this research delivers a conceptual reconstruction of the trajectory of concepts used to mark qualitative differences among identities from the 16th to the 21st century in central europe and the americas the surplus lies in the inclusion of colonial history in the genealogy of western political thought and ideas as well as in the postcolonial discussion of multiculturalism the manuscript deals with the power and authority of translation providing the reader with an insight into the history of colonial racism through a deep conceptual analysis of three historical debates that have not been previously discussed together by linking the so called indian question the jewish question and the multicultural question this thesis includes a valuable critical revision of the origins of humanism in colonial times and contexts and an original critique to the power and violence of language in making differences which is described in terms of translation this thesis was selected among the three best dissertations in critical social thinking of the year 2019 by the rosa luxemburg stiftung the concepts of purity and pollution are fundamental to the worldview reflected in the hebrew bible yet the ways that biblical texts apply these concepts to sexual relationships remain largely overlooked sexual pollution in the hebrew bible argues that the concept of pollution is rooted in disgust and that pollution language applied to sexual relations expresses a sense of bodily contamination resulting from revulsion most texts in the hebrew bible that use pollution language in sexual contexts reflect a conception of women as sexual property susceptible to being ruined for particular men through contamination by others in contrast the holiness legislation of the pentateuch applies pollution language to men who engage in transgressive sexual relations conveying the idea that male bodily purity is a prerequisite for individual and communal holiness sexual transgressions contaminate the male body and ultimately result in exile when the land vomits out its inhabitants the holiness legislation's conception of sexual pollution which is found in leviticus 18 had a profound impact on later texts in the book of ezekiel it contributes to a broader conception of pollution resulting from israel's sins which led to the babylonian exile in the book of ezra it figures in a view of the israelite community as a body of males contaminated by foreign women yet the idea of female pollution rooted in a view of women as sexual property persisted alongside the idea of male pollution as an impediment to holiness eva feinstein illuminates why the idea of pollution adheres to particular domains of experience including sex death and certain types of infirmity sexual pollution in the hebrew bible allows for a more thorough understanding of sexual pollution its particular characteristics and the role that it plays in biblical literature for the past two decades integrated water resources management iwrms has been the dominant paradigm in water resources this book explores how ideas of iwrms are being translated and adapted in mozambique south africa tanzania uganda and zimbabwe grounded in social science theory and research it highlights the importance of politics history and culture in shaping water management practices and reform and demonstrates how africa has clearly been a laboratory for iwrms while a new cadre of professionals made iwrn their mission we show that poor women and men may not have always benefitted in some cases iwrn has also offered a distraction from more critical issues such as water and land grabs privatisation the negative impacts of water permits and a range of institutional ambiguities that prevent water allocations to small and poor water users by critically examining the interpretations and challenges of iwrn the book contributes to improving water policies and practices and making them more locally appropriate in africa and beyond between 1960 and 1980 various administrations attempted to deal with a rising tide of illicit drug use that was unprecedented in u s history this valuable book provides a close look at the politics and bureaucracy of drug control policy during those years showing how they changed during the presidencies of johnson nixon ford and carter and how much current federal drug control policies owe to those earlier efforts david f musto m d and pamela korsmeyer base their analysis on a unique collection of 5 000 pages of white house documents from the period all of which are included on a searchable cd rom that accompanies the book these documents reveal the intense debates that took place over drug policy they show for example that staffers and cabinet officers who were charged with narcotics policy were often influenced by the cultural currents of their times and when the public reacted in an extreme fashion to rising drug use officials were disinclined to adopt modified policies that might have been more realistic musto and korsmeyer s investigation into the decision making processes that shaped past drug control efforts in the united states provides essential background as creative approaches to the drug problem are sought for the future

Chandler and Grant's Glaucoma, one of the field's seminal texts on the medical practice and surgical management of glaucoma, now in its sixth edition, includes the latest updates in an area that is currently experiencing a surge of innovation. Edited by Drs. Malik Y. Kahook and Joel S. Schuman, and with writings from the late Dr. David I. Epstein and more than 80 contributors, Chandler and Grant's Glaucoma, sixth edition, brings together the experience of world-class glaucoma experts who belong to a long line of surgeons trained using the teachings of the original authors of this classic work. Each chapter has been meticulously edited and updated from the previous edition while maintaining the well-established historical teachings of Drs. Paul A. Chandler and W. Morton Grant. New chapters on medical therapy, as well as thorough updates on novel and minimally invasive approaches for the surgical management of glaucoma, have been added. New topics and features in the sixth edition include advances in imaging of the optic nerve and retina, rho-associated protein kinase inhibitors, glaucoma and cerebrospinal fluid pressure, the FDA's role in the development of new diagnostic and surgical devices for patients with glaucoma. Chandler and Grant's Glaucoma has been the most relevant and invaluable reference on glaucoma for generations of ophthalmologists. This updated sixth edition builds on the teachings of previous editions, making the sixth edition as relevant in the 21st century as when the first lectures were presented by Drs. Chandler and Grant more than 55 years ago.
