I Am Jesus: The Story of Jesus of Kneeland 2009-02-24 her mother was unhappy because marid used the phone a lot so she put a passcode on it to lock her out although marid couldn't call out her friends could call her she expected her mother to limit that but she didn't instead she waited to punish her until after the christmas holidays marid was talking about returning to school when her mother lowered the boom marid she said i've decided that you are going to attend a different school standing there in stunned disbelief marid's heart started breaking in half she'd lose all her close friends and her favorite teachers although she hadn't gone for more counseling sessions most of all she would lose myra stanton's protection myra had always asked how she was doing whenever she saw her in the hallways her mother had trashed myra many times to marid but she didn't believe her the way she used too marid was beginning to see that her mother was a bully and she was wrong for the way she treated her angrily she demanded why did you do this to me you want me to fail and be miserable don't you emily looked at her daughter and said really marid since when do you know what's best i know what's best better than anyone especially not that interfering bitch myra stanton tearfully marid said how could you do that why do you hate me so much icily her mother replied hate you don't flatter yourself you're nothing but a manipulative bitch you lied about me you're just like your father the same kind of liar your rein of telling lies is finished you aren't going to get away with your lies so easily in a brand new school without ms myra there to protect you are you marid just stared at her before turning away and going to her room she slammed the door shut expecting her mother to follow and hit her but she didn't care anymore she lay on her bed sobbing into her pillow for hours before she fell asleep

Finding Sanctuary 2020-06-11 my mother's stories about her brother planted the seed that would take many years to actually bear fruit lance corporal lorne andrew marr was killed in action august 27 1944 at igoville france while serving as a dispatch rider for the argyll sutherland highlanders of canada his large extended family was devastated by the news especially my mother i could see the pain and loss in her eyes every time she would talk about him and she talked a lot i grew up with a hunger to find out more about this never seen uncle the family only talked of him in hushed tones and never in front of my grandmother lorne had been born prematurely in a time when very few of these children survived it was explained to me that grandma's sheer strength of will kept him alive which needless to say forged a very special bond between the two no one knew exactly how lorne had met his fate stories had been told by returning soldiers after the war but nothing concrete in my young mind i couldn't believe that we didn't know and no one really seemed interested in finding out i told myself i would someday get to the bottom of his story and maybe even write a book little did i know what a truly monumental task i was setting for myself not insurmountable as i would find out but not easy either in what seemed like the blink of an eye i found myself in my fiftieth year and had accomplished exactly nothing in regards to this task accepted in my youth i had made many attempts but seemed to be blocked at every turn this all changed with a visit from a friend dave and i had worked together for quite a while and shared an interest in history he was planning a trip to france and knowing of my interest in my uncle asked if he could put flowers on lorne's grave for me when he was there i jumped at the chance and told him i would get right back to him with the gravesite information i knew i had it at home but couldn't wait for that i went onto a much visited website called the veteran's affairs canada virtual war memorial and accessed the information he was buried in the calais canadian war cemetery grave reference 2 b 9 i wrote it down for dave and was going to sign off when i noticed that there was a place for pictures to be downloaded onto the site i had always intended to do that but had not gotten around to it i clicked on it and to my amazement there was a picture there i knew immediately that it was not a family picture for i managed to accumulate most of those there was my uncle smiling broadly in his battle dress with his glengarry rakishly tilted to one side pictured between two young men around 8 and 10 years of age he had his arms around both of them with his ever present pipe in his left hand the older of the two boys was holding a cat there was a caption below the picture lorne marr is seen with peter hunter holding their cat and his brother in uckfield in 1944 under that it said caption was scanned with photograph photograph was found in the publication the maple leaf army in britain isbn 0 9521297 7 9 2002 a thousand questions came to mind who exactly were these two kids and how were they connected to my uncle who had posted the picture it said that the picture came from a book i immediately did a quick search on the internet and found that the book had been published only in england and was written by a gentleman named peter longstaff tyrrell i gave the information to dave and shared the picture i had found we both agreed it was a little strange and i would have to check into it a little more my wife and i got together that night and talked to a friend of hers whose daughter was going to school at oxford in england and she agreed to have her daughter purchase the book and send it to us while we waited for the book to come i pulled all of lorne's stuff out of storage i had no idea that i had accumulated so much over the years i brought myself up to date on much i had forgotten i al

PETER'S ARGYLL 1870 number one for fiendish fun get ready for a bumper edition of mayhem with this totally awesome collection of six favourite horrid henry stories spend your summer holidays with horrid henry this book contains six favourite stories plus lots of fun jokes and activity pages to keep horrid henry fans of all ages entertained for hours an irresistible introduction to reading for pleasure the perfect gift for horrid henry fans everywhere

Horrid Henry: Midsummer Madness 2011-08-31 is there a barrier that divides the dark unknown from the everyday world around us if so is it broken sometimes by the dead returning by the undead or by alien creatures what else could account for the chance meeting or was it between a young student and hitch hiker who turns out to be so much stranger than she seems why else should three successive crews flying a second world war bomber blackham s wimpey be driven to madness despair even to death though the plane returns from each mission without a scratch who are fred alice and aunty lou the figments of peter s imagination that become a real life nightmare for roger and biddy there is st austin friars too a church without a congregation until a burial service oddly arranged a month ahead is attended by a sinister assortment of the living and the dead and sergeant nice an ordinary policeman in an ordinary seaside town faced with a series of quite extraordinary thefts the work surely of no human hand chilling but often humorous as well these stories creep up on you and take you by surprise

Maud's Memoirs, Peter's Portrait, Sarah's Story 1873 paul atkinson explores the remarkable world of opera through his fieldwork with the internationally known welsh national opera company in order to show us how cultural phenomena are produced and enacted he takes us on stage and behind the scenes into the collective social action that goes into the realization of an opera the author demonstrates how artistic interpretation is translated into the routine work of the rehearsal studio and the theatre and how producers negotiate a practical reality with her or his performers to ultimately create extraordinary performances through the mundane everyday work that makes them possible the author calls for a sustained investigation of cultural phenomena not based solely on textual analysis but on the importance of collective work and social organization atkinson s work will appeal to anthropologists and sociologists who study the performance arts as well as to those engaged in theatre arts opera and music
