this book offers a provocative rereading of the early history of chan buddhism zen working from a history of religions point of view that asks how and why certain literary tropes were chosen to depict the essence of the buddhist tradition to chinese readers this analysis focuses on the narrative logics of the early chan genealogies the seventh and eighth century lineage texts that claimed that certain high profile chinese men were descendents of bodhidharma and the buddha this book argues that early chan s image of the perfect master who owns tradition was constructed for reasons that have little to do with buddhist practice new styles of enlightened wisdom or orthodoxy and much more to do with politics property geography and of course new forms of writing
