light amp skin interactions simulations for computer May 02 2023 this is the first book devoted to the simulation of light interactions with human skin its focal point is the modeling of physical quantities that describe skin appearance attributes other topics related to the rendering of human features such as the geometric modeling and texture mapping of skin surfaces are beyond its scope skin dose investigations on a 0.5 T parallel rotating Apr 01 2023 oborn et al 8 have investigated skin dose in a 1.0 T inline mr linac using mc simulations they consider skin doses at 70 μm depth according to icrp recommendations 39 however the 70 μm depth is arguably most relevant in the context of radiation protection for low penetrating radiation in this work we consider the skin in its entirety a neural mast cell axis regulates skin microcirculation in Sep 25 2022 although neuroimmune interactions contribute to a variety of conditions it is still unclear whether abnormal neural activities affect microcirculation related to diabetes using laser speckle contrast imaging we examined the skin of patients with type 2 diabetes and found that their microvascular perfusion was significantly compromised
