants and the actors goals the authors first present a theoretical framework through which the changeable mix of relative group capacities and the resulting tactical decisions can be examined systematically and as conflicts evolve over time they then apply that framework to the six case studies to show its usefulness in better understanding conflicts individually and in comparison while previous research on civil wars has tended to focus on causes and outcomes conflict dynamics takes a more comprehensive approach to understanding conflict behavior the shifting nature of relative group capacity measured in many different ways coupled with dynamic group goals determines the tactical decisions of civil war actors and the paths a rebellion will take the case studies illustrate the relevance of third parties to this process and how their interventions can influence tactics the progression of violence in conflicts is inextricably linked to the decisions made in their midst these influence future iterations of the conflictual relationship complex groups on both sides both drive and are driven by the decisions made understanding conflicts requires that these reciprocal impacts be considered the comparative framework demonstrated in this book allows one to flesh out this complexity from facebook to talking points memo to the new york times often what looks like fact based journalism is not it s advertising not only are ads indistinguishable from reporting the internet we rely on for news opinions and even impartial sales content is now the ultimate corporate tool reader beware content without a corporate sponsor lurking behind it is rare indeed black ops advertising dissects this rapid rise of sponsored content a strategy whereby advertisers have become publishers and publishers create advertising all under the guise of unbiased information covert selling mostly in the form of native advertising and content marketing has so blurred the lines between editorial content and marketing message that it is next to impossible to tell real news from paid endorsements in the 21st century instead of telling us to buy buy buy marketers engage with us so that we share share share the ultimate subtle sell why should this concern us because personal data personal relationships and our very identities are being repackaged in pursuit of corporate profits because tracking and manipulation of data make likes and tweets and followers the currency of importance rather than scientific achievement or artistic talent or information the electorate needs to fully function in a democracy and because we are being manipulated to spend time with technology to interact with friends to always be on even when it is to our physical and mental detriment
