a class wikipedia Jan 30 2023 class is a blueprint for creating objects. A class defines the attributes and methods that the objects of the class will have. In Python, a class is a user-defined data structure that holds shared attributes and methods. It is a logical grouping of variables and methods. The class acts as a template for creating objects. For example, a class can be defined for a car with attributes like color, wheels, and engine, and methods like start, stop, and accelerate. When an object is created from the class, it inherits the attributes and methods defined in the class.
