From the Deer to the Fox 2013-09-01 between the 17th and 19th centuries the sport of hunting was transformed the principal prey changed from deer to fox and the methods of pursuit were revolutionized questioning the traditional explanation of the hunting transition namely that change in the landscape led to a decline of the deer population this book explores the terrain of northamptonshire during that time period and seeks alternative justifications arguing that the many changes that hunting underwent in england were directly related to the transformation of the hunting horse this in depth account demonstrates how the near thoroughbred horse became the mount of choice for those who hunted in the shires this book shows how quite literally the thrill of the chase drove the hunting transition

The Book of the Courtier from the Italian of Count Baldassare Castiglione 1900 the title dueling sisters refers not to the fact that they are fighting or arguing but rather reveals the differences in their point of view and the way they perceive the world around them their poetry communicates these differences raised in the same household their individual life experiences led them in different directions marieta remained in kansas carolyn moved to new york initially they shared their poems over the telephone bouncing ideas back and forth this interchange lent energy to their efforts their visions run the gamut from reflection on life to nature s beauty and grandeur to social statement they have fun with their writing

Recipes from the Heart 2018-09-17 he sat just outside the lofty doorway that opened between the bare hall and front verandah the great white columns held a wild clematis vine the leaves of which almost concealed the bricks where the plaster had fallen off presently a child came out with a violin in her hand she went up to him and laying her full cheek against his shrunken one caressed him her blue eyes that went black in an instant from the pupils swift dilation had the direct gaze of one knowing nothing of the world and never fearing to be misunderstood she was slim yet strong her waving hair that fell softly about her face was the color of sunburnt cornsilk her skin ovaling from it smooth and white like a bursting magnolia bud
