one of the country s most picturesque cities and conveniently located just a few hours drive from hollywood san francisco became the most frequently and extensively filmed american city beyond the production hubs of los angeles and new york in the three decades after world war ii during those years the cinematic image of the city morphed from the dreamy beauty of vertigo to the nightmarish wasteland of dirty harry although san francisco itself experienced no such decline this intriguing disconnect gives impetus to hollywood in san francisco the most comprehensive study to date of hollywood s move from studio to location production in the postwar era in this thirty year history of feature filmmaking in san francisco joshua gleich tracks a sea change in hollywood production practices as location shooting overtook studio based filming as the dominant production method by the early 1970s he shows how this transformation intersected with a precipitous decline in public perceptions of the american city to which filmmakers responded by developing a stark realist aesthetic that suited america s growing urban pessimism and superseded a fidelity to local realities analyzing major films set in san francisco ranging from dark passage and vertigo to the conversation the towering inferno and bullitt as well as the tv show the streets of san francisco gleich demonstrates that the city is a physical environment used to stage urban fantasies that reveal far more about hollywood filmmaking and american culture than they do about san francisco throughout film history war films have been in constant dialogue with both previous depictions of war and contemporary debates and technology war films remember older war film cycles and draw upon the resources of the present day to say something new about the nature of war the american civil war was viscerally documented through large scale panorama paintings still photography and soldier testimonials leaving behind representational principles that would later inform the development of the war film genre from the silent era up to the present this book explores how each of these representational modes cemented different formulas for providing war stories with emotional content lighting performs essential functions in hollywood films enhancing the glamour clarifying the action and intensifying the mood examining every facet of this understated art form from the glowing backlights of the silent period to the shaded alleys of film noir patrick keating affirms the role of hollywood lighting as a distinct compositional force closely analyzing girl shy 1924 anna karenina 1935 only angels have wings 1939 and t men 1947 along with other brilliant classics keating describes the unique problems posed by these films and the innovative ways cinematographers handled the challenge once dismissed as crank turning laborers these early cinematographers became skillful professional artists by carefully balancing the competing demands of story studio and star enhanced by more than one hundred illustrations this volume counters the notion that style took a backseat to storytelling in hollywood film proving that the lighting practices of the studio era were anything but neutral uniform and invisible cinematographers were masters of multifunctionality and negotiation honing their craft to achieve not only realistic fantasy but also pictorial artistry in hollywood bloodshed james kendrick presents a fascinating look into the political and ideological instabilities of the 1980s as studied through the lens of cinema violence kendrick uses in depth case studies to reveal how dramatic changes in the film industry and its treatment of cinematic bloodshed during the reagan era reflected shifting social tides as hollywood struggled to find a balance between the lucrative necessity of screen violence and the rising surge of conservatism as public opinion shifted toward the right and increasing emphasis was placed on issues such as higher military spending family values and money culture film executives were faced with an epic dilemma the violent aspects of cinema that had been the studios bread and butter were now almost universally rejected by mainstream audiences far from eliminating screen bloodshed altogether studios found new ways of packaging violence that would allow them to continue to attract audiences without risking public outcry ushering in a period of major transition in the film industry studios began to shy away from the revolutionary directors of the 1970s many of whom had risen to fame through ideologically challenging films characterized by a more disturbing brand of violence while simultaneously clearing the way for a new era in film the 1980s would see the ascent of entertainment conglomerates and powerful producers and the meteoric rise of the blockbuster a film with no less violence than its earlier counterparts but with action oriented thrills rather than more troubling images of brutality kendrick analyzes these and other radical cinematic changes born of the conservative social climate of the 1980s including the disavowal of horror films in the effort to present a more acceptable public image the creation of the pg 13 rating to designate the gray area of movie violence between pg and r ratings and the complexity of marketing the violence of war movies for audience pleasure the result is a riveting study of an often overlooked yet nevertheless fascinating time in cinema history while many volumes have focused on the violent films of the new american cinema directors of the 1970s or the rise of icons such as woody allen and martin scorsese in the 1990s kendrick s hollywood bloodshed bridges a major gap in film studies this comprehensive volume offers much needed perspective on a decade that altered the history of hollywood and american culture forever poor governance is increasingly recognized as the greatest impediment to economic development in sub saharan africa currently some impressive governance reforms are underway in many countries this includes cases such as nigeria formerly the most corrupt country in the world according to transparency international yet other countries such as chad are still in reform deadlock to account for these differences this book examines governance reform in sub saharan africa based on an analysis of international and domestic pressures and counter pressures it develops a four phase model explaining why governance reforms advance in some instances whilst in others governance reforms stagnate or even relapse no study has sought to systematically examine the political forces both international and domestic behind the successful conduct of governance reform in sub saharan africa yet coordination collaboration and mutual support between international and domestic actors is critical to push individual governments onto the path of reform this book shows that while international and domestic pro reform pressures are important an analysis of anti reform pressures is also necessary to explain incomplete or failed reform the main theoretical arguments are structured around four hypotheses the hypotheses are theoretically generated and tested over four case studies madagascar kenya nigeria and chad on this basis the good governance socialization process is inductively developed in the concluding chapter this model illustrates how governance practices can evolve positively and negatively in all countries of sub saharan africa based on the nature and relative strength of international and domestic pressures and counter pressures this book was written to show that light is a primal element of life all life originates and develops under the influence of the light of the sun that super terrestrial natural force goethe sunlight influences the vital processes not onlyofthe plant e g heliotropism photosynthesis and the animal e g color change maturation of the gonads but of man as well the human organism too reacts heliotropically as the 24 hour rhythm of the sleep waking cycle demonstrates of artists have always perceived clearly the intensive stimulatory effect sunlight on their activity one is reminded here of cesare lombroso who wrote to his daughter that thoughts come in the greatest profusion when my room is flooded with the sun's rays richard wagner exclaimed if only the sun would come out i would have the score finished in no time bernard shaw had a little cottage where he worked that could be turned according to the position of the sun the composer humperdinck wrote the sun is indispensable for my work that is why it is important for me to have my study face east or south as these few examples indicate it is above all those active in the arts who intuitively grasp the positive influence of sunlight on the psycho-physical efficiency of their organism in an age however when fluorescent lighting turns night into day we are in danger of forgetting that man is a creature of nature as well as of culture
