in recent years the peasant household has become a central focal point of social history this is true not only because the peasant represents the major element of european society through the nineteenth century but also because many of the main issues in modern historical debate can be studied within the sphere of the peasant family this book deals with the european peasant family during the period of transformation from agrarian to industrial society the time called by some the period of protoindustrialization the essays in this volume explore some of the major issues concerning the influence of the economy society and institutions on the peasant household and conversely the influence of the peasant household on the outside world themes dealt with include the ways in which the physical environment and the economy may make for very different family structures and even affect intra family relationships the effects of inheritance marriage and kinship strategies as well as social pressure on peasant family structure and demography the debate about changing gender roles and status the debate over the manner and effects of class formation questions of social and political agency the nature of gender and parent child relations the validity of protoindustrial theory and the role of peasants in initiating industrialization as consumers producers and as a labor force in examining these themes the essays provide both case studies and innovative analysis by preeminent international scholars in the fields of family and women s history economic history and demography this outstanding compendium of articles on europe s military situation as we enter the new millennium has been compiled under the aegis of the georgemarshall european center for security studies the leading analysts of military studies in every major nation of europe are included along with three overview pieces that set the tone and content for this nicely integrated volume the opening pieces by martin shaw on the evolution of a common risk society christopher dandeker on the military in democratic societies and wilfried von bredow on the re nationaliation of military strategy set the tone for the work as a whole although the cold war is now a decade removed from the new europe the challenges of transition to new defense systems and institutional structures still confront those who plan the future for the military establishments of europe the individual country studies contained in this volume as well as the final analysis of the trends and probable future developments in europe of prisoners and dehumanizing pyramids formed from black hooded bodies we have watched officials elected to our highest offices defend enhanced interrogation in terms of efficacy and justify drone strikes in terms of retribution and deterrence but the mainstream secular media rarely addresses the morality of these choices leaving us to ask individually is this right in this singular examination of the american discourse over war and torture douglas v porpora alexander nikolaev julia hagemann may and alexander jenkins investigate the opinion pages of american newspapers television commentary and online discussion groups to offer the first empirical study of the national conversation about the 2003 invasion of iraq and the revelations of prisoner abuse at abu ghraib a year later post ethical society is not just another shot fired in the ongoing culture war between conservatives and liberals but a pensive and ethically engaged reflection of america s feelings about itself and our actions as a nation and while many writers and commentators have opined about our moral place in the world the vast amount of empirical data amassed in post ethical society sets it apart and makes its findings that much more damning this is an authoritative study of the administrative social and economic structure of afghanistan during a decisive stage in its history the period covered the reign of the iron amir rahman khan was in many ways the beginning of modern afghanistan as a cohesive nation although afghanistan had emerged as an entity in 1747 it was actually under the amir that its borders were established its internal unification completed and the modern concept of nationhood implanted kakar approaches this complex process by taking into consideration both the internal and the external forces that influenced its development thus modernization centralization and nationalization are seen as both defensive reactions to european imperialism and necessary preconditions to capital formation and consequently industrialization the first part of the book covers the government of the amir from the personality of the ruler down to the operation of his new bureaucrats at the local level here kakar presents a comprehensive treatment of the afghan system of taxation and local government the second part views these economic and social institutions from the perspective of the major segments of the populace nomads townsmen tribes women slaves landowners mullahs merchants and so forth reprint of the original first published in 1866 covering the major social and political events of british history from the late victorian era through to the present day the 6th edition of this landmark textbook helps students critically examine the relationship between the british state the choice of vector of harmonious development of the countries using the example of eichstatt this book challenges current witchcraft historiography by arguing that the gender of the witch suspect was a product of the interrogation process and that the stable communities affected by persecution did not collude in its escalation the economic and social development that bangladesh has achieved in the past two decades has made bangladesh a development paradox this book tries to explain this paradox through a political economy lens the book explains the linkages between the state changing society and emerging private sector and examines whether the social transformation taking place in bangladesh has the potential to live up to the expectations of a middle income country the early part of the book unravels the myriad relations between the state society and market to project the aspirations of a newly independent nation it analyzes how political turmoil militarization of politics politicization of institutions reforms initiatives industrial and social development policies and the power nexus influenced the nature of the political economy of bangladesh the book goes on to examine how domestic appetite for capital and raw materials the digital revolution and the capacity of the local market to absorb expanded economic activities have created an environment that catalyzes innovation and entrepreneurship the book also explains how the country has attempted to transform from an agrarian to a manufacturing based economy with rapid growth in the ready made it is often claimed that we live in an expert society a society where more and more individuals take expert roles in increasingly narrow fields in contrast to more traditional experts most of these new experts lack generally accepted mechanisms for the certification and legitimation of their expertise this book focuses on these new as well as established experts and the efforts undertaken to secure and legitimate their expertise we view these efforts as organizing attempts and study them on four different levels the society the market the organization and the individual based on empirical studies on these four levels of analysis the organization of the expert society makes the argument that current organizing initiatives in the expert society are based in an objectifying view of expertise that risks concealing and downplaying key aspects of expertise well intended organizing initiatives in the expert society thus run the risk of promoting ignorance rather than securing expertise focusing on a current general and global phenomenon the rise and organization of an expert society the organization of the expert society will be key reading for scholars academics and policy makers in the management fields of organizational theory management consulting organizations society critical management studies as well as the disciplines of sociology political science and social anthropology this volume delves into the study of the world's emerging middle class with essays on Europe, the United States, Africa, Latin America, and Asia. The book studies recent trends and developments in middle class evolution at the global, regional, national, and local levels. It reconsiders the conceptualization of the middle class with a focus on the diversity of middle class formation in different regions and zones of world society. It also explores middle class lifestyles and everyday experiences, including experiences of social mobility, feelings of insecurity and anxiety, and even middle class engagement with social activism. Drawing on extensive fieldwork and in-depth interviews, the book provides a sophisticated analysis of this new and rapidly expanding socioeconomic group and puts forth some provocative ideas for intellectual and policy debates. It will be of importance to students and researchers of sociology, economics, development studies, political studies, Latin American studies, and Asian studies.

State, Market and Society in an Emerging Economy
