When God Makes Himself Known 2017-06-29 the lord s commitment to make himself known throughout the nations is the overarching missionary theme of the bible and the central theological concern of exodus countering scholarly tendencies to fragment the text over theological difficulties ross blackburn contends that exodus should be read as a unified whole and that an appreciation of its missionary theme in its canonical context is of great help in dealing with the difficulties that the book poses for example how is exodus 6 3 best understood is there a tension between law and gospel or mercy and judgment how should we understand the painstaking detail of the tabernacle chapters from a careful examination of exodus this new studies in biblical theology volume demonstrates that the lord humbled pharaoh so the world would know that only god can save the lord gave israel the law so that its people might display his goodness to the nations living in a state of order and blessing the lord dealt with israel s idolatry severely yet mercifully for his goodness cannot be known if his glory is compromised in the end exodus not only sheds important light on the church s mission but also reveals what kind of god the lord is one who pursues his glory and our good ultimately realizing both as he makes himself known in christ jesus addressing key issues in biblical theology the works comprising new studies in biblical theology are creative attempts to help christians better understand their bibles the nsbt series is edited by d a carson aiming to simultaneously instruct and to edify to interact with current scholarship and to point the way ahead

Glory Revealed 2007-07 the polarization in the church today can be traced back to a more fundamental crisis in theology one which has failed to connect our mundane experiences and the mysteries of the christian faith with the person of jesus christ ecclesial discourse on the so called hot button issues of the day too often take place without considering the foundation and goal of the church and this is unfortunately due to a similar tendency in the academic theology that informs that ecclesial discourse in short much of post conciliar catholic theology is adrift floating aimlessly away from the center of the christian faith who is christ the center is jesus christ himself is a collection of essays which anchor theological reflection in jesus christ these diverse essays share a unified focal point but engage with a variety of theological subdisciplines e g dogmatic moral biblical etc areas e g christology pneumatology missiology etc and periods e g patristic medieval and modern given the different combinations of sub disciplines areas and periods theology is susceptible to fragmentation when it is not held together by some principle of unity a theology in which the person of jesus christ serves as that principle of unity is a christocentric theology together the essays illustrate not only what christocentric theology looks like but also what the consequences are when christ is dislodged from the center whether by a conspicuous silence on or by a relativization of his unique salvific mission the volume is published in honor of emeritus professor of systematic theology at boston college rev dr robert p imbelli who dedicated his teaching and writing to bringing christ back to the center of catholic theological discourse

The Center is Jesus Christ Himself 2021-04-02 when god makes himself known pulls readers into fictional characters dealing with life church work and family in situations similar to what people experience everyday at some point on this journey called life god is brought into the picture and we decide if we want to learn more about him or not if we confess that we are christians at some point we had to acknowledge that god exists none of us were born with this understanding we may be taught from an early age but at some point whether through teachings or experiences god presented himself to us in order to be a follower of someone we must first believe they are real while following the main character s transformation of acknowledging and believing in christ we have the opportunity to think of our own experiences with god regardless of religion or nationality god created all and offers his salvation to each individual the choice to accept is up to us when most people think of god they automatically think of sin and we shouldn t god is love to become a christian means we are becoming love what we do reflects who we are which in turn reflects the way we love ourselves and others we shouldn't automatically think of what we can or cannot do but who it is we want to become when god makes himself known opens us up to the endless possibilities of becoming love
