a powerful new theory of human nature suggests that our secret to success as a species is our unique friendliness brilliant eye opening and absolutely inspiring and a riveting read hare and woods have written the perfect book for our time cass r sunstein author of how change happens and co author of nudge for most of the approximately 300 000 years that homo sapiens have existed we have shared the planet with at least four other types of humans all of these were smart strong and inventive but around 50 000 years ago homo sapiens made a cognitive leap that gave us an edge over other species what happened since charles darwin wrote about evolutionary fitness the idea of fitness has been confused with physical strength tactical brilliance and aggression in fact what made us evolutionarily fit was a remarkable kind of friendliness a virtuosic ability to coordinate and communicate with others that allowed us to achieve all the cultural and technical marvels in human history advancing what they call the self domestication theory brian hare professor in the department of evolutionary anthropology and the center for cognitive neuroscience at duke university and his wife vanessa woods a research scientist and award winning journalist shed light on the mysterious leap in human cognition that allowed homo sapiens to thrive but this gift for friendliness came at a cost just as a mother bear is most dangerous around her cubs we are at our most dangerous when someone we love is threatened by an outsider the threatening outsider is demoted to sub human fair game for our worst instincts hare s groundbreaking research developed in close coordination with richard wrangham and michael tomasello giants in the field of cognitive evolution reveals that the same traits that make us the most tolerant species on the planet also make us the cruelest survival of the friendliest offers us a new way to look at our cultural as well as cognitive evolution and sends a clear message in order to survive and even to flourish we need to expand our definition of who belongs
