W. G. Sebald 2008-08-22 the novelist poet and essayist w g sebald 1944 2001 was perhaps the most original german writer of the last decade of the 20th century die ausgewanderten austerlitz luftkrieg und literatur his writing is marked by a unique hybridity that combines characteristics of travelogue cultural criticism crime story historical essay and dream diary among other genres he employs layers of literary and motion picture allusions that contribute to a sometimes enigmatic sometimes intimately familiar mood his dominant mode is melancholy the contributions of this anthology examine w g sebald as narrator and pensive observer of history the book includes a previously unpublished interview with sebald from 1998

Vertigo 2016-11-08 a masterwork of w g sebald now with a gorgeous new cover by the famed designer peter mendelsund perfectly titled vertigo w g sebald s marvelous first novel is a work that teeters on the edge compelling puzzling and deeply unsettling an unnamed narrator beset by nervous ailments journeys accross europe to vienna venice verona riva and finally to his childhood home in a small bavarian village he is also journeying into the past traveling in the footsteps of stendhal casanova and kafka the narrator draws the reader line by line into a dizzying web of history biography legends literature and most perilously memories

W.G. Sebald 2004 in this first collection of essays on w g sebald to appear in english newly commissioned essays by leading international scholars offer interdisciplinary perspectives on his work providing a thorough assessment of his achievement

Searching for Sebald 2007 w g sebald s books are sui generis hybrids of fiction travelogue autobiography and historical expos in which a narrator both sebald and not sebald comments on the quick blossoming of natural wonders and the long deaths that come of human atrocities all his narratives are punctuated with images murky photographs architectural plans engravings paintings newspaper clippings inserted into the prose without captions and often without obvious connection to the words that surround them this important volume includes a rare 1993 interview called but the written word is not a true document a conversation with w g sebald about photography and literature in which sebald talks exclusively about his use of photographs it contains some of sebald s most illuminating and poetic remarks about the topic yet in it he discusses barthes the photograph s appeal the childhood image of kafka family photographs and even images he never used in his writings in addition searching for sebald positions sebald within an art historical tradition that begins with the surrealists continues through joseph beuys and blossoms in the recent work of christian boltanski and gerhard richter and tracks his continuing inspiration to artists such as tacita dean and helen mirra an international roster of artists and scholars unpacks the intricacies of his unique method seventeen theoretical essays approach sebald through the multiple filters of art history krauss film studies kluge cultural theory benjamin psychoanalysis freud and especially photographic history and theory barthes kracauer and 17 modern and contemporary art projects are read through a sebalidian filter if sebald s artistic output acts as a touchstone for new critical theory being written on post medium photographic practices seaching for sebald suggests a model for new investigations in the burgeoning field of visual studies

Traces of Trauma in W. G. Sebald and Christoph Ransmayr 2017-12-02 both w g sebald 1944 2001 and the austrian author christoph ransmayr 1954 were born too late to know directly the violence of the second world war and the holocaust but these traumatic events are a persistent presence in their work in a series of close readings of key prose texts dora osborne examines the different ways in which the traces of a traumatic past mark their narratives by focusing on the authors use of visual and topographical tropes she shows how blind spots and inhospitable places configure signs of past violence but ultimately resist our understanding whilst links between the two authors are well documented this book offers the first full length study of sebald and ransmayr and their complicated relation to the traumatic traces of national socialism dora osborne is lecturer in german at the university of nottingham

The Emergence of Memory 2011-01-04 when german author w g sebald died in a car accident at the age of fifty seven the literary world mourned the loss of a writer whose oeuvre it was just beginning to appreciate through published interviews with and essays on sebald award winning translator and author lynne sharon schwartz offers a profound portrait of the writer who has been praised posthumously for his unflinching explorations of historical cruelty memory and dislocation with contributions from poet essayist and translator charles simic new republic editor ruth franklin bookworm radio host michael silverblatt and more the emergence of memory offers sebald s own voice in interviews between 1997 up to a month before his death in 2001 also included are cogent accounts of almost all of sebald s books thematically linked to events in the contributors own lives contributors include carole angier joseph cuomo ruth franklin michael hofmann arthur lubow tim parks michael silverblatt charles simic and eleanor wachtel

Emigrants and Exiles 2011-02-23 the isolation the children of the danube experienced from the upheavals of history in the rest of europe would no longer hold true in the second half of the 19th century and beyond at the outset emperor francis josephs attempts to preserve the position of the house of habsburg in the face of the rising power of prussia among the german states would inevitably lead to a disastrous war austria's defeat set the stage for the rise of the german empire and the struggle for supremacy in europe among the major powers resulting in the catastrophic wars of the next century which would destroy the only life the children of the danube had ever known the agricultural sector was in a shambles in hungary during the last decades of the century which had repercussions for the children of the danube among whom the landless were the fastest growing part of the population and among whom poverty had become a way of life land was expensive and simply unavailable as in the past the only remedy was emigration the first wave of emigrants from swabian turkey sought their future in slavonia recently opened for colonization it was just the prelude for the massive emigration movement soon to take place to the new world some of the surviving emigrants and exiles will meet in a railway station in a small town in canada as the final phase of the schwabenzug takes place and the children of the danube transplant their roots in their new heimat

W.G. Sebald's Hybrid Poetics 2014-04-02 this book offers a new critical perspective on the perpetual problem of literature s relationship to reality and in particular on the sustained tension between literature and historiography the scholarly and literary works of w g sebald 1944 2001 serve as striking examples for this discussion for the way in which they demonstrate the emergence of a new hybrid discourse of literature as historiography this book critically reconsiders the claims and aims of historiography by re evaluating core questions of the literary discourse and by assessing the ethical imperative of literature in the 20th and 21st centuries guided by an inherently interdisciplinary framework this book elucidates the interplay of epistemological aesthetic and ethical concerns that define sebald s criticism and fiction appropriate to the way in which sebald s works challenge us to rethink the boundaries between discourses genres disciplines and media this work proceeds in a methodologically non dogmatic way drawing on hermeneutics semiotics narratology and discourse theory in addition to contextualizing sebald within postwar literature in german the book is the first english language study to consider sebald s oeuvre as a whole of interest for sebald experts and enthusiasts literary scholars and historians concerned with the problematic of representing the past

Speak, Silence 2021-08-19 a spectator new statesman and the times book of the year the best biography i have read in years philippe sands spectacular observer a remarkable portrait guardian w g sebald was one of the most extraordinary and influential writers of the twentieth century through books including the emigrants austerlitz and the rings of saturn he pursued an original literary vision that combined fiction history autobiography and photography and addressed some of the most profound themes of contemporary literature the burden of the holocaust memory loss and exile the first biography to explore his life and work speak silence pursues the true sebald through the memories of those who knew him and through the work he left behind this quest takes carole angier from sebald s birth as a second generation german at the end of the second world war through his rejection of the poisoned inheritance of the third reich to his emigration to england exploring the choice of isolation and exile that drove his work it digs deep into a creative mind on the edge finding profound empathy and paradoxical ruthlessness saving humour and an elusive mix of fact and fiction in his life as well as work the result is a unique ferociously original portrait

Closer to Dust 2021-08-27 no one thinks straight at least no one remembers straight but ten years ago things were different weren't they roland barthes once wrote that color in a photograph is like make up on a corpse no one is fooled in anarchic denial of convenient truths a young international couple meet and marry on a small mediterranean island ten years later the couple separate in part due to complications with immigration laws following this transcontinental rupture fragmented histories emerge in response to the woman's encounters with a series of color snapshots there is death here familiar to the mourner as the photographs issue their special powers to magically and auspiciously predict the future and simultaneously to permit the return of the dead the woman recognizes pieces of herself as past objects indexed within photographic stills but paradoxically she is present outside in this chaos trying not to fall apart the images and their objects yawn to remind us of the reluctant destiny of all our beloved memories bodies and things that is to disintegrate borrowing its title from a passage in the emigrants by w g sebald closer to dust is a séance a gathering of invitees inherently biased elegies the images that conjured them and the reader viewer in attendance who is warmly invited to order these intimate fragments into cohesion

W. G. Sebald in Context 2023-08-31 the german academic and writer w g sebald made an astounding ascent into the canon of world literature in this volume leading experts from both the english and the german speaking worlds explore his celebrated prose works published in the short span from 1996 to his premature death in 2001 special attention is paid to sebald's unpublished texts and books awaiting translation into english the volume illustrated with many unpublished archive images scrutinizes the dual nature of sebald's life and work located between germany and england academic and literary writing vilification and idolization through nearly forty essays on a broad range of topics w g sebald in context achieves a revision of our understanding of sebald defying many clichés about him particular attention is paid to the manifold ways in which sebald's writings exerted a legacy far beyond literature especially in the areas of art cinema and popular music

Poetry in Exile 2020-09-01 in his book josef hrđlička opens the question of what exactly constitutes exile poetry and indeed whether it amounts to a category as fundamental as romantic or bucolic lyricism he covers the intricately complex and diverse topic of exile by exploring selected literary texts from antiquity to the present giving due attention to writers that have influenced the exile discourse from ovid goethe and baudelaire to the thinkers and poets of the 20th century like adorno or saint john perse against this backdrop of exile poetics he turns his attention to czech poets who left their homeland after the communist coup of 1948 and were notable contributors to czech literature abroad hrđlička considers the works of ivan blatný milada součková ivan diviš and petr král to show the continuity and changes in the western poetic tradition and expressions of exile

Reading W. G. Sebald 2007 a daring new view of sebald's works and the reading practice they call forth w g sebald was born in 1944 in germany he found his way as a young academic to england and a career as professor of german only between the late 1980s and his untimely death in 2001 did he concentrate on nonacademic writing crafting a new kind of prose work that shares features with but remains distinct from the novel essay travel writing and memoir forms and gaining elevation to the first rank of writers internationally no less a critic than susan sontag was moved to ask is literary greatness still possible implying that it was and that she had found it embodied in his writing deane blackler explores sebald's biography before analyzing the reading practice his texts call forth that of a disobedient reader a proactive reader challenged to question the text by sebald's peculiar use of poetic language the pseudoautobiographical voice of his narrators the seemingly documentary photographs he inserted into his books and by his exquisite representations of place blackler reads sebald's fiction as adventurous and disobedient in its formulation an imaginative revitalization of literary fiction for the third millennium deane blackler received her ph d in comparative literature in 2005 from the university of tasmania

De emigrés 2019-11-21 in de emigranten volgt meestertverteller w g sebald de levens van vier half joden die duitsland verlieten om zich te vestigen in zwitserland frankrijk engeland en de verre sprookjessteden new york en jeruzalem sebald zelf een duitse emigrant die zich op jonge leeftijd in engeland vestigde blikt met de ogen van zijn helden op zijn vaderland terug in de levensloop van de vier ballingen klinkt de fantoompijn van de herinnering door zo keren ze dus terug de doden soms na meer dan zeven decennia komen ze uit het ijs en liggen daar aan de rand van de morene een hoopje geslepen botten en een paar schoenen met spijkers met trefzekere en fijngevoelige pen schildert sebald in een originele literaire vorm die misschien nog het best te omschrijven valt als documentaire fictie een onvergetelijk portret van vergeten en verdwenen mensen

Saturn's Moons 2017-07-05 the german novelist poet and critic w g sebald 1944 2001 has in recent years attracted a phenomenal international following for his evocative prose works such as die ausgewanderten the emigrants die ringe des saturn the rings of saturn and austerlitz spellbinding elegiac narratives which through their deliberate blurring of genre boundaries and provocative use of photography explore questions of heimat and exile memory and loss history and natural history art and nature saturn's moons a w g sebald handbook brings together in one volume a wealth of new critical and visual material on sebald's life and works covering the many facets and phases of his literary and academic careers as teacher as scholar and critic as colleague and as collaborator on translation lavishly illustrated the handbook also contains a number of rediscovered short pieces by w g sebald hitherto unpublished interviews a catalogue of his library and selected poems and tributes as well as extensive primary and secondary bibliographies details of audiovisual material and interviews and a chronology of life and works drawing on a range of original sources from sebald's nachlass the most important part of which is now held in the deutsches literaturarchiv marbach saturn's moons 6g will be an invaluable sourcebook for future sebald studies in english and german alike complementing and augmenting recent critical works on subjects such as history memory modernity reader response and the visual the contributors include mark anderson anthea bell ulrich von buelow jo catling michael hulse florian radvan uwe schuette clive scott richard sheppard gordon turner stephen watts and luke williams jo catling teaches in the school of literature at the university of east anglia and richard hibbitt in the department of french at

After Nature 2013-02-07 art history and postwar fiction explores the ways in which novelists responded to the visual arts from the aftermath of the second world war to the present day if art had long served as a foil to enable novelists to reflect on their craft this book argues that in the postwar period novelists turned to the visual arts to develop new ways of conceptualizing the relationship between literature and history the sense that the novel was becalmed in the end of history was pervasive in the postwar decades in seeming to bring modernism to a climax whilst repeating its foundational gestures visual art also raised questions about the relationship between continuity and change in the development of art in chapters on samuel beckett william gaddis john berger and w g sebald and shorter discussions of writers like doris lessing kathy acker and teju cole this book shows that writing about art was often a means of commenting on historical developments of the period the cold war the new left the legacy of the holocaust furthermore it argues that forms of postwar visual art from abstraction to the readymade offered novelists ways of thinking about the relationship between form and history that went beyond models of reflection or determination by doing so this book also argues that attention to interactions between literature and art can provide critics with new ways to think about the relationship between literature and history beyond reductive oppositions between formalism and historicism autonomy and context
