keepers only from new york times bestselling author heather graham at the core of new orleans lie the otherworldly vampires and shape shifters that hide in plain sight among mankind as one of the keepers an elite group possessing superior skill and strength fiona macdonald's duty is to maintain peace in a place where one vampire's bite could ignite war when detective jagger defarge a vampire is called in at the discovery of a body drained of blood both the detective and fiona must join uneasy forces jagger will stop at nothing to find the murderer including working with the sensual and suspicious fiona as more die it becomes clear that this isn't the work of an ordinary vampire no one is safe so when the killer's attention turns to fiona will jagger risk destroying his own species to protect the woman he so passionately desires originally published in 2010 sexy shifter passion is awakened when two unlikely lovers are challenged by secrets danger and an unstoppable need to claim one's mate for human amy francis the secluded cabin in deep creek is the haven she needs to map out a fresh new start she never expected her heart to be reawakened by a distraction like griff martin commanding yet gentle too ferociously sensual to ignore it's clear that patrolling the forest is more than a job to griff it's a means of survival but what amy doesn't realize is she's reawakened the beast within him griff's dormant hunger is stirred by this intoxicating woman and threatened by the secret she must never learn duty bound to defend his bear clan against an avenging pride of lion shifters griff's entire world is upended when he meets amy his animal need to claim his mate has taken hold but that very desire could seal her fate as an unwitting pawn in battle now as a shifter war looms griff must decide between letting amy go or following his most carnal instincts to have her would change his life but risk everything he knows and was born to protect book one of the shifter wars series originally published in 2015 from the bears birth inside a cozy den to their growth and learning the early life of a grizzly bear is laid out in easy to understand text bright colorful images and qr codes throughout assist in learning about bear's eating and social habits physical characteristics and habitat cody koala is an imprint of pop a division of abdo aligned to common core standards correlated to state standards it was a familiar sight at yellowstone national park traffic backed up for miles as visitors fed bears from their cars it may have been against the rules but park officials were willing to turn a blind eye if it kept the public happy but bear feeding eventually became too widespread and dangerous to everyone including the bears for the national park service nps to allow it any longer as one of the park's most beloved and enduring symbols the yellowstone bears have long been a flashpoint for controversy alice wondrak biel traces the evolution of their complex relationship with humans from the creation of the first staged wildlife viewing areas to the present and situates that relationship within the broader context of american cultural history early on park bears were largely thought of as performers or surrogate pets and were routinely fed handouts from cars as well as hotel garbage dumped at park sanctioned lunch counters for bears but as these activities led to ever greater numbers of tourist injuries and of bears killed as a result and as ideas about conservation and the nps mission changed the agency refashioned the bear's image from cute circus performer to dangerous wild animal and eventually to keystone inhabitant of a fragile ecosystem drawing on the history of recorded interactions with bears and providing telling photographs depicting the evolving bear human relationship biel traces the reaction of park visitors to the nps's efforts from warnings by yogi bear which few tourists took seriously to the increasing promotion of key ecological issues and concerns ultimately as the rules were enforced and tourist behavior dramatically shifted the bears returned to a more natural state of existence biel's entertaining and informative account tracks this gradual renaturalization while also providing a cautionary tale about the need for careful negotiation at the complex nexus of tourists bears and all things wild bear cubs are born in a den while their mother bear is in hibernation young students will learn how bear cubs hunt for berries and climb trees to romantic suspense werebear romance fated mates true mate love love triangle friends to lovers new adult small town romance encompassing millions of hectares of globally rare coastal rainforest the great bear rainforest in coastal british columbia is home to ancient trees rich runs of salmon and abundant species the area also supports small human communities particularly first nations once slated for clearcut logging large areas were protected in 2006 by the signing of one of the world s most innovative conservation agreements this book provides a detailed account of the complex and contested process that resulted in the establishment of the gbr it also shows how environmentalists deployment of a powerful actor network saved the area from status quo industrial forestry while still respecting first nations right to economic development this handbook is currently in development with individual articles publishing online in advance of print publication at this time we cannot add information about unpublished articles in this handbook however the table of contents will continue to grow as additional articles pass through the review process and are added to the site please note that the online publication date for this handbook is the date that the first article in the title was published online on the banks of the neva near the great city of saint petersburg stands a splendid palace known as the palace grodonoff it is the property of a russian nobleman of that name as it is also his place of residence were you to drive up to the front gate of this grand palace you would see a coat of arms sculptured in granite over the entrance in this piece of sculpture the principal and most striking figure is a bear with the blade of a knife buried in his breast the haft being clutched by a human hand open the gate and enter the spacious courtyard inside on the right and left you will observe two live bears both of chestnut brown colour and each of them as big as a buffalo you cannot fail to notice them for ten chances to one they will rush towards you with fierce growls and were it not that a strong chain hinders them from reaching you you might have reason to repent having entered the courtyard of the palace grodonoff look around you in the courtyard and over the different doors that open upon it you will again see the crest of the bear sculptured in stone you will see it over the stables the coach house the granary the kitchens everywhere you may know by all this that it is the coat of arms of the baron grodonoff whose crest is a bear with a blade buried in its breast and a human hand clutching the haft you will naturally conclude that there is some history connected with this singular tableau that it is the commemoration of some deed done by a grodonoff entitling him to use the bear as his heraldic device this is quite true and if you enter the picture gallery of the palace you will there behold the deed more explicitly represented in a large oil painting hung conspicuously in the centre of the wall the scene of this painting is a forest of old trees whose grey gnarled trunks stand thickly over the ground there is only a little open space or glade in the middle and this is occupied by three figures two men and a bear the bear is between the two men or rather one of the men is prostrate upon the ground where he has been struck down by a blow from bruin s paw while the huge animal stands over him reared up on his hind quarters the other man is upon his feet apparently engaged in a desperate wrestle with the fierce brute and likely to prove the conqueror as he has already buried the blade of a large hunting knife in the animal s breast and directly over the region of its heart indeed the shaggy monster already shows signs of succumbing his paw has dropped from the shoulder of his antagonist his long tongue lolls out the blood rushes from his mouth and nostrils and it is evident that his strength is fast forsaking him and that he will soon sink lifeless upon the earth you will notice that the two men who figure in the painting are very dissimilar in appearance both are young men and both are in hunting costume but so unlike in their dress that you could not fancy they followed the same occupation he upon the ground is richly attired he wears a tunic of finest green cloth slashed with sable fur on the skirt collar and sleeves his limbs are encased in breeches of white doe skin and his boots reaching nearly to his thighs are of soft russet leather ample at the tops a belt around his waist is richly embroidered and the hilt of a short hunting sword protruding from the sheath appears chased and studded with jewels a light plumed hat lies upon the ground near his head evidently tossed off in the struggle and beside it is a boar spear that has been jerked out of his fingers as he fell the whole costume is similar to that used upon the stage when some young german or sclavonian prince is represented as hunting the wild boar in the forests of lithuania

Called by the Bear The Complete Trilogy: Northeast Kingdom Bears #1-3 2014-01-01

on the banks of the neva near the great city of saint petersburg stands a splendid palace known as the palace grodonoff it is the property of a russian nobleman of that name as it is also his place of residence were you to drive up to the front gate of this grand palace you would see a coat of arms sculptured in granite over the entrance in this piece of sculpture the principal and most striking figure is a bear with the blade of a knife buried in his breast the haft being clutched by a human hand open the gate and enter the spacious courtyard inside on the right and left you will observe two live bears both of chestnut brown colour and each of them as big as a buffalo you cannot fail to notice them for ten chances to one they will rush towards you with fierce growls and were it not that a strong chain hinders them from reaching you you might have reason to repent having entered the courtyard of the palace grodonoff look around you in the courtyard and over the different doors that open upon it you will again see the crest of the bear sculptured in stone you will see it over the stables the coach house the granary the kitchens everywhere you may know by all this that it is the coat of arms of the baron grodonoff whose crest is a bear with a blade buried in its breast and a human hand clutching the haft you will naturally conclude that there is some history connected with this singular tableau that it is the commemoration of some deed done by a grodonoff entitling him to use the bear as his heraldic device this is quite true and if you enter the picture gallery of the palace you will there behold the deed more explicitly represented in a large oil painting hung conspicuously in the centre of the wall the scene of this painting is a forest of old trees whose grey gnarled trunks stand thickly over the ground there is only a little open space or glade in the middle and this is occupied by three figures two men and a bear the bear is between the two men or rather one of the men is prostrate upon the ground where he has been struck down by a blow from a bear's paw while the huge animal stands over him reared up on his hind quarters the other man is upon his feet apparently engaged in a desperate wrestle with the fierce brute and likely to prove the conqueror as he has already buried the blade of a large hunting knife in the animal's breast and directly over the region of its heart indeed the shaggy monster already shows signs of succumbing his paw has dropped from the shoulder of his antagonist his long tongue lolls out the blood rushes from his mouth and nostrils and it is evident that his strength is fast forsaking him and that he will soon sink lifeless upon the earth you will notice that the two men who figure in the painting are very dissimilar in appearance both are young men and both are in hunting costume but so unlike in their dress that you could not fancy they followed the same occupation he upon the ground is richly attired he wears a tunic of finest green cloth slashed with sable fur on the skirt collar and sleeves his limbs are encased in breeches of white doe skin and his boots reaching nearly to his thighs are of soft russet leather ample at the tops a belt around his waist is richly embroidered and the hilt of a short hunting sword protruding from the sheath appears chased and studded with jewels a light plumed hat lies upon the ground near his head evidently tossed off in the struggle and beside it is a boar spear that has been jerked out of his fingers as he fell the whole costume is similar to that used upon the stage when some young german or sclavonian prince is represented as hunting the wild boar in the forests of lithuania
