Use this book to help students simplify the process. Lessons will engage students and guide them to read a text critically in order to build comprehension. Strategies, including the Guided Highlighted Reading Framework, are provided for meaningful discussions on a variety of text structures. High Attention Reading offers a new way to get students of all reading levels to independently read informational texts with more effort, attention, and stamina. Hale argues that increasing the number of informational texts children read is important but not enough to achieve this goal. In order to prepare students for the reading demands of high school, it is essential that we provide strategic scaffolding for the habits of mind required to read this genre at a high level and the motivation to do so. The author introduces elementary and middle school teachers to a format called Hart: High Attention Reading through Talking that uses purposeful, intermittent student talk to heighten engagement and accountability during independent reading. The book includes easy-to-implement lessons to get started with Hart, as well as discussions about the relationships among motivation, engagement, and content area reading. Chapters describe how Hart scaffolds and supports student ownership of background knowledge, content vocabulary, and critical thinking about texts. Teachers will learn how to create conditions that foster motivation and engagement with informational text while also creating authentic accountability to help students read to their potential. Book features an approach to independent reading that can be incorporated into any reading curriculum, from reading workshop to more structured comprehensive programs. Practical information for how to impact a difficult-to-reach aspect of reading: the internal effort students make while reading complex text independently. Strategies for building students
