arising in the 1800s and soon drawing a million readers a day the commercial press profoundly influenced the work of brontë braddon dickens conrad james trollope and others who mined print journalism for fictional techniques five of the most important of these narrative conventions the shipping intelligence personal advertisement leading article interview and foreign correspondence show how the victorian novel is best understood alongside the simultaneous development of newspapers in highly original analyses of victorian fiction this study also captures the surprising ways in which public media enabled the expression of private feeling among ordinary readers from the trauma caused by a lover's reported suicide to the vicarious gratification felt during a celebrity interview from the distress at finding one's behavior the subject of unflattering editorial commentary to the apprehension of distant cultures through the foreign correspondence combining a wealth of historical research with a series of astute close readings the novelty of newspapers breaks down the assumed divide between the epoch's literature and journalism and demonstrates that newsprint was integral to the development of the novel cinema suffering and psychoanalysis explores psychological disorder as common to the human condition using a unique three angled approach psychoanalysis recognises the inherent suffering encountered by each subject due to developmental phases psychology applies specific categorisation to how this suffering manifests cinema depicts suffering through a combination of video and aural elements functioning as a culturally reflexive medium the six feature films analysed including black swan 2010 and the machinist 2004 represent some of the most common psychological disorders and lived experiences of the contemporary era this book enters uncharted terrain in cinema scholarship by combining clinical psychology s diagnostic and statistical manual five dsm v to organise and diagnose each character and psychoanalysis to track the origin mechanism and affect of the psychological disorder within the narrative trajectory of each film lacan s theories on the infantile mirror phase the imaginary and the symbolic Žižek s theories on the real the big other and the event and kristeva s theories on abjection and melancholia work in combination with the dsm s classification of symptoms to interpret six contemporary pieces of cinema by taking into consideration that origin mechanism affect and symptomatology are part of an interconnected group this book explores psychological disorder as part of the human condition something which contributes to and informs personal identity more specifically this research refutes the notion that psychological disorder and psychological health exist as a binary instead recognising that what has traditionally been pathologised may instead be viewed as variations on human identity
