A Few Good Memories 2007-02-26 for seventeen year old high school dropout jim bathurst the marine corps s reputation for making men out of boys was something he desperately needed when he enlisted in march of 1958 what began as a four year hitch lasted nearly thirty six years and included an interesting assortment of duty stations and assignments as both enlisted and officer we ll all die as marines narrates a story about a young free spirited kid from dundalk maryland and how the corps captured his body mind and spirit slowly but persistently the corps transformed him into someone whose first love would forever be the united states marine corps it documents not only his leadership service and training but also regales many tales of his fellow marines that will have the reader laughing cheering and at times crying in this memoir bathurst reveals that for him a former di who was awarded the silver star bronze star medal with combat v purple heart and a combat commission to second lieutenant the corps was not a job a career or even a profession it was and still is a way of life

Pride and Discipline 2014-05-21 my personal experiences and observations during my twenty year career in the marine corps

Thirteen Weeks of Hell 2017-02-20 here for the first time author and former parris island drill instructor eugene alvarez records the training and tough physical and mental challenges that have helped to churn thousands of marines out of parris island south carolina for nearly a century drawn from first hand accounts of recruits themselves the memories and recollections in these pages are humorous sad profane and enlightening describing a training program that on first encounter often appears insane but the results are clear a disciplined marine with a proud history that he or she carries proudly in peace time or war
