Quest for the Dutchman's Gold 1991 in 1922 when Howard Carter and Lord Carnarvon discovered the tomb of Tutankhamen, much of what was then known about mummies came from the writing of Greek historian Herodotus and from the paintings on the walls of Egyptian tombs. Even before 1922, the mummy had been the subject of fiction with such writers as Bram Stoker and Sir Arthur Conan Doyle tackling the subject, and early films dating back to 1901. In this work, the authors present the religious, social, and scientific aspects of mummies, as well as an in-depth discussion of facts about them, largely Egyptian but including other kinds of mummies. Then, how mummies are portrayed in fiction and in the movies is discussed, and stories and films in which the mummy is a focal character are listed.

The Green Bag 1891 John Burnham studies the history of changing patterns in the dissemination or popularization of scientific findings to the general public since 1830, focusing on three different areas of science: health, psychology, and the natural sciences. Burnham explores the ways in which this process of popularization has deteriorated; he draws on evidence ranging from early lyceum lecturers to the new math and argues that today popular science is the functional equivalent of superstition.

Code of Federal Regulations 2017 Establishing a factual basis on which to apply the law can be an extraordinarily challenging process and perhaps more so in international arbitration than in any other proceedings due to the very different notions of fact-finding that prevail among jurisdictions. This important book assesses for the first time the contours of an emerging transnational law of fact-finding that promises to greatly enhance the efficiency and reliability of this crucial arbitral procedure. In his analysis, focusing on bases that reflect current but fluid transnational practice, the author assembles a viable lex evidentiariae from an in-depth examination of laboratory synthesis of the principles bodies of source material published arbitration proceedings and awards the general framework of fact finding issues as provided for under the arbitration acts of england and wales the united states germany brazil spain switzerland austria and italy as well as under the model law fact finding stipulations under uncitral arbitration rules as well as under various institutional rules soft law such as the iba rules prague rules ali unidroit principles of transnational civil procedure best practices as captured by legal commentary and investment arbitration proceedings where many decisions and awards are nowadays publicly available in the course of the analysis a comprehensive description and analysis of what fact finding entails including both gathering of facts and taking of evidence is fully elaborated given that it is an essential task of international arbitration proceedings to define the disagreements between the parties and seek to determine the truth the international arbitration community must be able to rely on a robust consistent and predictable albeit flexible and adaptive set of fact finding rules against this background the present study not only provides a stocktaking of current practice but also makes a signal contribution to meeting the need for legal certainty and reliability in international arbitration
