the wealth of st andrew s diocese the richest in medieval scotland was reflected in its ecclesiastical art and architecture religious changes in the sixteenth century led to the ruin of the cathedral and monastic houses and to the stripping of churches much important although often fragmentary architecture still remains and there are significant if tantalising survivals of the furnishings this volume consists of papers on the history of the medieval diocese on the cult of st andrew on the eleventh to thirteenth century churches of st andrews dunfermline and arbroath as well as on facades and piers and distinctively scottish architecture of the later middle ages other papers deal with romanesque sculpture sixteenth century woodwork the metalwork of the university maces of st andrews and an altarpiece by hugo van der goes and there are surveys of the surviving stained glass and floor tiles of the diocese

st andrews is without doubt one of scotland s most historic and beautiful cities once the ecclesiastical capital of scotland it played a prominent role in the nation s political life until the seventeenth century in addition it is also home of the nation s oldest university and whilst claims that it is the birthplace of golf may remain controversial there is no doubt it is regarded as world capital of the game today this fascinating and comprehensive account of st andrews traces its history from pictish times to the present day it is based not only on a huge amount of original research but also on an intimate knowledge of the town which raymond lamont brown accumulated in over twenty years residence there in addition to facts and figures the book also introduces many of the people who have featured prominently in the story of st andrews from doughty residents such as sir hugh lyon playfair and cardinal archbishop david beaton to illustrious visitors like mary queen of scots john knox and samuel johnson
