gaza writes back short stories from young writers in gaza palestine edited by refaat alareer is a compelling collection of short stories from fifteen young writers in gaza members of a generation that has suffered immensely under israel s siege and blockade their experiences especially during and following israel s 2008 2009 offensive known as operation cast lead have fundamentally impacted their lives and their writing indeed many of these writers saw the war as a catalyst for their writing as they sought an outlet and a voice in its aftermath they view the book as a means of preserving palestinian memories and presenting their own narratives to the world without filters their words take us into the homes and hearts of moms dads students children and elders striving to live lives of dignity compassion and meaning in one of the world s most embattled communities some of the stories also take us with courage and empathy into the imagined world of israelis living just on the other side of the great barriers israel has built in and around gaza and the west bank to wall the palestinians in

The Book of Gaza 2015-06-12

under the israeli occupation of the 70s and 80s writers in gaza had to go to considerable lengths to ever have a chance of seeing their work in print manuscripts were written out longhand invariably under pseudonyms and smuggled out of the strip to jerusalem cairo or beirut where they then had to be typed up consequently fiction grew shorter novels became novellas and short stories flourished as the city s form of choice indeed to palestinians elsewhere gaza became known as the exporter of oranges and short stories this anthology brings together some of the pioneers of the gazan short story from that era as well as younger exponents of the form with ten stories that offer glimpses of life in the strip that go beyond the global media headlines stories of anxiety oppression and violence but also of resilience and hope of what it means to be a palestinian and how that identity is continually being reformed stories of ordinary characters struggling to live with dignity in what many have called the largest prison in the world

Letters to Palestine 2015-04-14

operation protective edge israel s seven week bombing campaign and ground invasion of gaza in the summer of 2014 resulted in half a million displaced gazans tens of thousands of destroyed homes and more than 2 000 deaths and yet it was only the latest in a long series of assaults endured by palestinians isolated in gaza but following the conflict polls revealed a startling fact for the first time a majority of americans under thirty found israel s actions unjustified jon stewart aired a blistering attack on israeli violence and a video of a un spokesperson weeping as he was interviewed in gaza went viral appearing on vanity fair and buzzfeed among other sites this book traces this swelling american recognition of palestinian suffering struggle and hope in writing that is personal lyrical anguished and inspiring some of the leading writers of our time such as junot díaz and teju cole poets and essayists novelists and scholars palestinian american activists like huwaida arraf noura erakat and remi kanazi give voice to feelings of empathy and solidarity as well as anger at us support for israeli policy in intimate letters beautiful essays and furious poems this is a landmark work of controversial committed literary writing

Giving Voice to Stones 1994

a struggle between two memories is how palestinian poet mahmud darwish describes the conflict between palestinians and israelis within this struggle the meanings of land and home have been challenged and questioned so that even heaps of stones become points of contention are they proof of ancient hebrew settlement or rubble from a bulldozed palestinian village the memory of these stones and of the land itself is nurtured and maintained in palestinian writing and other modes of expression which are used to confront and counter israeli images and rhetoric this struggle provides a rich vein of thought about the nature of human experience of place and the political uses to which these experiences are put in this book barbara mckean parmenter explores the roots of western and zionist images of palestine then draws upon the work of darwish ghassan kanafani and other writers to trace how palestinians have represented their experience of home and exile since the first world war this unique blending of cultural geography and literary analysis opens an unusual window on the struggle between these two peoples over a land that both divides them and brings them together

Writing in the Dark 2008-09-30

recent essays on israel literature and language from one of the country's most respected and best loved voices throughout his career david grossman has been a voice for peace and reconciliation between israel and its arab citizens and neighbors in six new essays on politics and culture in israel today he addresses the conscience of a country that has lost faith in its leaders and its ideals this collection writing in the dark includes an already famous speech concerning the disastrous second lebanon war of 2006 the war that took the life of grossman's twenty year old son uri moving humane clear sighted and courageous touching on literature and artistic creation as well as politics and philosophy these writings are a cri de coeur from a heroic voice of reason at a time of uncertainty and despair

Pay No Heed to the Rockets 2019-09-10

with humility respect and great sensitivity he seeks out writers people skilled at telling stories and asks them to narrate their own situations the result is a document that captures not only the manifold sorrows and injustices of palestinian life but something of its beauty its joys and its yearning ben ehrenreich author of the way to the spring taking the long route through the west bank into jerusalem across israel and finally into gaza marcello di cintio meets with palestinian poets authors librarians and booksellers to learn about palestine through their eyes pay no heed to the rockets offers a look at life in contemporary palestine through the lens of its literary culture one that begins with art rather than with war

Pay No Heed to the Rockets 2018-05-21

across palestine from the allenby bridge and ramallah to jerusalem and gaza marcello di cintio has met with writers poets librarians booksellers and readers finding extraordinary stories in every corner stories of how revolutionary writing was smuggled from the naqab prison lost stories surrounding the looted books that sit in israel's national library and stories from the gallery café whose opening three thousand creative intellectuals gathered to celebrate pay no heed to the rockets offers a window into the literary heritage of palestine revealing a humanity often unreported paying homage to the memory of giants like mahmoud darwish and ghassan kanafani and the contemporary authors whom they continue to inspire this evocative lyrical journey shares both the anguish and inspiration of palestinian writers at work today

For the Children of Gaza 2014-07-31

the contributors to this book are telling the story of our anger and disgust and horror you will not be surprised to discover that there is darkness in many of the texts that follow but there is also joy and beauty its aim is much less to accuse than to paint a correct picture of what most of the world seemingly does not see or chooses not to see and we think that a right recognition of the reality of gaza today needs to be accompanied by the right remedial action such action is in the hands of all of us even if the leaders of the world who are indeed in the best position to act do not what is at stake in gaza goes well beyond the politics of sides and enters the consideration of crime and of killing there are many accomplices on both sides and as in any crime they too must be held accountable bishop tutu has said that if you are neutral in situations of injustice you have chosen the side of the oppressor if an elephant has its foot on the tail of a mouse and you say that you are neutral the mouse will not appreciate your neutrality the work presented here by many artists and writers from all corners of the world attempts unlike the non actions of those who actually have political clout and power to choose the side of the oppressed suddenly in the face of these killings it does not matter that tunnels have been dug or that rockets are being launched at israeli cities even if you are right what suddenly matters is choosing to kill your opponent who is weaker

Palestine + 100 2019-12

set in the future version of palestine this collection of stories addresses that reality and explores the long term consequences it poses a question to contemporary palestinian writers what might your home city look like in the year 2048 exactly 100 years after the nakba the displacement of more than 750 000 people after the israeli war on independence how might that war reach across a century of repair and rebirth and affect the state of the country its politics its religion its language its culture and how might palestine have finally escaped it and it found its own peace a hundred years down the line as well as being an exercise in escaping the politics of the present in a country which some have called the largest prison in the world this anthology is also an opportunity for a hotbed of contemporary arab writers to offer their own spin on science fiction and fantasy

The Book of Ramallah 2021-03-04

a coffee seller waits all day for one of his customers to ask him how he is until eventually he just tells the city itself a teenager is ordered off a bus at a checkpoint and told he must kiss a complete stranger if he wants the bus to be let through a woman pilgrimages to the cave of the prophets to pray for rain for her tiny patch of land knowing it will take more than water to save it unlike most other palestinian cities ramallah is a relatively new town a de facto capital of the west bank allowed to thrive after the oslo peace accords but just as quickly hemmed in and suffocated by the occupation as the accords have failed perched along the top of a mountainous ridge it plays host to many contradictions traditional palestinian architecture jostling against aspirational developments and cultural initiatives a thriving nightlife in one district with much more conservative religious attitudes in the next most striking however as these stories show is the quiet dignity resilience and humour of its people citizens who take their lives into their hands every time they travel from one place to the next who continue to live through countless sieges and yet still find the time and resourcefulness to create

Child from Gaza 2014-07-17

in the prologue he describes why he wrote this piece we are obliged to allocate some of our pens ink to write about their sufferings child s suffering through this short story in particular way trying to depict the reality in gaza we cannot interpret the reality as it is on this land because the ordeal is so colossal and the pain is really deep on the bright side the writer describes the child himself or someone else that his birth witnessed no celebration was born in awful atmosphere at night of bombarding and devastating night he sang on the rhythm of bombs the torment start song the work is on a disparate humanitarian story with food shortage and lack of opportunities a prisoner like life suffers from dryness and famine fuel shortage and expensiveness prices in general the story gives us a description of how palestinians belong to hamas think and perceive things the writer mixed theory with reality and learning and practicing islamic legacy and war his description of the war as a new teacher the writer describes the changing situation teachers became the zionist army the skilled player to anthem of collective death the writer then describing war intelligently as rain with different material the sky was raining to exterminate life the earth embraced the death s seeds thrown from the sky to fructify them instantly without irrigation or hardworking in the land as if the sky and the earth practicing impiety as practiced by men in the old times the selection of this book comes in the process of ihyaa al turath al arabi fil mahjar revival of arab heritage in diaspora project sponsored by the arab american encyclopedia usa the two projects aim for the purpose of protecting arab language and introducing literature in arab heritage to serve 1st 2nd and third arab generations in diaspora good eyewitness story

The Man Who Sold Air in the Holy Land 2022-04-12

in these wise capacious achingly beautiful stories omer friedlander maps the hidden geography of the human heart like a young chekhov anthony marra a beautiful debut by a deeply humane writer every story is a vivid world unto itself intensely felt and often revelatory nicole krauss a divorced con artist and his young daughter sell empty bottles of holy air to credulous tourists in a bombed out beirut radio station a lebanese scheherazade enchants three young soldiers with her nightly tales ahead of a school show and tell two brothers kidnap a shoah survivor from a supermarket to pose as their grandfather an israeli volunteer at a west bank checkpoint mourns the death of her son a soldier killed in gaza from the limestone alleyways of jerusalem to the desolate negev desert and the sprawling orange groves of jaffa omer friedlander s stories are fairy tales turned on their head by the stakes of real life where moments of fragile intimacy mix with comedy and notes of the absurd casting his eye not on the region s conflicts but on the hopes and failures of its people the man who sold air in the holy land is at times darkly funny at others quietly devastating

Beyond the Wall 2012

their voices come from bethlehem and hebron you can hear them from jerusalem to nazareth and witness their protests in gaza and ramallah from the refugee camps in the west bank you can hear the voices of the palestinian people call out to demand self determination and a better quality of life but outside of israel and the occupied territories these individual voices are rarely heard until now in beyond the wall writing a path through palestine internationally renowned feminist critic and writer bidisha collects the testimonies of an occupied people ordinary citizens activists children alongside those of international aid workers and foreign visitors for a revelatory look at a population on the margins called beautifully belligerent and fiercely intelligent by the independent and a dazzlingly creative writer by the londontimes bidisha amplifies the voices of the palestinian people in this book and lends to them her own considerable strength

The People On The Street: A Writer's View Of Israel 2009-06-04

the further away anyone was from that block of ben yehuda street the easier it seemed to find a solution to the conflict between israelis and palestinians that stubborn mess in the centre of the middle east and the more i studied these solutions the more i thought that they depended for their implementation on a population of table football men painted in the colours of the two teams blue and white for the israelis green red and black for the palestinians all the international community had to do was to twist the levers and the little players would kick and swing and send the ball into the net to victory one block of a tel aviv street is the starting point for linda grant s exploration of the inner dynamics of israelis not the government and its policies but the people themselves in all their variety iraqi shop keepers teenage soldiers mob bosses tunisian born settlers russian scientists and the father of the child victim of a suicide bomber are some of the people she meets

A Long Walk from Gaza 2024-05-07

the violence of life in gaza which has taken on immense proportions for the whole world to see is intimately rendered here in a human story of resistance and resilience in the tradition of palestinian women writers asma al atawna has gifted us a novel that is both personal and political that exposes both the occupation and the patriarchy a long walk from gaza is a coming of age story that follows its teenage protagonist through her battles with a strict and abusive father the exhilaration of her first crush confrontations with occupation soldiers and the heartbreak of leaving her home gaza for a new life in europe beginning in europe and working backward to her own birth and early childhood al atawna s creative narration mirrors the traumas of her life and her people a long walk from gaza not only exposes the harshness of both male authority and the stifling of the dreams of girls in parallel with the devastating conditions palestinians endure under a brutal israeli occupation but also the challenges of fleeing these for a cold alienating life in europe al atawna lays these bare within a story that also showcases moments of humor joy and the human capacity to survive and thrive at all costs she skillfully weaves together the challenges of growing up in occupied palestine while exposing the many intersections of violence patriarchy and growing up in a society that offers girls little to no compassion her teenage protagonist s feminist point of view is fresh and honest powerfully conveying the heartbreaking truths of her life at heart a long walk from gaza is a tale of freedom each of the characters is psychologically wounded by their circumstances and each resists in their own way gaza comes to life in al atawna s novel showing a rich and diverse society its flaws along with its beauty showing us worlds which are being destroyed and some of which no longer exist today
