prelude or growth of a poet s mind william wordsworth advertisement the following poem was commenced in the beginning of the year 1799 and completed in the summer of 1805 the design and occasion of the work are described by the author in his preface to the excursion first published in 1814 where he thus speaks several years ago when the author retired to his native mountains with the hope of being enabled to construct a literary work that might live it was a reasonable thing that he should take a review of his own mind and examine how far nature and education had qualified him for such an employment as subsidiary to this preparation he undertook to record in verse the origin and progress of his own powers as far as he was acquainted with them that work addressed to a dear friend most distinguished for his knowledge and genius and to whom the author s intellect is deeply indebted has been long finished and the result of the investigation which gave rise to it was a determination to compose a philosophical poem containing views of man nature and society and to be entitled the recluse as having for its principal subject the sensations and opinions of a poet living in retirement the preparatory poem is biographical and conducts the history of the author s mind to the point when he was emboldened to hope that his faculties were sufficiently matured for entering upon the arduous labor which he had proposed to himself and the two works have the same kind of relation to each other if he may so express himself as the ante chapel has to the body of a gothic church continuing this allusion he may be permitted to add that his minor pieces which have been long before the p trieste publishing has a massive catalogue of classic book titles our aim is to provide
