with the most frightening creatures on earth no one wants to believe because they're too terrifying and they don't like us the stay out of the woods series offers readers a uniquely different chilling and unfiltered perspective about the most bizarre dangerous and unexpected encounters with nature's most elusive creatures get it now the belief in the reality of demons and the restless dead formed a central facet of the medieval worldview whether a pestilent spreading corpse mobilised by the devil a purgatorial spirit returning to earth to ask for suffrage or a shape shifting demon intent on crushing its victims as they slept encounters with supernatural entities were often met with consternation and fear chroniclers hagiographers sermon writers satirists poets and even medical practitioners utilised the cultural text of the supernatural encounter in many different ways showcasing the multiplicity of contemporary attitudes to death disease and the afterlife in this volume stephen gordon explores the ways in which conflicting ideas about the intention and agency of supernatural entities were understood and articulated in different social and literary contexts focusing primarily on material from medieval england c 1050 1450 gordon discusses how writers such as william of malmesbury william of newburgh walter map john mirk and geoffrey chaucer utilised the belief in demons nightmares and walking corpses for pointed critical effect ultimately this monograph provides new insights into the ways in which the broad ontological category of the revenant was conceptualised in the medieval world a penetrating and sophisticated 2003 account of the relationship between china and imperial britain what is the role of the unconscious in our visceral approaches to cinema embodied encounters offers a unique collection of essays written by leading thinkers and writers in film studies with a guiding principle that embodied and material existence can and perhaps ought to also allow for the unconscious the contributors embrace work which has brought the body back into film theory and question why psychoanalysis has been excluded from more recent interrogations the chapters included here engage with jung and freud lacan and bion and klein and winnicott in their interrogations of contemporary cinema and the moving image in three parts the book presents examinations of both classic and contemporary films including black swan zero dark thirty and the dybbuk part 1 the desire the body and the unconscious part 2 psychoanalytical theories and the cinema part 3 reflections and destructions mirrors and transgressions embodied encounters is an eclectic volume which presents in one book the voices of those who work with different psychoanalytical paradigms it will be essential reading for psychoanalysts and psychotherapists scholars and students of film and culture studies and film makers the interface between the current shi ite landscape and christian thinking is of the greatest significance for the shifting political and religious dynamics of the middle east sasan tavassoli here examines iranian shi ite thinkers encounters with christian thought since the islamic revolution of 1979 and provides insight into the cultural and intellectual climate surrounding christian muslim dialogue in contemporary iran the literature on christianity in iran reveals a wide range of approaches and attitudes and tavassoli demonstrates that traditional polemics are giving way to a more descriptive and subjective understanding of christian thought he also studies muslim christian dialogue and research conducted and supported by governmental as well as non governmental organizations and offers a close examination with interviews of the work of three prominent liberal religious intellectuals abdol karim soroush mostafa malekian and mojtahed shabestari placing contemporary shi ite thought in the broad historical context of pre and post revolution iran tavassoli relates concrete religious cultural and socio political realities to the themes and orientations in the latest phase of the shi i islam christianity encounter and offers fresh insight into the dynamism of contemporary islam and the religious complexities of the muslim world with contributions from historians literary critics and geographers curious encounters uncovers a rich history of global voyaging collecting and scientific exploration in the long eighteenth century leaving behind grand narratives of discovery these essays collectively restore a degree of symmetry and contingency to our understanding of encounters between european and indigenou people to do this the essays consider diverse agents of historical change both human and inanimate commodities curiosities texts animals and specimens moved through their own global circuits of knowledge and power the voyages and collections rediscovered here do not move from a european center to a distant periphery nor do they position european authorities as the central agents of this early era of globalization long distance voyagers from greenland to the ottoman empire crossed paths with french british polynesian and spanish travelers across the world trading objects and knowledge for diverse ends the dynamic contact zones of these curious encounters include the ice floes of the arctic the sociable spaces of the tea table the hybrid material texts and objects in imperial archives and the collections belonging to key figures of the enlightenment including sir hans sloane and james petiver following the release of his best selling series bigfoot frightening encounters author tom lyons was contacted by max sanders an individual who was eager to discuss his encounter with extraterrestrial life together tom and max decided they d put the story into writing so that others could enjoy it to add to the content tom and max compiled this volume with the help of other brave folks who were kind enough to share their hair raising stories this book contains six new reports get it now using a place based approach by focusing on specific locations at critical historical moments of historical transformation places of encounter provides a unique alternative to world history anthologies or survey texts humans are comprised of a body and a soul yet most of them take care of their bodies and forget about their souls this book wakes them up the author hopes and provides them with a dose of spirituality which they may never have had before this book is written for everyone and its stories will appeal to many if not most people who will find in them beauty and universality there is one god one human family started by adam and eve one truth one heaven one hell one right and one wrong and one religion call any of these by any name it does not matter for calling a rose by any other name does not change its beauty hue aroma or anything else so is the case particularly with god whom the muslims prefer to call all h for reasons which the book explains this volume discusses the 99 attributes of all h or how muslims view their creator knowing a maker is done by knowing what he makes it discusses not only prominent figures but other beings as well jinns or genies angels demons etc it narrates interesting tales about a number of god s prophets and messengers such as noah moses abraham david solomon and jesus christ peace with them all and many many salutations the woods have fascinated outdoor enthusiasts for millennia thousands series offers readers a uniquely different chilling and unfiltered perspective about the most bizarre dangerous and unexpected encounters with nature s most elusive creatures get it now the essays on dimensions of theatre ethics at the heart of contributions to this volume demonstrate how individual academics and theatre artists have thought about the ethical implications of theatre and present the concepts and paradigms that have guided and influenced their thinking they raise relevant issues and debate these in clearly defined but not uniform ways ways that have helped them to come to terms with the issues they raise the reader may agree or disagree with individual authors or individual arguments if such agreement or disagreement supports them to form and develop their own opinions and resultant actions this book has served its purpose this volume arises from the 2007 and 2008 tapra conferences and all of its essays at one level or another reflect upon what is possible within the environment of theatre possibility is one form of ethical engagement with the boundaries of philosophy and performance and reminds us of the inherently political aspect of any ethical question so whilst the most obviously ethically oriented papers appear towards the end of the volume in a separate section let us bear in mind that throughout certain limits of representation will always be in question for any understanding of theatre this first full length treatment of the role of morality in tourism examines how the tourism encounter is also fundamentally a moral encounter drawing upon interdisciplinary perspectives leading and new authors in the field address topics that range from volunteer tourism to fertility tourism to reveal new insights into the ways tourism encounters are implicated in and contribute to broader moral reconfigurations in western and non western contexts illustrating the role of power and power relations in tourism encounters within different political economic environmental and cultural contexts the authors in this anthology analyse theoretically and empirically the implications of the privileging of some moralities at the expense of others key themes include the moral consumption of tourism experiences embodiment in tourism encounters environmental moralities as well as methodological aspects of morality in tourism research crossing disciplinary and chronological boundaries moral encounters in tourism provides a much anticipated overview of this new interdisciplinary terrain and offers possible routes for new research on the intersection of morality and tourism studies clinical encounters in sexuality makes an intervention into the fields of clinical psychoanalysis and sexuality studies in an effort to think about a range of issues relating to sexuality from a clinical psychoanalytic perspective the editors have chosen queer theory as an interlocutor for the clinical contributors because it is at the forefront of theoretical considerations of sexuality as well as being both reliant upon and suspicious of psychoanalysis as a clinical practice and discourse the book brings together a number of psychoanalytic schools of thought and clinical approaches which are sometimes at odds with one another and thus tend not to engage in dialogue about divisive theoretical concepts and matters of clinical technique the volume also stages for the first time a sustained clinical psychoanalytic engagement with queer theory the central questions we present to readers to think about are what are the discourses of sexuality underpinning psychoanalysis and how do they impact on clinical practice in what ways does sexuality get played out for and between the psychoanalytic practitioner and the patient how do social cultural and historical attitudes towards sexuality impact on the transference and countertransference consciously and unconsciously why is sexuality so wickedly funny and profoundly illuminating encounters and reflections presents a captivating and unconventional portrait of the life and works of seth benardete one of the leading scholars of ancient thought benardete here reflects on both the people he knew and the topics that fascinated him throughout his career in a series of candid freewheeling conversations with robert berman ronna burger and michael davis the first part of the book discloses vignettes about fellow students colleagues and acquaintances of benardete s who later became major figures in the academic and intellectual life of twentieth century america we glimpse the student days of allan bloom stanley rosen george steiner and we discover the life of the mind as lived by well known scholars such as david grene jacob klein and benardete s mentor leo strauss we also encounter a number of other learned devoted and sometimes eccentric luminaries including t s eliot james baldwin werner jaeger john davidson beazley and willard quine in the book s second part benardete reflects on his own intellectual growth and on his ever evolving understanding of the texts and ideas he spent a lifetime studying revisiting some of his recurrent themes among them eros and the beautiful the city and the law and the gods and the human soul benardete shares his views on thinkers such as plato homer and heidegger as well as the relations between philosophy and science and between christianity and ancient roman thought engaging and informative encounters and reflections brings benardete s thought to life to enlighten and inspire a new generation of thinkers this book offers a geographically unique cultural comparative lens to examine the issue of transnational curriculum knowledge re production prompted by the ongoing competency based curriculum reforms on a global scale this book examines where global frameworks like the oecd s core competency definitions are rooted and how they are borrowed resisted and or re contextualized in various european states with a christian foremost protestant educational cultural heritage and asian countries with a confucian educational cultural heritage it highlights the roles that various factors such as history culture religious attitudes ideology and state governance play in nation states re contextualization of global curriculum policies and practices beyond a simplistic and dualistic globalism power and nationalism resistance dynamic in doing so it provides a global context to better understand individual nation state s continuing curriculum reforms and school practices at the same time it situates individual nation state s latest curriculum reforms and practices within an international community for healthy dialogues and mutual sharing by selecting two educational cultural systems and wisdom christian protestant and confucian it also offers a springboard for international curriculum studies beyond the usual confinement of geopolitical nation state constructs it not only sheds new light on each nation state s curriculum policies and practices but also creates new collaboration spaces within similar and across disparate cultural educational regions with its wide geopolitical and educational cultural scope this book appeals to a global market and can be used in a variety of undergraduate and graduate courses in comparative education history of education curriculum theory school and society and curriculum history every day we share encounters with others as we inhabit the space around us in offering insights and knowledge on this increasingly important topic this book introduces a range of empirical and theoretical approaches to the study of shared encounters it highlights the multifaceted nature of collective experience and provides a deeper understanding of the nature and value of shared encounters in everyday life divided into four sections each section comprises a set of chapters on a different topic and is introduced by a key author in the field who provides an overview of the content the book itself is introduced by paul dourish who sets the theme of shared encounters in the context of technological and social change over the last fifteen years the four sections that follow consider the characteristics of shared encounters and describe how they can be supported in different settings the first section introduced by barry brown looks at shared experiences george roussos in the second section presents playful encounters malcolm mcculloch introduces the section on spatial settings and last but not least elizabeth churchill previews the topic of social glue the individual chapters that accompany each part offer particular perspectives on the main topic and provide detailed insights from the author s own research background a valuable reference for anyone designing ubiquitous media mobile social software and lbs applications this volume will also be useful to researchers students and practitioners in fields ranging from computer science to urban studies encounters with paul celan s poetry the other s time consists of encounters with poetry with its readers and with the other that poetry seeks to encounter what does it mean when celan insists that every real encounter every true encounter happens in memory of the poetic encounter the secret of the encounter this book presents close readings of various poems often attempting textual and intellectual dialogue with philosophers who read celan or who were read by celan such as the essays on dimensions of theatre ethics at the heart of contributions to this volume demonstrate how individual academics and theatre artists have thought about the ethical implications of theatre and present the concepts and paradigms that have guided and influenced their thinking they raise relevant issues and debate these in clearly defined but not uniform ways ways that have helped them to come to terms with the issues they raise the reader may agree or disagree with individual authors or individual arguments if such agreement or disagreement supports them to form and develop their own opinions and resultant actions this book has served its purpose this volume arises from the 2007 and 2008 tapra conferences and all of its essays at one level or another reflect upon what is possible within the environment of theatre possibility is one form of ethical engagement with the boundaries of philosophy and performance and reminds us of the inherently political aspect of any ethical question so whilst the most obviously ethically oriented papers appear towards the end of the volume in a separate section let us bear in mind that throughout certain limits of representation will always be in question for any understanding of theatre
