this companion is ideal for undergraduate and graduate classes what can we say about 1 kings 6 8 that attributes the construction of the temple in its full glory to solomon peter dubovsky approaches these texts from the diachronic point of view by investigating evidence gathered from the ancient near east demonstrating that temples were often changed he analyzes biblical texts indicating that the first temple underwent some important changes this result leads to the final step of his investigation he offers a minimalist version of a chronological development of the first temple and ventures to offer a more nuanced model this conclusion on the one hand should be ultimately confronted with the results of archaeological excavation once they become available on the other hand this study can point to some nuances that only a text can preserve and no archaeologist can ever unearth this is the first of a series of monograph supplements to the journal new testament studies the main purpose of the series is to make possible publication of work which is too long for inclusion in the journal the monographs will be published in either english french or german the present one is in english dr gärtner s purpose is to follow in detail the parallels between the new testament and qumran writings in their concept of the community christian or essene as a spiritual temple the whole complex of relationships between qumran and the early church is studied with the purpose of extending our knowledge of the jewish background of the new testament dr gärtner s conclusions lend strong support to the view that it is from this qumran type of judaism that the christian church arose the aramaic dead sea new jerusalem text nj survives in seven fragmentary copies 1q32 2q24 4q554 4q554a 4q555 5q15 and 11q18 lorenzo ditommaso presents an edition of the 4q nj fragments including a reconstruction of the text preserved in overlapping copies he also discusses the genre of the nj and the order of its material its antecedents and parallels in ancient urban design and its place among the many ancient jewish and christian literary expressions of the new jerusalem finally he examines the eschatological horizon of the nj its possible date of composition and its relationship with other dead sea texts which describe the new jerusalem or new temple book jacket exploring the world of the second temple period 539 bce 70 ce in particular the vastly diverse stories commentaries and other documents written by jews during the last three centuries of this period malka z simkovich takes us to jerusalem alexandria and antioch to the jewish sectarians and the roman jewish historian josephus to the cairo genizah and to the ancient caves that kept the secrets of the dead sea scrolls as she recounts jewish history during this vibrant formative era simkovich analyzes some of the period s most important works for both familiar and possible meanings this volume interweaves past and present in four parts part 1 tells modern stories of discovery of second temple literature part 2 describes the jewish communities that flourished both in the land of israel and in the diaspora part 3 explores the lives worldviews and significant writings of second temple authors part 4 examines how authors of the time introduced novel rewritten and expanded versions of bible stories in hopes of imparting messages to the people simkovich s popular style will engage readers in understanding the sometimes surprisingly creative ways jews at this time chose to practice their religion and interpret its scriptures in light of a cultural setting so unlike that of their israelite forefathers like many modern jews today they made an ancient religion meaningful in an ever changing world at this point of the scholarly debate on the nature of second temple pseudepigraphy one may ask why another look at the problem is needed this book is not the definitive answer to that problem but it proposes different paths or better still a two fold path on one hand to understand second temple pseudepigraphy as a mystical experience and on the other for lack of a suitable ancient example to compare it to modern day automatic writing this volume deals with temple ritual texts from ancient mesopotamia in particular from the cities uruk and babylon key question is whether they are a reliable source of information on the cult practices in uruk and babylon during the hellenistic period in the book an extensive description is presented of the festivals rituals ceremonies and offerings in hellenistic mesopotamia the appendix consists of a selection of the most important temple ritual texts which are presented in transliteration translation and with philological comments four plates with so far unpublished text fragments are also included the evidence clearly shows how important the public cults were in hellenistic times at least until the first century b c and how active the mesopotamians were in matters of religion and cult during this period second temple jewish and early christian writings assume that testing and temptation form an inescapable part of human experience from eden to massah to the eschaton the contributions in this volume explore the roles vocabulary and functions of testing in these traditions page 4 of printed paper wrapper ever since the discovery of the dead sea scrolls the community rule has been at the forefront of the scholarly imagination and is often considered a direct channel to life at khirbet qumran an ancient version of reality tv over the course of the last fifteen years the cave 4 era scholars have increasingly come to recognize the significance of the scrolls as a rich text world from a period when texts traditions and interpretation laid the foundations of western civilisation the studies by charlotte hempel gathered in this volume deal with several core rule texts from qumran especially with the community rule s the rule of the congregation 1qsa the damascus document d and 4q265 miscellaneous rules the author uncovers a complex network of literary and more murkily preserved social relationships she further investigates the rule literature within the context of wisdom law and the scribal milieu behind the emerging scriptures of all the enormous monuments throughout egypt and nubia that rameses ii the great ca 1279 1212 bce left behind his temple at abydos built early in his reign stands as one of his most elegant with its simple architectural layout and dramatic and graceful painted relief scenes though best known for its dramatic reliefs depicting the battle of kadesh the temple also offers a wealth of information about religious and social life in ancient egypt it reflects for example the strenuous efforts of the early ramesesides to reestablish the osiris cult in egypt and particularly at abydos in the aftermath of the amarna period building on the comprehensive photographic and epigraphic documentation of the temple presented in the temple of rameses ii at abydos volumes 1 wall scenes and 2 pillars niches and miscellanea volume 3 architectural and inscriptional features offers a detailed analysis of the overall architectural layout and decorative program of the temple and its symbolism this discussion approaches the religious history of the site through its archaeology its inscriptions both planned and secondary graffiti and its situation in the complex religious landscape of abydos of particular interest are the temple s role as a staging point for the great osiris festival and its procession among the most important of all ritual events in the egyptian religious calendar during the rameseside period the promotion of an active unbound form of osiris and the evidence for important cult activities that took place on the rooftop of the temple the presence of which is documented today by the staircase that accessed it from court b a new paradigm for how the biblical concept of israel impacted early jewish apocalyptic hopes for restoration essays examine the work of prophets in second temple judaism dreaming john as usual i never saw such a joy you are always in extremes either tiring yourself out or lying half asleep i was not half asleep mother i was looking at the lake i cannot see much to look at john it s just as it has been ever since you were born or since i was born no i suppose there s no change mother but i am never tired of looking at the sun shining on the ripples and the fishermen s boats and the birds standing in the shallows or flying off in a desperate hurry without any reason that i can make out besides mother when one is looking at the lake one is thinking of other things and very often thinking of nothing at all my son perhaps so mother but there s plenty to think of in these times plenty john there are baskets and baskets of figs to be stripped from the trees and hung up to dry for the winter and next week we are going to begin the grape harvest but the figs are the principal matter at present and i think that it would be far more useful for you to go and help old isaac and his son in getting them in than in lying there watching the lake lau s study focuses on a set of babylonian temple texts in the library of columbia university these tablets are mostly administrative receipts giving insight into the revenue and offering accounting in the temple the texts are presented in transcription english translation and with line drawings the articles in this volume have been written in memory of the feminist biblical scholar fokkeliën van dijk hemmes who died at the early age of 50 the authors endeavour to continue and advance the dialogue with her by evaluating and interacting with her scholarly legacy their concern is with various aspects of her work on the hebrew bible and they respond in particular to the feminist hermeneutics she developed for reading biblical texts several articles test her method in application to specific prophetic texts other contributions focus on aspects of the role of women in the cults of ancient israel a third group of essays confronts fokkeliën van dijk hemmes approach with more traditional ways of biblical interpretation this book is an important contribution to the ongoing debate on feminist insights into aspects of the literature culture and religion of ancient israel slightly revised and expanded version of the author's thesis ph d duke university durham 2008 edition of texts from the nuzi temple archives with analysis of individuals all aspects of the history culture literature religion art and archaeology of the ancient near east from the earliest historical periods to late antiquity the aim of this series is to present in depth studies of the written and material records left by the civilizations and cultures that populated the various areas of the ancient near east anatolia arabia egypt iran the levant mesopotamia and syria thus saner is open to all sorts of works that have something new to contribute and which are relevant to scholars and students within the continuum of regions disciplines and periods that constitute the field of ancient near eastern studies as well as to those in neighboring disciplines including biblical studies classics and ancient history in general this research aims to investigate the role or roles of the physical jerusalem temple within the second temple jewish writings in terms of whether the physical temple has any role to play in relation to the pivot point in eschatology the pivot point or fulcrum in time refers to the end of the exile and perhaps the beginning of the eschaton the exile may be theological but many second temple jewish texts address the physical gathering of the children of israel to the land of israel i e from physical exile even if the text also addresses a theological exile thus making the return a complete ingathering of the children of israel the passages of these ancient texts have been analysed before but never with this lens looking to see if there is any role the jerusalem temple performs in expected eschatological events will at least allow an answer to be given which is better than never asking the question in the first place which has been the case until now this study produces results as the jerusalem temple has always been a place of great expectations sermons each based on a text that shaped the life of a famous person tradition transmission and transformation presents fourteen papers delivered at the thirteenth orion center international symposium which trace the development of interpretive traditions found in second temple texts through later interpretive contexts the intertextuality research of antique texts and their reception in medieval and modern times is the subject of this volume 1 what is a text and what is an intertext this concerns the various different forms of text and how they present themselves in architecture iconography lexicography the study of lists etc 2 forms of intertextuality on the relationship between writtenness and oralness how oral texts are objectified during textualisation and become fixed acts of speech k ehlich how especially antique texts were shaped by the continual interconnectedness of oral and written traditions 3 what is understood in ancient oriental and antique literature by tradition and transmission to this end the research includes languages historical reality and antique thought structures making clear that the transferral of tradition occurs not only within a close cultural circle but in the exchange with neighbouring cultures over large distances and geographic boundaries 4 on the relationship between intertextuality and canon a number of g dorival a harder and s alkier this book examines temple renovation as a rhetorical topic within royal literature of the ancient near east unlike newly founded temples which were celebrated for their novelty temple renovations were oriented toward the past kings took the opportunity to rehearse a selective history of the temple evoking certain past traditions and omitting others in this way temple renovations were a kind of historiography andrew r davis demonstrates a pattern in the rhetoric of temple renovation texts that kings in ancient mesopotamia israel syria and persia used temple renovation to correct or at least distance themselves from some turmoil of recent history and to associate their reigns with an earlier and more illustrious past davis draws on the royal literature of the seventh and sixth centuries bce for main evidence of this rhetoric furthermore he argues for reading the story of jeroboam i s placement of calves at dan and bethel 1 kgs 12 25 33 as an eighth century bce account of temple renovation with a similar rhetoric concluding with further examples in the hellenistic and roman periods reconstructing the temple demonstrates that the rhetoric of temple renovation was a distinct and longstanding topic in the ancient near east the intertextuality research of antique texts and their reception in medieval and modern times is the subject of this volume 1 what is a text and what is an intertext this concerns the various different forms of text and how they present themselves in architecture iconography lexicography the study of lists etc 2 forms of intertextuality on the relationship between writtenness and oralness how oral texts are objectified during textualisation and become fixed acts of speech k ehlich how especially antique texts were shaped by the continual interconnectedness of oral and written traditions 3 what is understood in ancient oriental and antique literature by tradition and transmission to this end the research includes languages historical reality and antique thought structures making clear that the transferral of tradition occurs not only within a close cultural circle but in the exchange with neighbouring cultures over large distances and geographic boundaries 4 on the relationship between intertextuality and canon a number of contributions study this aspect of ongoing historical debate as it often found for culturally definitive and canonised texts a necessary part of their rejuvenation process contributions by m bauks a lange z plese ph alexandre s aufrère m oeming k davidowicz a wagner g selz m f meyer l roig lanzillotta m dimitrova f waldman w horowitz m risch j van ruiten l bormann a miltenova j taschner g brooke g dorival a harder and s alkier

The Jerusalem Temple and Early Christian Identity

this book examines temple renovation as a rhetorical topic within royal literature of the ancient near east unlike newly founded temples which were celebrated for their novelty temple renovations were oriented toward the past kings took the opportunity to rehearse a selective history of the temple evoking certain past traditions and omitting others in this way temple renovations were a kind of historiography andrew r davis demonstrates a pattern in the rhetoric of temple renovation texts that kings in ancient mesopotamia israel syria and persia used temple renovation to correct or at least distance themselves from some turmoil of recent history and to associate their reigns with an earlier and more illustrious past davis draws on the royal literature of the seventh and sixth centuries bce for main evidence of this rhetoric furthermore he argues for reading the story of jeroboam i s placement of calves at dan and bethel 1 kgs 12 25 33 as an eighth century bce account of temple renovation with a similar rhetoric concluding with further examples in the hellenistic and roman periods reconstructing the temple demonstrates that the rhetoric of temple renovation was a distinct and longstanding topic in the ancient near east
