when i met diana at a mutual friend s house in 1990 i was astonished by her conduct up to this point the diana i had encountered was a princess who had behaved very much in keeping with the forms and traditions of royalty in social situations she was as circumspect as the rest of them as indeed all ladies are now however she was the antithesis of circumspect throwing caution and reserve to the wind she said that she wanted me to write the truth about her life because i feel as if the whole fairy tale is crushing whatever s left of the real me if you d just write about the real diana it would make all the difference lady colin campbell who was the real diana what was it like to be so privileged yet so anguished so beloved yet so self loathing so spoiled yet so despairing the princess of wales was all these things far more complicated conflicted and intriguing a person than the wildly disparate saint or lunatic she is frequently portrayed to be royal insider lady colin campbell sets the record straight on many of the most controversial aspects of diana s turbulent life how charles and diana s engagement came to pass though it seemed ill advised to those closest to both of them what their honeymoon was really like the truth behind diana s bulimia her widely reported suicide attempts and her obsession with camilla parker bowles diana s search for love and fulfillment with numerous men before during and after her marriage her brilliant manipulations of the press and her relationship with dodi fayed lady colin campbell s new york times bestselling biography diana in private was the first to expose the truth about diana and her troubled marriage in the real diana she reveals that the reason she knew so much about what went on behind the palace gates was because diana herself was the source drawing upon these confidences as well as on conversations with countless people who knew diana and with diana herself in the final years of her life lady colin campbell combines true insight with true compassion to bring us the most intimate and revealing portrait of the princess of wales that we will ever have this play is about lady diana it depicts some real life incidences and some imaginary scenes to sound it more dramatic except lady diana and dodi who are no more there are six main characters from the royal family the fairytale marriage between the princess diana and the prince george ends with the divorce due to his affair with his first love pamela when diana discovers this feels distressed and betrayed she tries to find solace in the charity the purpose which was dear to her heart even before her marriage in fact she marries the prince with that noble intention only she does not get the desired support of from the prince and the royal family she tries to commit suicide she feels frustrated and lonely in the palace whereas feels happy and homely with the common people who are the victims of war and some social evils the scene depicting the dialogues between the lady diana and dr freud suggests the inner conflict at the sub conscious level she consciously decides to be a commoner as she was the media attraction she was often spied and chased by the paparazzi during the course of charitable work she comes across some rich and influential people she falls in love with some of them the media gave wide publicity to her personal life which proved to be damaging to the royal family the marriage ultimately ended in divorce after divorce her decision to marry the egyptian millionaire s son invited wrath of the royal family the destiny played its role and

~~before her remarriage both of them died in the road accident the sub plot relates to the marriage and divorce between the duke and the duchess it is a perfect foil to the main plot as it depicts the estranged duchess seeking divorce from the duke who is tolerant enough to accept her extra marital affair for the sake of royalty on the other hand in the main plot diana takes a conscious decision of divorce sacrificing her title and even the right to queenship the dictum of the shakespearean tragedy the character is destiny we are ourselves the makers or the destroyers of our own fortune is thus proved through the personality traits of the lady diana dr ramnath sonawane~~
