The Articulatory Basis of Locality in Phonology 2008-06-01 informed western understanding of imperial japan still often conjures up images of militarism blind devotion to leaders and fanatical pride in the country but as imperial japan and defeat in the second world war reveals western imagination is often reductive in its explanation of the japanese empire and its collapse in his analysis of the emperor imperial japanese army and navy during the second world war peter wetzler examines the disconnect between nation and state during wartime japan and in doing so offers a much needed nuanced and sensitive corrective to existing western scholarship rooted in the perspective of the japanese wetzler makes available to readers vital primary and secondary japanese archival sources most notably this book provides the first english assessment of the recently released actual record of the showa emperor this book is an important advance in english language studies of the second world war in asia and is thus essential reading for all those wishing to understand this crucial period in japanese history

From Seed to Fruit (Revised and Enlarged Second Edition) 1998 the relationship between civil society and the armed forces is an essential part of any polity democratic or otherwise because a military force is after all a universal feature of social systems despite significant progress moving towards democracy among some african countries in the past decade all too many african militaries have yet to accept core democratic principles regulating civilian authority over the military this book explores the theory of civil military relations and moves on to review the intrusion of the armed forces in african politics by looking first into the organization and role of the army in pre colonial and colonial eras before examining contemporary armies and their impact on society furthermore it revisits the various explanations of military takeovers in africa and disentangles the notion of the military as the modernizing force whether as a revolutionary force as a stabilizing force or as a modernizing force the military has often been perceived as the only organized and disciplined group with the necessary skills to uplift newly independent nations the performance of africa s military governments since independence however has soundly disproven this thesis as such this study conveys the necessity of new civil military relations in africa and calls not just for civilian control of the military but rather a democratic oversight of the security forces in africa
