in molti avvertiamo l'esigenza di ripensare la bioetica a partire da alcune verità sulla condizione umana che l'esperienza della pandemia ha reso tangibili la vulnerabilità la consapevolezza di dipendere gli uni dagli altri l'incertezza tra tutte è la vulnerabilità l'idea trainante che reca in sé un'istanza di rinnovamento il testo propone un'analisi critica della sua presenza in bioetica esamina la possibilità di una teoria che ne distingua le forme ricerca infine la connessione tra vulnerabilità e cura attraverso una rilettura dei saggi che Warren Reich ha dedicato tra la fine degli anni 80 e gli inizi del 2000 all'intreccio dei due temi e alla proposta di un nuovo paradigma di cura la parte centrale del testo rilancia la proposta chiarendone l'impianto teorico traccia i lineamenti di una bioetica della cura insistendo sulla sua doppia origine l'etica della cura e una riflessione sulla condizione umana che muove dal concetto heideggeriano di cura e dalle filosofie di Lévinas e Jonas da tali premesse teoriche derivano i fondamenti e il metodo di questa bioetica che esamina i problemi a partire dalle relazioni senza rinunciare a proporre principi che orientino le relazioni di cura e virtù che ne consentano una buona pratica l'intento è promuovere una bioetica che nelle diverse sedi in cui opera sia sempre di più una bioetica della prossimità

the main focus of this book is the ancient formation and development of the canons of greek historiography it takes a fresh look on the modern debate on canonical literature and deals with greek historiographical traditions in the works of ancient rhetors and literary critics writings on historiography by cicero quintilian and dionysius of halicarnassus are chiefly taken into account to explore the canons of greek historians in hellenistic and roman imperial ages essential in canon formation was the concept of classicism which took shape in the age of augustus but whose earlier developments can be traced back to isocrates a model rhetor according to dionysius at the end of the 1st century bc the analysis explores also late antique authors of school treatises and progymnasmata a field where historiography had a pedagogical function previous studies on canonical literature have rarely considered historiography this book examines not only the works of ancient historians and their legacy but also the relationship between historiography literary criticism and the rhetorical tradition

Êamongst the apparent enigmas of life amongst the seemingly most radical and abiding of interior antinomies and conflicts experienced by the human race and by individuals there is one which everything tends to make us feel and see with an ever increasing keenness and clearness more and more we want a strong and interior a lasting yet voluntary bond of union between our own successive states of mind and between what is abiding in ourselves and what is permanent within our fellow men and more and more we seem to see that mere reasoning logic abstraction Ñall that appears as the necessary instrument and expression of the universal and abiding Ñdoes not move or win the will either in ourselves or in others and that what does thus move and win it is instinct intuition feeling the concrete and contingent all that seems to be of its very nature individual and evanescent reasoning appears but capable at best of co ordinating unifying explaining the material furnished to it by experience of all kinds at worst of explaining it away at best of stimulating the purveyance of a fresh supply of such experience at worst of stopping such purveyance as much as may be and yet the reasoning would appear to be the transferable part in the process but not to move and the experience alone to have the moving power but not to be transmissible experience indeed and its resultant feeling are always in the first instance coloured and conditioned by every kind of individual many sided circumstances of time and place of race and age and sex of education and temperament of antecedent and environment and it is this very particular combination just this one so conditioned and combined coming upon me just at this moment and on this spot just at this stage of my reach or growth at this turning of my way that carries with it this particular power to touch or startle to stimulate or convince it is just precisely through the but imperfectly analyzable indeed but dimly perceived individual connotation of general terms it is by the fringe of feeling woven out of the past doings and impressions workings and circumstances physical mental moral of my race and family and of my own individual life it is by the apparently slight apparently far away accompaniment of a perfectly individual music to the spoken or sung text of the common speech of man that i am it would seem really moved and won and this fringe of feeling this impression is strictly speaking not merely untransferable but also unrepeatable it is unique even for the same mind it never was before it never will be again heraclitus if we understand that old physicist in our own modern deeply subjective largely sentimental way would appear to be exactly right you cannot twice step into the same stream since never for two moments do the waters remain identical you yourself cannot twice step the same man into the same river for you have meanwhile changed as truly as itself has done all things and states outward and inward appear indeed in flux only each moment seems to bring to each individual for that one moment his power to move and to convince the intellectual societies known as academies played a vital role in the development of culture and scholarly debate throughout Italy between 1525-1700. They were fundamental in establishing the intellectual networks later defined as the république des lettres and in the dissemination of ideas in early modern Europe through print, manuscript, oral debate, and performance. This volume surveys the social and cultural role of academies, challenging received ideas and incorporating recent archival findings on individuals, networks, and texts ranging over academies in both major and smaller or peripheral centres. These collected studies explore the interrelationships of academies with other cultural forums. Individual essays examine the fluid nature of academies and their changing relationships to the political authorities, their role in the promotion of literature, the visual arts, and theatre, and the diverse membership recorded for many academies, which included scientists, writers, printers, artists, political and religious thinkers, and unusually, a number of talented women. Contributions by established international scholars, together with studies by younger scholars active in this developing field of research, map out new perspectives on the dynamic place of the academies in early modern Italy. The publication results from the research collaboration of the Italian Academies 1525-1700, the first intellectual networks of early modern Europe, funded by the Arts and Humanities Research Council and edited by the senior investigators.

The Neu Med project is part of the Horizon 2020 programme in the ERC Advanced Project category. It began in October 2015 and the University of Siena is the host institution of the project. The project is focussed upon two Tuscan riverine corridors leading from the Gulf of Follonica in the Tyrrhenian Sea to the Colline Metallifere. It aims to document and analyze the form and timeframe of economic growth in this part of the Mediterranean which took place between the 7th and the 12th centuries. Central to this is an understanding of the processes of change in human settlements in the natural and farming landscapes in relation to the exploitation of resources and in the implementation of differing political strategies. This volume presents the multi-disciplinary research focussed upon the key site of the project, Vetricella, and its territory. Vetricella is thought to be the site of Valli, a royal property in the Tuscan March. It is the only early medieval property to be extensively studied in Italy.

located on Italy's Tyrrhenian coast the archaeology and history of this site provide new insights on estate management metal production and wider Mediterranean relations in the later first millennium apart from reports on the archaeology the finds from excavations and environmental studies three essays consider the wider European historical and archaeological context of Vetricella future monographs will feature studies by members of the project team on aspects of Vetricella its finds and territory il convegno nasce come espressione della volontà della soprintendenza speciale archeologica beni artistici e del paesaggio di roma condivisa con questa azienda di ampliare le conoscenze sugli ipogei che insistono al di sotto dei nostri presidi ospedalieri in relazione e in analogia a quanto già condotto in precedenza presso l'area di insediamento della basilica costantiniana intitolata al santissimo salvatore e le aree adiacenti sulle quali vennero edificate tutte le altre strutture a compimento del patriarcato sin dal iv sec d c la sopra citata volontà si è concretizzata con una apposita convenzione sottoscritta nel febbraio del 2018 che ha ritenuto di coinvolgere studiosi appartenenti a prestigiose università italiane ed internazionali i cui attori principali erano quelli che fino ad allora avevano già dato il loro massimo contributo di alto valore scientifico sia sull'area lateranense sia nell'area di competenza dell'antico ospedale. The conference came about as the expression of the desire of the Soprintendenza Speciale Archeologica Beni Artistici e del Paesaggio for Rome to expand knowledge of the underground remains that stand below our hospital buildings in relation to and in analogy with the work already done in the past near the area where the Constantinian Basilica stood which was dedicated to the most holy saviour and the adjacent areas on which were built all the other structures to complete the Patriarchio ever since the 4th century. Ad this aforementioned desire took concrete shape with a special agreement signed up to in February 2018 which set out to involve academics from prestigious universities in Italy and abroad. The main players in this agreement were the same ones who up until that time had already made their biggest contribution of high scientific value both in the Lateran area and in the area pertaining to the ancient hospital itself.

The novella was an important medieval and Renaissance prose narrative form that developed out of exempla and didactic literature and contributed to modern narrative forms. This is the first collection of essays dedicated to comprehensive scholarship on the Italian novella. The essays range from work on the Decameron, the epitome of the genre, to studies of sixteenth-century authors who often utilized transgressive or sexual themes in their novellas.
