The Bahamas Ministry of Education (MOE) has responsibility for more than 50,000 K-12 students in approximately 170 educational institutions in the Commonwealth of the Bahamas, which are dispersed over 11 districts in the major islands. A pacing guide is a year-long plan of when you will teach what content it takes each standard and theme and maps it out for you. Then when you go to plan, you just look at the guide to see what standard or topic you are. If you're wanting to know how to use a pacing guide, you're in the right place. What is a pacing guide? A pacing guide is used to pace out a certain period of time and to identify standards or units to be taught during that time. Pacing guides are created by school district leaders to help teachers stay on track and to ensure curricular continuity across schools in the district. These guides serve a purpose similar to that of traditional scope and sequence documents, which lay out expectations of the material to be covered in each subject at each grade. A pacing guide breaks those down by week or segments of time. For example, one PLC I worked with created a document for each quarter that contained both mapping and pacing. Teachers started with identifying the unit standards and decided what kind of unit summative would best assess those standards. By narrowing the focus of instruction on priority content, leaders can create flexible time within a pacing guide for teachers to reinforce essential learning from prior grades. In our work with school leaders, we found that prioritizing learning target 1 (determine the topic of a text), learning target 2 (identify key details and explain how details develop the topic), and learning target 3 (determine the main idea of a text) is the opposite of planning bite-sized objectives. It is planning too many learning targets or one massive learning target for a lesson. The most effective pacing guides prioritize curriculum guidance rather than prescriptive pacing. These guides concentrate on central ideas and supply links to exemplary instructional strategies, curriculum materials, and lessons. A pacing guide is just a simple document that maps out a rough estimate of what you'll teach each week of the year. It doesn't mean your plans are sealed in stone; you can always feel free to change them later. A pacing chart is a guide for teachers to show them how much content should be covered during each week, grading period, or month. Pacing charts can help teachers become better organized.
