invented or codified by the troubadours or poets who followed in their wake the book also approaches genres driven by theme such as the calypso and found poetry each chapter begins by defining the genre in its initial stages charting historical developments and finally assessing its latest mutations be they structural thematic parodic assimilative or subversive presents a collection of nine critical essays about the novel jane eyre by charlotte bronte the general objective of this volume is to present and discuss different modes of existence in women s texts and feminist identity in political and poetic discourse on the one hand and to analyze the factors which determine differing relationships between women and society and which result in specific forms of identity on the other the essays in this volume explore language gender mass media sexuality class and social change women s identity as blacks and in the third world as well as the nature of domination feminine criticism and female creativity the volume opens with a challenging question by the feminist poet adrienne rich who is we poetry and astronomy often travel together in the political sphere from milton s meeting with galileo under house arrest to nasa s practice of launching poems into space anchored in the post war period but drawing on a long history of poetry and science lyric poetry and space exploration from einstein to the present charts the surprising connection between poetry and extra terrestrial space in an era defined by the vast scales of globalization environmental disaster and space travel poets bring the small scales of lyric intimacy to bear on cosmic immensity while outer space might seem the domain of more popular genres lyric poetry has ancient and enduring associations with cosmic inquiry that have made it central to post war space culture as the cold war played out in space american institutions and media from nasa to star trek enlisted poetry to present space exploration as a peaceful mission on behalf of humankind meanwhile poets from across the globe have turned to the cosmos to contest american imperialism challenging conventional ideas about lyric poetry in the process poets including elizabeth bishop adrienne rich seamus heaney derek walcott agha shahid ali and tracy k smith invoke the extra terrestrial to interrogate national histories alongside their craft dazzled by the aesthetics of astronomy but wary of its imperial uses poets employ astronomical figures and methods to imagine how we might care for both ourselves and others on a shared planet katherine schultz examines the complex role student silence can play in teaching and learning urging teachers to listen to student silence in new ways this book offers real life examples and proven so many genres literary forms and themes that it would seem almost impossible to identify a unifying thread between them yet in the tradition established by literary heavyweights who came before modern writers of all stripes and backgrounds have continued to entertain and to confront the social cultural and psychological realities of the times including everything from racial identity to war to technology with their own flair and insight the diversity of authors profiled herein from toni morrison to sylvia plath to stephen king to david foster wallace attests to the scope and complexity of modern society pablo neruda was one of the greatest poets of the 20th century by focusing on the poet s apprenticeship and by looking closely at how neruda created his poetic persona within his poems this companion tries to establish what should survive of his massive output the annual bibliography of women and literature appears in the fall issue of each volume 1975 spring 1976 the experience is her own as a woman a poet a feminist and a mother but it is an experience determined by the institution imposed on all women everywhere she draws on personal materials history research and literature to create a document of universal importance contemporary american poetry can often seem intimidating and daunting in its variety and complexity this engaging and accessible book provides the first comprehensive introduction to the rich body of american poetry that has flourished since 1945 and offers a useful map to its current landscape by exploring the major poets movements and landmark poems at the heart of this era this book presents a compelling new version of the history of american poetry that takes into account its variety and breadth its recent evolution in the new millennium its ever increasing diversity and its ongoing engagement with politics and culture combining illuminating close readings of a wide range of representative poems with detailed discussion of historical political and aesthetic contexts this book examines how poets have tirelessly invented new forms and styles to respond to the complex realities of american life and culture a star studded anthology infuses english poetry with the rigor and wit of a foreign form in recent years the ghazal pronounced ghuzzle a traditional arabic form of poetry has become popular among contemporary english language poets but like the haiku before it the ghazal has been widely misunderstood and thus most english ghazals have been far from the mark in both letter and spirit this anthology brings together ghazals by a rich gathering of 107 poets including diane ackerman john hollander w s merwin william matthews paul muldoon ellen bryant voigt and many others as this dazzling collection shows the intricate and self reflexive ghazal brings the writer a unique set of challenges and opportunities agha shahid ali s lively introduction gives a brief history of the ghazal and instructions on how to compose one in english an elegant afterword by sarah suleri goodyear elucidates the larger issues of cultural translation and authenticity inherent in writing in a borrowed form matrophobia although in recent years maternity has become a contested site of political discourse the matrophobia that characterizes many mother daughter bonds has hardly been theorized this book defines matrophobia as fear of mothers as fear of becoming a mother and as fear of identification with and separation from the maternal body deborah d rogers argues that matrophobia is the central metaphor for women s relationships with each other within a patriarchal culture analyzing different contexts in which matrophobia problematizes feminism this book begins with matrophobic discourse in eighteenth century england significantly the self sacrificing construction of motherhood emerges at the same time as the novel a genre that develops as a locus for the radical displacement of matrophobia coining the term matrophobic gothic to describe works in which inadequately mothered heroines reconcile with maternal figures that the narrative has repressed rogers focuses on this phenomenon in the works of ann radcliffe and jane austen her consideration of matrophobia extends to early modern male authored texts including samuel richardson s representation of maternity and sir walter scott s exploration of gender roles and identity these issues continue unabated in televised serial drama all told this book powerfully argues for the necessity of confronting the matrophobia at the heart of feminism reading race examines the work of twentieth century white american poets from carl sandburg to adrienne rich from ezra pound to allen ginsberg revealing within their poetry and casual writings a body of literature that transmits racism even as it sometimes speaks against it tracing the persistence of racial discourse aldon nielsen argues that white americans throughout their history have used a language of their own primacy a language that treats blacks as an abstract other an aggregate nonwhite to be acted upon and determined by whites white discourse drapes over blacks an intricate veil of images and understandings assertions of inferiority metaphors of exoticism similes of animals tropes of fertility nothingness and death through which whites read race and beneath which blacks remain imprisoned words nielsen writes create and maintain relationships of power as surely as do prisons and arms speaking of the discourse of race in america nielsen identifies dead metaphors words images ideas that operate in much the same way as the charged detail of pound or the objective correlative of t s eliot embedded in the language they are instantly recognizable to the native speaker poets when they draw upon these metaphors demand racist thinking in order to be understood mother jones is an award winning national magazine widely respected for its groundbreaking investigative reporting and coverage of sustainability and environmental issues the routledge
