caminante wanderer is the story of loss and the struggle to recuperate that which is lost we all make our own way in this world and as the poet antonio machado pointed out the path is one we make as we travel there is no specific way to make that journey no guidebook each of us has our own struggles caminante wanderer is the story in verse of a journey the book is divided into five sections the first is awakening when the author felt the desire to try and recapture the native language that she felt she had lost the second one is sleeplessness as she wondered how to go about it followed by memory returning to her native country and language rescue deals with emerging solution to the dilemma and finally forgetting as once the conflict was resolved it was forgotten
