the basis for the new documentary film mountain a breathtaking voyage into the extreme combining accounts of legendary mountain ascents with vivid descriptions of his own forays into wild high landscapes robert mcfarlane reveals how the mystery of the world s highest places has come to grip the western imagination and perennially draws legions of adventurers up the most perilous slopes his story begins three centuries ago when mountains were feared as the forbidding abodes of dragons and other mysterious beasts in the mid 1700s the attentions of both science and poetry sparked a passion for mountains jean jacques rousseau and lord byron extolled the sublime experiences to be had on high and by 1924 the death on mt everest of an englishman named george mallory came to symbolize the heroic ideals of his day macfarlane also reflects on fear risk and the shattering beauty of ice and snow the competition and contemplation of the climb and the strange alternate reality of high altitude magically enveloping us in the allure of mountains at every level

The Wild Places

are there any genuinely wild places left in britain and ireland or have we tarmacked farmed and built ourselves out of wildness in his vital bewitching inspiring classic robert macfarlane sets out in search of the wildness that remains

Mountains of the Mind

in mountains of the mind robert macfarlane blends cultural history meditation and memoir to show how early geologists helped transform our perceptions of the wild chaotic landscapes how the allure of height increasingly drew fearless climbers culminating in the romantic figure of george mallory the passionate englishman who died on mount everest in 1924 and how the elemental beauty of snow and ice coalesced into an aesthetic of the sublime book jacket title summary field provided by blackwell north america inc all rights reserved this book is available as open access through the bloomsbury open access programme and is available on bloomsburycollections.com in the last decade there has been a proliferation of landscape writing in Britain and Ireland often referred to as the new nature writing rooted in the work of an older generation of environment focused authors and activists this new form is both stylistically innovative and mindful of ecology and conservation practice the new nature writing rethinking the literature of place connects these two generations to show that the contemporary energy around the cultures of landscape and place is the outcome of a long standing relationship between environmentalism and the arts drawing on original interviews with authors archival research and scholarly work in the fields of literary geographies ecocriticism and archipelagic criticism the book covers the work of such writers as Robert Macfarlane Richard Mabey Tim Robinson and Alice Oswald examining the ways in which these authors have engaged with a wide range of different environments from the edgelands to island spaces Jos Smith reveals how they recreate a resourceful and dynamic sense of localism in rebellion against the homogenising growth of clone town Britain
