Zimbabwean Transitions 2007 this collection of essays on zimbabwean literature brings together studies of both rhodesian and zimbabwean literature spanning different languages and genres it charts the at times painful process of the evolution of rhodesian zimbabwean identities that was shaped by pre colonial colonial and post colonial realities the hybrid nature of the society emerges as different writers endeavour to make sense of their world two essays focus on the literature of the white settler the first distils the essence of white settlers alienation from the africa they purport to civilize revealing the delusional fixations of the racist mindset that permeates the discourse of the white man s burden in imperial narratives the second takes up the theme of alienation found in settler discourse showing how the collapse of the white supremacists dream when southern african countries gained independence left many settlers caught up in a profound identity crisis four essays are devoted to ndebele writing they focus on the praise poetry composed for kings mzilikazi and lobengula the preponderance of historical themes in ndebele literature the dilemma that lies at the heart of the modern ndebele identity and the fossilized views on gender roles found in the works of leading ndebele novelists both female and male the essays on english language writing chart the predominantly negative view of women found in the fiction of stanley nyamfukudza assess the destabilization of masculine identities in post colonial zimbabwe evaluate the complex vision of life and reality in charles mungoshi s short stories as exemplified in the tragic isolation of many of his protagonists and explore dambudzo marechera s obsession with isolated threatened individuals in his hitherto generally neglected dramas the development of shona writing is surveyed in two articles the first traces its development from its origins as a colonial educational tool to the more critical works of the post 1980 independence phase the second turns the spotlight on written drama from 1968 when plays seemed divorced from the everyday realities of people s lives to more recent work which engages with corruption and the perversion of the moral order the volume also includes an illuminating interview with irene staunton the former publisher of baobab books and now of weaver press

The History and Political Transition of Zimbabwe 2020-10-21 this book is the first to tackle the difficult and complex politics of transition in zimbabwe with deep historical analysis its focus is on a very problematic political culture that is proving very hard to transcend at the center of this culture is an unstable but resilient nationalist military alliance crafted during the anti colonial liberation struggle in the 1970s inevitably violence misogyny and masculinity are constitutive of the political culture economically speaking the culture is that of a bureaucratic parasitic primitive accumulation and corruption which include invasion and emptying of state coffers by a self styled chimurenga aristocracy however this chimurenga aristocracy is not cohesive as the politics that led to robert mugabe s ousting from power was preceded by dirty and protracted internal factionalism at the center of the factional politics was the first family robert mugabe and his wife grace mugabe this book offers a multidisciplinary examination of the complex contemporary politics in zimbabwe taking seriously such issues as gender misogyny militarism violence media identity modes of accumulation the ethnicization of politics attempts to open lines of credit and fdi national healing and the national question as key variables not only of a complete political culture but also of difficult transitional politics

The Tough Alchemy of Ben Okri 2020-07-23 mapping africa in the english speaking world addresses issues of representations of africa in the english speaking world english has become a global language which has turned the world into a global village and as graddol 2008 states it is now redefining national and individual identities worldwide shifting political fault lines creating new global patterns of wealth and social exclusion and suggesting new notions of human rights and responsibilities of citizenship this book grapples with the relationship between africa and the rest of the english speaking world and touches on issues of euro american misrepresentations of the continent in literary works and films misrepresentations which are nevertheless passed as true and infallible knowledge of africa marginalization of africans african languages and culture african scholarship language policy language diglossia african theatre in post colonial africa identity negotiations in post colonial africa and relations between gender and language among other issues these issues are bound to stimulate debates on africa and its representation s in the english speaking world

Mapping Africa in the English Speaking World 2010-10-12 this compilation horizon above and beyond is the outcome of the hard efforts of past two years unlike other projects or approaches that attempt to pool out literature and language from each other the following text has attempted not to catalog either the text or the contents into any particular class of subjects of concern and thus keeping it broad and wide it sheds the limelight onto the research works done by the scholars of various disciplines the technical aspect of language such as linguistics and translation along with literary criticism and the researches on novels poems short stories films religion etc are brought under a single haven thereby extending the subjectivity of research on language and literature similarly the rigidity fluidity and hypocrisy of the various social institutions are also put into scrutiny respectively in different areas therefore instead of choosing the works that are purely literary those tinted with the flavor of other styles and outlooks are muddled together here

Horizon Above and Beyond 2016-05-12 first published in 1997 can south african theatre continue to maintain its autonomy and exercise its critical role can one rethink form and find new content can a concept of post protest theatre be developed how might theatre contribute to post apartheid soceity these are just of the questions addressed in this book the real and present difficulties south african theatre is facing as well as possible future orientations are clearly shown at one of the most complex moments of political transition in the history of the south african society the authors include contributions from playwrights actors visual artists poets directors administrators critics and theatre academics their comments and thoughts portray the active process of reflection and reappraisal redefining their artistic and political aims searching for new and vital theatrical forms

Voices of the Transition 2004 this book seeks to unfold the complexity within the works of dambudzo marechera and presents scholars and readers with a way of reading his works in light of utopian thinking writing during a traumatic transitional period in zimbabwe s history marechera witnessed the upheavals caused by different parties battling for power in the nation aware of the fact that all institutionalized narratives whether they originated from the colonial governance of the uk ian smith s white minority regime or zimbabwe s revolutionary parties appeal to visions of a utopian society but reveal themselves to be fiction marechera imagined a unique utopia for marechera utopia is not a static entity but a moment of perpetual change he rethinks utopia by phrasing it as an ongoing event that ceaselessly contests institutionalized narratives of the postcolonial self and its relationship to society marechera writes towards a vision of an alternative future for the country yet it is a vision that does not constitute a fully rounded sense of utopia being cautious about the world and the operation of power upon the people rather than imposing his own utopian ideals marechera chooses instead to destabilize the narrative constitution of the self in relation to society in order to turn towards a truly radical utopian thinking that empowers the individual

Theatre & Change in South Africa 2020-04-27 variously understood as literary genius and enfant terrible of african literature dambudzo marechera s work as novelist poet playwright and essayist is discussed here in relation to other free thinking writers considered one of africa s most innovative and subversive writers the
