Seeing Like a Citizen 2019-11-12 in seeing like a citizen kara moskowitz approaches kenya's late colonial and early postcolonial eras as a single period of political economic and social transition in focusing on rural kenyans the vast majority of the populace and the main targets of development interventions as they actively sought access to aid she offers new insights into the texture of political life in decolonizing kenya and the early postcolonial world using multisited archival sources and oral histories focused on the western rift valley seeing like a citizen makes three fundamental contributions to our understanding of african and kenyan history first it challenges the widely accepted idea of the gatekeeper state revealing that state control remained limited and that the postcolonial state was an internally varied and often dissonant institution second it transforms our understanding of postcolonial citizenship showing that its balance of rights and duties was neither claimed nor imposed but negotiated and differentiated third it reorients kenyan historiography away from central kenya and elite postcolonial politics the result is a powerful investigation of experiences of independence of the meaning and form of development and of how global political practices were composed and recomposed on the ground in local settings

The Legitimacy of Citizen-led Deliberative Democracy 2018-06-18 for deliberative democrats the strength of any democracy is public deliberation the frequent and reasoned discussion between citizens on political issues despite all the theoretical claims made about deliberative systems the question remains how to empirically assess both the legitimacy and function of deliberative systems in the real world and how individual sites of deliberation interact within the larger political system in other words what is the legitimacy of each individual component and under which conditions can these components improve the legitimacy of the wider system these are the central research questions for this book looking particularly through the prism of the citizen led mini public g1000 in belgium which grew out of a feeling of deep democratic crisis offering empirically measurable translations of philosophical concepts the book enhances our understanding of how political systems function and of the viability of a deliberative democracy at a larger scale finally it provokes fundamental normative questions on how we want to shape our society especially divided ones this text will be of key interest to scholars students and practitioners of deliberative democracy and to those interested in democratic theory and more broadly political science communication sociology and philosophy

Responsibility to Protect and Sovereignty 2016-03-23 the responsibility to protect r2p principle articulates the obligations of the international community to prevent conflict occurring to intervene in conflicts and to assist in rebuilding after conflicts the doctrine is about protecting civilians in armed conflicts from four mass atrocity crimes genocide war crimes crimes against humanity and ethnic cleansing this book examines interventions in east timor sri lanka sudan and kosovo the chapters explore and question un debates with respect to the doctrine both before and after its adoption in 2005 contrasting state attitudes to international military intervention and what takes place after intervention it also discusses the ability of the security council to access reliable information and credible and transparent processes to enable it to make a determination on the occurrence of atrocities in a member state questioning whether there is a need to find a closer operational link between the responsibilities to prevent and react and a normative link between r2p and principles of international law the contributions examine the effectiveness of the framework of r2p for international decision making in response to mass atrocity crimes and ask how an international system to deal with threats and mass atrocities can be developed in the absence of a central authority this book will be valuable to those interested in international law human rights and security peace and conflict studies

Revisionist Histories 2014-11-27 one of the most significant factors for contemporary international relations is the growth of china s economic military and political power indeed few analysts would dispute the observation that china s power has strongly influenced the structure of the international system major power strategic relations international security the patterns of trans border economic activities and most importantly the political and security dynamics in asia in the twenty first century this book maps the growth of china s political economic and military capabilities and its impact on the security order in asia over the coming decades while updating the emerging power dimensions and prevailing discourse it provides a nuanced analysis of whether the growth of chinese power is resulting in beijing becoming more assertive or even aggressive in its behavior and pursuit of national interests it also examines how the key asian countries perceive and react to the growth of china s power and how us rebalancing would play out in the context of beijing s political economic and military power china s power and asian security will be of huge interest to student and scholars of asian politics chinese politics security studies and international security and international relations more generally

Whitaker's Shorts 2014: The Year in Review 2013-12-13 this book is the first systematic examination of the emerging arms race in asia the global trade in arms is to a large degree underpinned by the strong demand for arms in asia and the middle east the two largest arms export markets in the world of these two regions asia has become particularly significant led by the emergence of china and india as major powers it is therefore not surprising that the rapid military modernisation in asia accompanied by significant increases in the size and sophistication of armed forces has generated attention as to its trends key characteristics causes and implications this phenomenon which has become evident since the end of the cold war has also been widely described as an asian arms race this book evaluates the key conceptual ideas which can shed light on this phenomenon as well as examining the complex mix of internal external and technological factors that have led to its emergence the volume explores the way in which the arms race is leading ultimately to three distinctive blocs in the emerging geostrategic landscape a loose bloc of us allies in the region a counter bloc of potential us adversaries and a neutral bloc of states with industrial age armed forces whose allegiances will vary according to circumstances and geostrategic developments the arms race in asia concludes that if the emerging arms race is left unchecked it is likely that asia will increasingly become a region of instability marked by conflicts and interstate wars the book will be of great interest to students of asian politics strategic studies defence studies security studies and ir in general

□□□□□□ 2016-07-15 this book applies the concept of mediatization to the contemporary dynamic between war media and society with a focus on the israel defence forces idf since the beginning of the 21st century the idf has undergone an intensive process of mediatization that has transformed the media into an interpretative grid for many of its military activities and increasingly utilized media to garner public support and construct civilian perceptions of conflict and security through media activity and strategy this process can be divided into four distinct chronological phases in accordance with the operational challenges confronted by the idf during this period from the al aqsa intifada of 2000 through israeli unilateral disengagement from gaza in 2005 and the second lebanon war of 2006 to the series of gaza confrontations of 2008 2014 the work shows how the idf s media policy evolved from a narrow perception of its role and separation between operational and media actions to a cohesive and coherently articulated media strategy that is increasingly intertwined with military action and operational strategy and a vital component of strategic military aims and objectives this strategic stance has led the idf to adopt a global media perspective using the most advanced new media platforms designed to influence public opinion and improve national narratives both in israel and the international community by applying the concept of mediatization to the israeli case this book fills a research lacuna and offers a new prism for the study of media military relations in contemporary conflicts the book will be of much interest to students of civil military relations strategic studies middle eastern studies media and communication studies sociology and ir in general

The Principles and Processes of Interactive Design 2013-05-29 access to genetic resources and benefit sharing abs has been promoted under the convention on biological diversity with the aim of combining biodiversity conservation goals with economic development however as this book shows since its inception in 1992 implementation has encountered multiple challenges and obstacles this is particularly so in the marine environment where interest in genetic resources for pharmaceuticals and nutrients has increased this is partly because of the lack of clarity of terminology but also because of the terms of the comprehensive law of the sea unclos and transboundary issues of delineating ownership of marine resources the author explains and compares relevant provisions and concepts under abs and the law of the sea taking access benefit sharing monitoring compliance and dispute settlement into consideration he also provides an overview of the implementation status of abs relevant measures in user states and identifies successful abs transactions a key unique feature of the book is to illustrate how biological databases can serve as the central scientific infrastructure to implement the global multilateral benefit sharing mechanism proposed by the nagoya protocol the research for this book was supported by both the bremen international graduate school for marine sciences glomar and the international research training group intercoast integrated coastal zone and shelf sea research

Marine Genetic Resources, Access and Benefit Sharing 2013-04-11 political transition and democratisation challenges have been noted in african countries including angola burkina faso kenya mali and the democratic republic of the congo resulting in the african union au intervening on behalf of citizens using tried and tested mechanisms of imposing a power sharing agreement to preside over a transitional period during which there are key changes to the constitution and the political conduct of the incumbency and partisan institutions are weaned from seeking to perpetuate the status quo this book focuses on zimbabwe's military and its perceived veto power in the transition to democratisation from 2008 until 2013 the objective was to analyse monitor and comment on the unique democratic transformational challenges faced by zimbabwe's government of national unity one of the book's key findings is that every time partisan forces carry out an operation in the name of a political party there is a direct correlation in which the same loses its national character this is the context of the challenge facing zimbabwean forces when used for partisan gain and why the southern african development community sadc in its last communique in maputo on 15 june 2013 sought to compel a written undertaking from the generals that they would desist from playing a direct role in the politics of the country the au had earlier expressed its deep regret when faced with the results of serious human rights abuses that were committed with impunity

Beyond the Rhetoric of Compliance 2018-03-13 the wto's trade policy review mechanism which reviews the trade policies and practices of each wto member at regular intervals is generally considered to function well in this day and age complacency is unwise examining trade policy reviews throughout the lifetime of the tprm this book details its evolution from article x of the general agreement on tariffs and trade to the proposed modifications resulting from the mechanism's latest appraisal examining the budgetary capabilities and technical performance of all the main entities who participate in the reviews on the basis of these considerations the author concludes that in order to remain relevant especially in times of increased global protectionism the tprm could and should do better and provides unique and timely suggestions for reform
