water rhetoric and social justice a critical confluence examines how individuals and communities have responded on a global scale to present day water crises as matters of social justice through oratory mass demonstration deliberation testimony and other rhetorical appeals this book applies critical communication methods and perspectives to interrogate the pressing yet mind boggling dilemma currently faced in environmental studies and policy that clean water the very stuff of life which flows freely from the tap in affluent areas is also denied to huge populations materially and fluidly exemplifying the currents of justice liberty and equity contributors highlight discourse and water justice movements in nonofficial spheres from activists artists and the grassroots in extending the technical economic moral and political conversations on water justice this collection applies special focus on the novel rhetorical concepts and responses not necessarily unique to but especially enacted in water justice situations scholars of rhetoric sociology activism communication and environmental studies will find this book particularly useful the san juan county sheriff bill cassidy always seemed to have his chest puffed out alexandra guessed maybe he was afraid the citizenry might fail to notice the huge badge he began blusteringly that it was no secret to him that jareds father often over imbibed level gray eyes met his and a soft but commanding voice spoke up okay enough irrelevant gossip are you working on finding out who trespassed on my property broke into one of my buildings and made off with a small fortune in dynamite and blasting caps doug sent up a silent cheer for her he agreed that the mine foreman might have a drinking problem that should be addressed but he felt like it had no bearing on the theft and that cassidy wanted to pin blame quickly and get back to the local coffee shop where he hung out an elected official more than a real lawman and doug wasnt the only guy she shot down still she should get a perception that having friends never hurt not surprisingly cassidy bowed up in response now listen here sister you aint one of the locals
