allotment or an acre you'll find a series of invitations to grow any of almost 200 fruits, nuts, herbs, spices, flowers, and vegetables to suit your space, time, and inclination. Everything is here: the tools, the techniques, the ideas, and the knowledge to enable you to realise that vision of your own kitchen garden wherever you live. There's also a dozen incredible edible gardens: a rooftop food forest, a courtyard of metre square raised beds, Charles Dowding's no-dig garden, a child's container garden, and Raymond Blanc's heritage garden at Le Manoir. Among them, their gates flung open by the gardeners to reveal their methods, ideas, and techniques, with plans, key plants, and photography to accompany them. Mark Diacono, who was head of the gardening team at Hugh Fearnley Whittingstall's River Cottage, captures the spirit of adventure and imagination of those growing food in the twenty-first century. He takes ideas from gardens around the world, including that of his own home, Otter Farm in Devon, with its unique blend of orchards, vineyards, forest gardens, edible hedges, perennial garden, and veg patch. No matter whether you have space for a collection of pots or a small farm at your disposal, the new kitchen garden will show you how to create the most incredible edible garden you can. It shows how heat, cold, water availability, rainfall patterns, length of growing season, evaporation rate, and humidity influence plant growth in Australia, from the wet sub-tropics to the temperate climate of southern Australia. Many of the earliest books, particularly those dating back to the 1900s and before, are now extremely scarce and increasingly expensive we are republishing these classic works in affordable high quality modern editions using the original text and artwork a new natural approach to gardening interpreted by the most authoritative and innovative voice in garden design how to design build and plant your garden with nature in mind
