through the eyes of one of its most eminent protagonists. Teaching assistants are uniquely placed to support children's involvement with learning through the curriculum. This book explores those issues that are central to that process. Specifically, it examines strategies for supporting learning and assessment in English, Maths and Science, inclusive and imaginative practices in all areas of learning, home and community contexts for learning, working practices which support professional development. This book is written primarily for learning support staff. Strategic communication is becoming more relevant in communication sciences, though it needs to deepen its reflective practices, especially considering its potential in a VUCA world: volatile, uncertain, complex and ambiguous. The capillary, holistic and result-oriented nature that portrays this scientific field has led to the imperative of expanding knowledge about the different approaches, methodologies and impacts in all kinds of organisations when strategic communication is applied. Therefore, strategic communication in context: theoretical debates and applied research assembles several studies and essays by renowned authors who explore the topic from different angles, thus testing the elasticity of the concept. Moreover, this group of authors represents various schools of thought and geographies, making this book particularly rich and cross-disciplinary.

European contract law unification projects have recently advanced from the draft Common Frame of Reference (2009) to a European Commission proposal for an optional common European sales law (2011), which is to facilitate cross-border marketing. This book investigates for the first time how CESL and DCFR rules would interact with various aspects of domestic law, represented by English and German law. Nineteen chapters, co-authored by British and German scholars, examine such interface issues, for example pre-contractual relationships, notions of contract formation, interpretation and remedies, extending to non-discrimination, third parties, transfers or rights, aspects of property law and collective proceedings. They go beyond a critical analysis of CESL and DCFR rules by demonstrating where and how CESL rules would interact with neighbouring areas of English and German law: before English and German courts, how domestic traditions might influence the application, which aspects might motivate sellers and buyers to choose or reject CESL, and which might serve as a model for national legislators. The findings are summarized in the final two chapters. This book explains the key concepts of evidence law clearly and concisely, set against the backdrop of the broader political and theoretical contexts. It helps to inform students of the major debates within the field, providing an explanation as to how and why the law has developed as it has. This book explores the view that normative behaviour is part of a complex of social mechanisms, processes and narratives that are constantly shifting. From this perspective, norms are not a kind of self-contained social object or fact, but rather an interplay of many things that we label as norms when we take a snapshot of them at a particular instant. Further, this book pursues the hypothesis that considering the dynamic aspects of these phenomena sheds new light on them. The sort of issues that this perspective opens to exploration include: what is this complex we call a social norm, composed of how do new social norms emerge, and what kind of circumstances might facilitate such an appearance? How context-specific are the norms and patterns of normative behaviour that arise? How do the cognitive and the social aspects of norms interact over time? How do expectations, beliefs and individual rationality interact with social norm complexes to effect behaviour? How does our social embeddedness relate to social constraint upon behaviour? How might the socio-cognitive complexes that we call norms be usefully researched? The book is written in such a way as to challenge and educate through the use of exercises, scenarios and activities. Something it does rather well: a well-written, practical and informative publication of value to supervisees, supervisors and all those involved in counsellor and supervisor training, counselling psychology, review. This book argues that the social context is important for the individual client, supervisee and supervisor, as is the context in which the work and supervision are done. It is a clear, well-written and enjoyable book containing helpful information for both supervisees and supervisors.

transformations. The PCSR Journal: there is an increasing awareness of the impact of individual factors on therapeutic work both with clients and with their counsellors in supervision but the influence of social contexts on this work has been less clearly articulated this book provides counsellors with practical information about supervising specific types of clients and in specific organizational settings part one addresses four essential aspects of the individual race gender disability and sexual orientation exploring their influence on the therapeutic relationship and the supervision of trainee and experienced counsellors part two assesses the impact of the organizations where counselling takes place how different kinds of settings affect work with clients and thus the work of supervision by highlighting context as a potential source of difficulty for the client the book encourages trainees and supervisors to look beyond the individual and avoid placing the burden of responsibility for problems upon the client knowledge translation in context is an essential tool for researchers to learn how to be effective partners in the kt process to ensure that diverse communities benefit from academic research results through improved social and health outcomes four leading experts convey the promise of data science and examine challenges in achieving its benefits and mitigating some harms the asp net mvc 5 framework is the latest evolution of microsoft s asp net web platform it provides a high productivity programming model that promotes cleaner code architecture test driven development and powerful extensibility combined with all the benefits of asp net asp net mvc 5 contains a number of advances over previous versions including the ability to define routes using c attributes and the ability to override filters the user experience of building mvc applications has also been substantially improved the new more tightly integrated visual studio 2013 ide has been created specifically with mvc application development in mind and provides a full suite of tools to improve development times and assist in reporting debugging and deploying your code the popular bootstrap javascript library has also now been included natively within mvc 5 providing you the developer with a wider range of multi platform css and html5 options than ever before without the penalty of having to load in third party libraries the conversations in this collection open by challenging ideas that have become standard and subject them to critical re examination the central thread of all these essays is a reflection on the processes of reading and theologizing among the contributors to this volume are david e aune jouette bassler daniel boyarin neil elliot victor paul furnish lloyd gaston steven j kraftchick robert c morgan j andrew overman mark reasoner peter richardson and robin scroggs juanita garciagodoy and david h hopper offer appreciations of calvin roetzel as a teacher and colleague this volume examines general ethical principles and controversies in the social sciences by looking specifically at the recent three year revision process to the american anthropological association s code of ethics the book s contributors were members of the task force that undertook that revision and thus have first hand knowledge of the debates compromises and areas of consensus involved in shaping any organization s ethical vision the book reflects the broad diversity of opinion approach and practice within anthropology and the social sciences develops ethical principles that reflect core values rather than the latest ethical controversies crafts clear broad statements increasing the likelihood that the ethical code will be a meaningful part of the daily discourse of practicing anthropologists develops the ethical code as a living document or a process of experience and debate subject to future revision and amplification provides explanation through internet links and other resources ensuring that the finished product be relevant and vibrant a fresh look at the history of psychology placed in its social political and cultural contexts a history of modern psychology in context presents the history of modern psychology in the richness of its many contexts the authors resist the traditional storylines of great achievements by eminent people or schools of thought that rise and fall in the wake of scientific progress instead psychology is portrayed as a network of scientific and professional practices embedded in specific temporal social political and cultural contexts the narrative is informed by three key concepts indigenization reflexivity and social constructionism and by the fascinating interplay between disciplinary psychology and everyday

Theologies of the Gospel in Context 2017-08-25

many preachers and teachers of preaching talk about the gospel few name it theologies of the gospel in context assembles a gifted group of homileticians who think that preachers need to be able to articulate the gospel not in general but in a certain time and place in context they consider what gospel sounds like for people under oppression in capitalist economies in neocolonial contexts for survivors of trauma and for disestablished mainline churches marred by racism preachers will appreciate these preacher scholars desire to articulate the gospel with clarity especially since the term is so often left unexplained homileticians will see a new genre of doing their work as teachers and researchers in preaching a vision that helps preaching see itself not just as an adjunct to exegesis or communication but a place of doing theology in these pages homiletics is more than technique it is a truly theological discipline

The Colossian Hymn in Context 2007

the suggestion that the new testament contains citations of early christological hymns has long been a controversial issue in new testament scholarship as a way of advancing this facet of new testament research Matthew E. Gordley examines the colossian hymn col 1:15-20 in light of its cultural and epistolary contexts as a result of a broad comparative analysis he claims that col 1:15-20 is a citation of a prose hymn which represents a fusion of jewish and greco-roman conventions for praising an exalted figure a review of hymns in the literature of second temple judaism demonstrates that the colossian hymn owes a number of features to jewish modes of praise likewise a review of hymns in the broader greco-roman world demonstrates that the colossian hymn is equally indebted to conventions used for praising the divine in the greco-roman tradition in light of these hymnic traditions of antiquity the analysis of the form and content of the colossian hymn shows how the passage fits well into a greco-roman context and indicates that it is best understood as a quasi-philosophical prose hymn cited in the context of a paraenetic letter finally in view of ancient epistolary and rhetorical theory and practice an analysis of the role of the hymn in colossians suggests that the hymn serves a number of significant rhetorical functions throughout the remainder of the letter a fresh look at the history of psychology placed in its social political and cultural contexts a history of modern psychology in context presents the history of modern psychology in the richness of its many contexts the authors resist the traditional storylines of great achievements by eminent people or schools of thought that rise and fall in the wake of scientific progress instead psychology is portrayed as a network of scientific and professional practices embedded in specific temporal social political and cultural contexts the narrative is informed by three key concepts indigenization reflexivity and social constructionism and by the fascinating interplay between disciplinary psychology and everyday psychology the authors complicate the notion of who is at the center and who is at the periphery of the history of psychology by bringing in actors and events that are often overlooked in traditional accounts they also highlight how the reflexive nature of psychology a science produced both by and about humans accords history a prominent place in understanding the discipline and the theories it generates throughout the text the authors show how psychology and psychologists are embedded in cultures that indelibly shape how the discipline is defined and practiced the kind of knowledge it creates and how this knowledge is received the text also moves beyond an exclusive focus on the development of north american and european psychologies to explore the development of psychologies in other indigenous contexts especially from the mid 20th muslim women of all ages economic status educational backgrounds sexual orientations and from different parts of historically muslim countries suffer the kinds of atrocities that violate common understandings of human rights and are normally denounced as criminal or pathological yet these actions are sustained because they uphold some religious doctrine or some custom blessed by local traditions ironically while instances of abuse meted out to women and even female children are routine scholarship about muslim women in the post 9 11 era has rarely focused attention on them preferring to speak of women s agency and resistance too few scholars are willing to tell the complicated and at times harrowing stories of muslim women s lives women and islam myths apologies and the limits of feminist critique radically rethinks the celebratory discourse constructed around muslim women s resistance it shows instead the limits of such resistance and the restricted agency given women within islamic societies the book does not center on a single historical period rather it is organized as a response to five questions that have been central to upholding the resistance discourse what is the impact of the myth of al andalus on a feminist critique what is the feminist utility of edward said s theory of orientalism is islam compatible with a feminist agenda to what extent can islamic institutions such as the veil be liberating for women will the current arab uprisings yield significant change for muslim women through examination of these core questions bouachrine calls for a shift in the paradigm of discourse about feminism in the muslim world
