the seven papers contained in this report describe various aspects of the small car safety problem and suggest some solutions the small car safety problem is illustrated by the fatality projection chart on the report cover this chart shows that large increases in deaths of subcompact car occupants may be expected if current trends continue the first three papers in this report deal with trends in small car design market penetration and safety the last four papers deal with solutions available to mitigate the small car safety problem these solutions include actions the consumer can take to improve the safety of small car operation they also include actions the government has taken to develop and test vehicles with higher levels of safety and to develop information about automobile safety for the consumer although research conducted to date indicates that improved crash performance of small cars is easily possible and that a large variation exists in the crash test results of different small cars on the market no solution is offered to individual consumers who desire higher levels of safety in their cars suggested actions to improve small car safety include 1 more perfect safety standards which insure that the worst cars perform as well as the best ones 2 improved consumer information to allow consumers to select the level of safety they desire and 3 continued research in safety improvements to determine the safety features which are most effective and to advise the consumer and the government on the levels of safety which are feasible through advanced technology author at the center of cassandra chanting is a plot to steal the next american presidential election written by an election world insider who must remain anonymous the novel exposes in authentic and chilling detail just how vulnerable our electoral system is today it also reveals how warnings by experts are going unheeded and leaving americans dangerously exposed just as warnings by the mythological cassandra went unheeded resulting in the destruction of ancient troy as the novel opens plotters travel to america and seduce and recruit government officials in order to gain access and then manipulate in undetectable ways the computer programs that control voting systems the subversive group targets weak leaders and government bureaucrats whose thirst for power or other gain makes them susceptible they find many eager takers meanwhile the national institute of standards and technology in d c has assembled a team led by former navy seal carl martello to work on federal election oversight he is joined by angela elanthos brilliant at computers and decoding and soon they become suspicious of one of the largest voting companies controlling millions of voting machines certain they have rigged their programs despite government inertia and very different backgrounds carl and angela race against the clock to uncover the high tech complexities of a plot to fix the outcome of the election as the novel so alarmingly reveals the means by which the democratic institutions can be sabotaged within the voting process are all too real as is the public s continuing indifference to what could happen cassandra chanting is a gripping tale telling us why we must be ever diligent in protecting our institutions against those who exercise no restraint attempting to destroy those institutions and us embedded in this spell binder of a novel is a startling and convincing message the vulnerability of the very voting system the us is now adopting the author clearly understands the new system and what makes it tick and shows how it could be fixed to produce a winner different from the popular vote in the process the very legitimacy of our political system would be subverted november 2008 is not so far away we must heed this warning marvin zonis is a professor in the graduate school of business the university of chicago he also heads marvin zonis associates inc political risk consultants cassandrachanting com
