he is done the earth is parched and the other animals are thirsty wise old wombat suggests that the animals try to make the biggest frog laugh so the water will spill out of his mouth but the frog barely hears kookaburra s best jokes and yawns at kangaroo s acrobatics koala waddles ridiculously but still no luck what will make the frog laugh and bring life back to australia find out in this colorful retelling of a classic australian folktale in review the amount of information available on the morphological and functional properties of the frog nervous system is very extensive indeed and in certain areas is the only available source of information in vertebrates further more much of the now classical knowledge in neurobiology was originally ob tained and elaborated in depth in this vertebrate to cite only a few examples studies of nerve conduction neuromuscular transmission neuronal integration sense organs development and locomotion have been developed with great detail in the frog and in conjunction provide the most complete holistic descrip tion of any nervous system added to the above considerations the ease with which these animals may be maintained both as adults and during development and the advantage of their lower cost as compared with other vertebrate forms make the frog one of the most important laboratory animals in neurobiology with these thoughts in mind we decided to compile this volume our goal in doing so was to assemble as much as possible of the information available on frog neurobiology and to have the different topics covered by authorities in each of the fields represented to keep the handbook restricted to one volume we found it necessary to omit the large field of amphibian muscle neurobiology which has already been summarized in various other publications the activities in this book are designed to teach strategies for solving word problems your students will use funtastic frogs to act out word problems that involve addition and subtraction they will use the four step problem solving process and these strategies look for a pattern make or use a picture make a table make an organized list and use logical thinking your students create a project for the crafter that would be easy enough to complete in a minimum amount of time and yet leave them with an art piece only lacking of their individual touches these stencils can be
