this book locates the issue of vulnerability in an international context within public sector reform processes and goes beyond the conceptualization of existing concepts of policing and vulnerability to include multi and intra agency working it uncovers many competing and contradictory conceptualisations of the phenomenon and shows how a variety of agencies in different jurisdictions prioritise and operationalise this escalating 21st century social problem two recurring themes of this edited collection are the ways in which non state organisations and agencies have become an acknowledged feature of modern service delivery and how the withdrawal of the state has heralded a perceptive shift from collective or community provision towards the stigmatization of individuals increasingly public service professionals and street level bureaucrats work in collaboration with non state agents to attempt to ameliorate vulnerability chapter contributions were deliberately drawn from combinatory empirical theoretical policy and practice fields and diverse academic and policy professional authors editors and authors deliberately cast their nets widely to provide integrative scholarship and contributions from international perspectives to confirm the complexity and how socio cultural political and historic antecedents shape the definitions and responses to vulnerability this collection will appeal to academics policy makers and practitioners in a wide variety of disciplines such as public management and leadership criminology policing social policy social work and business management and any others with an interest in or responsibility for dealing with the issue of vulnerability shaping the surface explores the history of modern british architecture through the lens of surface materiality and decoration picking up on a trait that art historian nikolaus pevsner first identified as a national mania for beautiful surface quality this book makes a new contribution to architectural history and visual culture in its detailed examination of the surfaces of british architecture from the middle of the 19th century up to the turn of the 21st century tracing this continuing sensibility to surface all the way through to the modern era it explores how and why surface and materiality have featured so heavily in recent architectural tradition examining the history of british architecture through a selection of key cultural moments and movements from romanticism and the arts and crafts to brutalism high tech post modernism neo vernacular and the new materiality embedded within the narrative is the question of whether such national characters can exist in architecture at all and indeed the extent to which it is possible to identify a british architectural consciousness in an architectural tradition characterised by its continuous importation of theories ideas materials and people from around the globe shaping the surface provides a deep critique and meditation on the importance of surface and materiality for architects designers and historians everywhere in britain and beyond while it also serves as a thematic introduction to modern british architectural history with in depth readings of the works of many key british architects artists and critics from ruskin and william morris to alison and peter smithson eduardo paolozzi richard rogers and caruso st john
