stalin s american spy tells the remarkable story of noel field a soviet agent in the us state department in the mid 1930s lured to prague in may 1949 he was kidnapped and handed over to the hungarian secret police tortured by them and interrogated too by their soviet superiors field s forced confessions were manipulated by stalin and his east european satraps to launch a devastating series of show trials that led to the imprisonment and judicial murder of numerous czechoslovak german polish and hungarian party members yet there were other events in his very strange career that could give rise to the suspicion that field was an american spy who had infiltrated the communist movement at the behest of allen dulles the wartime oss chief in switzerland who later headed the cia never tried field and his wife were imprisoned in budapest until 1954 then granted political asylum in hungary where they lived out their sterile last years this new biography takes a fresh look at field s relationship with dulles and his role in the alger hiss affair it sheds fresh light upon soviet espionage in the united states and field s relationship with hede massing ignace reiss and walter krivitsky it also reassesses how the increasingly anti semitic east european show trials were staged and dissects the lessons which stalin sought to convey through them almost from the first days of seafaring men have used ships for spying and intelligence collection since early in the twentieth century with the technological advancements of radio and radar the u s navy and other government agencies and many other navies have used increasingly specialized ships and submarines to ferret out the secrets of other nations the united states and the soviet union russia have been the leaders in those efforts especially during the forty five years of the cold war but as norman polmar and lee j mathers reveal so has china which has become a major maritime power in the twenty first century with special interests in the south china sea and with increasing hostility toward the united states through extensive meticulous research and through the lens of such notorious spy ship events as the israeli attack on the uss liberty the north korean capture of the uss pueblo and the u s central intelligence agency s success in clandestinely salvaging part of a soviet submarine with the hughes glomar explorer spy ships is a fascinating and valuable resource for understanding maritime intelligence collection and what we have learned from it in december 2010 the u s embassy in kabul acknowledged that it was providing major funding for thirteen episodes of eagle four a new afghani television melodrama based loosely on the blockbuster u s series 24 according to an embassy spokesperson eagle four was part of a strategy aimed at transforming public suspicion of security forces into something like awed respect why would a wartime government spend valuable resources on a melodrama of covert operations the answer according to timothy melley is not simply that fiction has real political effects but that since the cold war fiction has become integral to the growth of national security as a concept and a transformation of democracy in the covert sphere melley links this cultural shift to the birth of the national security state in 1947 as the united states developed a vast infrastructure of clandestine organizations it shielded policy from the public sphere and gave rise to a new cultural imaginary the covert sphere one of the surprising consequences of state secrecy is that citizens must rely substantially on fiction to know or imagine their nation's foreign policy the potent combination of institutional secrecy and public fascination with the secret work of the state was instrumental in fostering the culture of suspicion and uncertainty that has plagued american society ever since and melley argues that would eventually find its fullest expression in postmodernism the covert sphere traces these consequences from the korean war through the war on terror examining how a regime of psychological operations and covert action has made the conflation of reality and fiction a central feature of both u s foreign policy and american culture melley interweaves cold war history with political theory and original readings of films television dramas and popular entertainments from the manchurian candidate through 24 as well as influential writing by margaret atwood robert coover don delillo joan didion e l doctorow michael herr denis johnson norman mailer tim o brien and many others
