nicholls a comedy about love class growing up and the all important difference between knowledge and wisdom painfully funny elle hugely entertaining daily mail wincingly good time out unrivalled glamour i laughed a lot jeremy paxman it s 1985 and brian jackson has arrived at university with a burning ambition to make it onto tv s foremost general knowledge quiz but no sooner has he embarked on the challenge than he finds himself falling hopelessly in love with his teammate the beautiful and charismatic would be actress alice harbinson when alice fails to fall for his slightly over eager charms brian comes up with a foolproof plan to capture her heart once and for all he s going to win the game at any cost because after all everyone knows that what a woman really wants from a man is a comprehensive grasp of general knowledge one of britain s most acclaimed writers one of the most astute chroniclers of england as it is now financial times an uncanny ability to make us laugh out loud but also care passionately about his characters daily telegraph nicholls writes with such tender precision about love the times no one else writes novels that are both relatable and revelatory in the way he does evening standard genuinely brilliant new statesman lily josephine had a talent for love wilful enchanting and passionate she was the centre of a charmed universe until her foolish indulgent father married again like snow drop in grimms fairy tale lily ran from her jealous stepmother one idyllic summer evening in 1941 she escaped to find sanctuary but at randalls discovered a love far greater than any she had ever known a generation later the events set in train that night begin to unravel when sophie gently falls in love with octavius randall and the bizarre and tragic history linking their families is uncovered not until ancient passions and betrayals have been confronted can lily josephine long gone but never forgotten truly be laid to rest in black and white is probably the most honest autobiography ever published by a chess grandmaster the dutchman born in 1956 covers his rise to the chess elite his insecurities and the difficulties he encountered the highlight of his career was his qualification for the candidates matches only four steps away from the world championship he won a game but lost the match against gata kamsky the dutch edition was published in 2011 and has reached cult status it was very well received by fans and reviewers and with the english translation will finally get a well deserved wider audience in bedford stuyvesant brooklyn pianist randy weston and bassist ahmed abdul malik celebrated with song the revolutions spreading across africa in ghana and south africa drummer guy warren and vocalist sathima bea benjamin fused local musical forms with the dizzying innovations of modern jazz these four were among hundreds of musicians in the 1950 s and 60 s who forged connections between jazz and africa that definitively reshaped both their music and the world each artist identified in particular ways with africa s struggle for liberation and made music dedicated to or inspired by demands for independence and self determination that music was the wild boundary breaking exultation of modern jazz the result was an abundance of conversation collaboration and tension between african and african american musicians during the era of decolonization this collective biography demonstrates how modern africa reshaped jazz how modern jazz helped form a new african identity and how musical convergences and crossings altered politics and culture on both continents in a crucial moment when freedom electrified the african diaspora these black artists sought one another out to create new modes of expression documenting individuals and places from lagos to chicago from new york to cape town robin kelley gives us a meditation on modernity we see innovation not as an imposition from the west but rather as indigenous multilingual and messy the result of innumerable exchanges across a breadth of cultures

Intertextuality in Practice 2019-09-23

the books we've read the films we've seen the stories we've heard and just as importantly the ones we haven't form an integral part of our identity recognising a reference to a text can result in feelings of pleasure expertise and even smugness being lost as to a reference's possible significance can lead to alienation from a text or conversation intertextuality in practice offers readers a cognitively grounded framework for hands-on analysis of intertextuality both in written texts and spoken discourse the book offers a historical overview of existing research highlighting that most of this work focuses on what intertextuality is conceptually rather than how it can be identified described and analysed drawing on research from literary criticism neuroscience linguistics and sociology this book proposes a cognitive stylistic approach presenting the narrative interrelation framework as a way of operationalising the concept of intertextuality to enable close practical analysis in bedford stuyvesant brooklyn pianist randy weston and bassist ahmed abdul malik celebrated with song the revolutions spreading across africa in ghana and south africa drummer guy warren and vocalist sathima bea benjamin fused local musical forms with the dizzying innovations of modern jazz these four were among hundreds of musicians in the 1950 s and 60 s who forged connections between jazz and africa that definitively reshaped both their music and the world each artist identified in particular ways with africa s struggle for liberation and made music dedicated to or inspired by demands for independence and self determination that music was the wild boundary breaking exultation of modern jazz the result was an abundance of conversation collaboration and tension between african and african american musicians during the era of decolonization this collective biography demonstrates how modern africa reshaped jazz how modern jazz helped form a new african identity and how musical convergences and crossings altered politics and culture on both continents in a crucial moment when freedom electrified the african diaspora these black artists sought one another out to create new modes of expression documenting individuals and places from lagos to chicago from new york to cape town robin kelley gives us a meditation on modernity we see innovation not as an imposition from the west but rather as indigenous multilingual and messy the result of innumerable exchanges across a breadth of cultures
