the four essays in this little volume are the essence of a lifetime of thought lecturing and writing by a leading twentieth century philosopher josef pieper s theory of festivity was forged in dismal wartime germany agreeing with nietzsche that the trick is not to arrange a festival but to find people who can enjoy it he discovers a rage for anti festival sweeping the earth c est la guerre qui correspond a la fete yet pieper conveys certain tidings of the divine guarantee of the world and of human salvation in each of these essays dr pieper surveys twentieth century world views the traditional foods lifestyle and history he contrasts baudelaire s and dostoyevsky s dire warnings of an extreme concentration of evil with the promise of he says is that while plato pythagoras and aristotle the founders of occidental philosophy require an unprejudiced openness to theology the secularized modern european or north american does not even know what wisdom in divine affairs means finally in leisure he points out that in contemporary life utility demands to be the measure of all things including spare time and even the intellectual life of the university however plato like the christians says that only in celebrating divine worship does man lose the shape of a slave one tiny happy mouse s simple thanksgiving dinner gets bigger and bigger and bigger uh oh this perfect thanksgiving read aloud gently reminds us to give thanks for the little things in life and not to let our celebrations get too out of hand after a family finishes thanksgiving dinner mouse peeps out of his hidey hole and spots a small green pea it s the perfect feast for one mouse to have could add just one red cranberry and then one shiny black olive and then just one scoop of mashed potatoes were feasts so important and is there more to feasting than abundance and enjoyment the never ending feast is a pioneering work that draws on anthropology archaeology and history to look at the dynamics of feasting among the great societies of antiquity renowned for their magnificence and might reflecting new directions in academic study the focus shifts beyond the medieval and early modern periods in western europe eastwards to mesopotamia assyria and achaemenid persia early greece the mongol empire shang china and heian japan the past speaks through texts and artefacts we see how feasts were the primary arena for displays of hierarchy status and power a stage upon which loyalties and alliances were negotiated the occasion for the mobilization and distribution of resources a means of pleasing the gods and the place where identities were created consolidated and destroyed the never ending feast transforms our understanding of feasting past and present revitalising the fields of anthropology and archaeology
