discusses the pros and cons of gaming the types of games and game systems circulating collections and game programs it explains how a library's video game program can and should do much more than simply draw younger users to the library providing examples of how everyone from parents to senior citizens can benefit from a patron oriented computer gaming program the appendices also include specific games programs review sources and sources for further information originally published in 1907 the woman movement is one of the greatest problems of our age and those who travel with their eyes open know that it may be studied in every book and corner of our globe this book contains chapters on girlhood in many lands the young wife thoughts on motherhood and the eventuality of widowhood this edited volume addresses the dynamics of the legal system of myanmar burma in the context of the dramatic but incomplete transition to democracy that formally began in 2011 it includes taken place within the catholic church since world war ii were the direct accomplishments of pius xii and his successors these modern popes however formed their policies and wrought these changes based on the work of four transitional popes who preceded them leo xiii 1878 1903 who re-established a direct link between the papacy and the lay communicant pius x 1903 1914 who was a conservative reactionary and benedict xv 1914 1922 and pius xi 1922 1939 who revived and extended leo's efforts to modernize the church and its policies based largely on unpublished or ephemeral materials papal elections in the age of transition recounts the stories of how these four men rose to the papal throne including previously unpublished details of the conclaves this fascinating narrative sheds new light on the rise to power of the popes who prepared the way for the catholic church at the dawn of the twenty first century organometallic chemistry belongs to the most rapidly developing area of chemistry today this is due to the fact that research dealing with the structure of compounds and chemical bonding has been greatly intensified in recent years additionally organometallic compounds have been widely utilized in catalysis organic synthesis electronics etc this book is based on my lectures concerning basic organometallic chemistry for fourth and fifth year chemistry students and on my lectures concerning advanced organometallic chemistry and homogeneous catalysis for ph d graduate students many recent developments in the area of organometallic chemistry as well as homogeneous catalysis are presented essential research results dealing with a given class of organometallic compounds are discussed briefly results of physicochemical research methods of various organometallic compounds as well as their synthesis properties structures reactivities and applications are discussed more thoroughly the selection of tabulated data is arbitrary because often it has been impossible to avoid omissions nevertheless these data can be very helpful in understanding properties of organometallic compounds and their reactivities all physical data are given in si units the interatomic distances are given in pm units in figures and tables i am indebted to professor s a duraj for translating and editing this book his remarks discussions and suggestions are greatly appreciated i also proofreading why has hawaii from the times of polynesian antiquity to the present enjoyed the highest material standard of living in oceania how did changes in the social structure of pre cook hawaii affect that standard what happened to the islands economy as western dominance took place as land ownership was created as technology was imported as plantation workers immigrated as world war ii broke the social mold of the islands these are some of the basic questions raised by thomas hitch in islands in transition the first book length economic history of hawaii to be printed in a generation the book is divided into two sections the first from the record traces the development of hawaii s economy from the moneyless sharing tribute and barter system of the native culture to a plantation economy controlled from honolulu and dominated by the big five in the second section as i saw it dr hitch describes the further development of hawaii into a high tech service economy heavily based on tourism and military expenditures increasingly involved in the multi national global economy he appraises the recent past and projects the future from the vantage point of his long career at honolulu business community first as director of research for the hawaii employers council and then as senior vice president for research at first hawaiian bank until his death in august 1989 this volume is written for the general reader but appendices address questions of particular interest to economists and business analysts these include measuring the cost of living in hawaii estimating the growth rate of the state economy and appraising its sensitivity to the national business cycle this volume surveys the production and marketing of non monastic manuscripts and printed books over 150 years in late medieval brittany through analysis of the physical aspects of breton manuscripts and books and of the prices wages and commissions associated with their manufacture diane booton exposes connections between the tangible cultural artifacts and the society that produced acquired and valued them the transition zone between africa asia and europe was the most important intersection of human mobility in the medieval period the present volume for the first time systematically covers migration histories of the regions between the mediterranean and central asia and between eastern europe and the indian ocean in the centuries from late antiquity up to the early modern era within this framework specialists from byzantine islamic medieval and african history provide detailed analyses of specific regions and groups of migrants both elites and non elites as well as voluntary and involuntary thereby also current debates of migration studies are enriched with a new dimension of deep historical time contributors are alexander beihammer lutz berger florin curta charalampos gasparis george hatke dirk hoerder johannes koder johannes preiser kapeller lucian reinfandt youval rotman yannis stouraitis panayiotis theodoropoulos and myriam wissa this case study of two rural parishes in county durham england provides an alternate view on the economic development involved in the transition from medieval to modern partly explaining england s rise to global economic dominance in the seventeenth century coal mining did not come to these parishes until the nineteenth century these are an example of agrarian expansion low population favourable seigniorial administration and a commercialised society saw the emergence of large farms on the bishopric of durham soon after the black death these secure copyhold and leasehold tenures were among the earliest known in england individualism developed within a strong parish and village community that encouraged growth while enforcing conformity tenants had freedom to farm as they wished within limits along with low rents this allowed for a swift expansion of agricultural production in the sixteenth century as population rose and then as the coal trade expanded rapidly the prosperity of these men is reflected in their lands livestock and consumer goods yet not all shared in this prosperity as the poor and landless increased in number simply by population growth through reformation and rebellion these and other parishes prospered without experiencing severe disruption or destruction in north eastern england agrarian development was an evolution and not a revolution this study shows england s economic development as a single narrative woven together from a collection of regional experiences at different times and at different speeds major account of the fourteenth century crisis which saw a series of famines revolts and epidemics transform the medieval world this book explores the efforts made by british governments irish politicians and irish cultural organisations to master and shape ireland in an age of increasingly rapid change and explain the process and outcome of these endeavours defining a historic transition means understanding how the complex system of intellectual social and material structures formed that determined the transition from a certain universe to a new universe where the old explanations were radically rethought in this book a group of historians with specializations ranging from the sixteenth to the twentieth centuries and across political religious and social fields attempt a reinterpretation of modernity as the new axial age commissioned by the english east india company to write about contemporary nineteenth century delhi mirza sangin beg walked around the city to capture its highly fascinating urban and suburban extravaganza laced with epigraphy and fascinating anecdotes the city as lived experience has an overwhelming presence in his work sair ul manazil interestingly beg made no attempt to monumentalize buildings instead he explored them as spaces reflective of the socio cultural milieu of the times delhi in transition is the first comprehensive english translation of beg s work which was originally published in persian it is the only translation to compare the four known versions of sair ul manazil including the original manuscript located in berlin which is being consulted for the first time shama mitra chenoy s exhaustive introduction and extensive notes along with the use of varied styles in the book to indicate the multiple sources of the text contextualize beg s work for the reader and engage him with the debate concerning the different variants of this unique and eclectic work how freely can salvation be offered to people how do law and grace find balance what influence does federal theology have on the overall theological enterprise how does a confessional church interact with both the civil government and other religious communions these are the questions roiling the twenty first century church these were the questions threatening to splinter the scottish church in the early eighteenth century in those earlier days of mounting theological confrontation within the scottish church ebenezzer erskine a parish minister renowned for his evangelistic zeal had a major role to play through this examination of the theology and ministry of erskine one therefore gains not only a deeper understanding of a man critically important within presbyterian history but also insight into the pressing theological disputes of the day by analysing erskine s contributions to ongoing theological discussion greater clarity is gained on the development of federal theology on the root causes of the marrow controversy and on the challenges involved as increasing religious diversity penetrated lands once dominated by national churches in these areas and more erskine serves both to illuminate an obscure era and to refine modern understandings of still controversial theological issues nicholas of cusa 1401 1464 was active during the renaissance developing adventurous ideas even while serving as a churchman the religious issues with which he engaged spiritual apocalyptic and institutional were to play out in the reformation sheds new light on how masculinity was understood lived performed and viewed during a period of huge change premodern masculinity was multivalent and dynamic a series of intersecting conflicting and mutating identities that nevertheless were distinct and recognizable to people and their societies the articles collected here examine a variety of means by which masculinity was constructed deconstructed and transformed across time geographies and cultures articles range across the twelfth to seventeenth century from western europe to the volga ural region from the christian west to the muslim east from ottomans to mongols and persians from baudri of bourgueil to blaise de monluc while topics include the chivalric hero the effeminate man beards and spurs represented variously in literature historical documents and art finally in that period of great transformation that is the sixteenth century they show how masculinity moved away from the traditional and recognizable to become something different and distinct from its premodern expressions contents i the stein ministry in historical perspective hero history and beyond ii social change and a new ideology confront prussia s old regime iii optimism springs from crisis the reform party iv bureaucratic change and accommodation of the aristocracy v government by property owners vi anchoring the foundations of a capitalist economy vii the stein reform ministry and the process of change in prussia and bibliography in medieval manuscripts in transition various scholars investigate the ways in which the study of manuscripts can contribute to interpretation or provide insight china s challenges and international order transition introduces an integrated conceptual framework of international order categorized by three levels power rules and norms and three issue areas security political and economic each contributor engages one or more of these analytical dimensions to examine two questions 1 has china already challenged this dimension of international order 2 how will china challenge this dimension of international order in the future the contested views and perspectives in this volume suggest it is too simple to assume an inevitable conflict between china and the outside world with different strategies to challenge or reform the many dimensions of international order china s role is not a one way street it is an interactive process in which the world may change china as much as china may change the world the aim of the book is to broaden the debate beyond the thucydides trap perspective currently popular in the west rather than offering a single argument this volume offers a platform for scholars especially chinese scholars vs western scholars to exchange and debate their different views and perspectives on china and the potential transition of international order specialist periodical reports provide systematic and detailed review coverage of progress in the major areas of chemical research written by experts in their specialist fields the series creates a unique service for the active research chemist supplying regular critical in depth accounts of progress in particular areas of chemistry for over 80 years the royal society of chemistry and its predecessor the chemical society have been publishing reports charting developments in chemistry which originally took the form of annual reports however by 1967 the whole spectrum of chemistry could no longer be contained within one volume and the series specialist periodical reports was born the annual reports themselves still existed but were divided into two and subsequently three volumes covering inorganic organic and physical chemistry for more general coverage of the highlights in chemistry they remain a must since that time the spr series has altered according to the fluctuating degree of activity in various fields of chemistry some titles have remained unchanged while others have altered their emphasis along with their titles some have been combined under a new name whereas others have had to be discontinued the current list of specialist periodical reports can be seen on the inside flap of this volume in addition to challenging historical critical readings in the tradition after duhm this book presents three ways of reading the text based on variations of linguistic theory one linguistic one narratological and one intertextual in these readings the trope world tackles climate change and shifts towards a low carbon energy transition the overall findings are straight forward and unsurprising although fossil fuels have powered the industrialisation of many nations and improved the lives of hundreds of millions of people another century dominated by fossil fuels would be disastrous fossil fuels and associated greenhouse gas emissions must be reduced to a level that avoids rising temperatures and rising risks in support of a just and sustainable energy transition divided into four sections and 25 contributions from global leading experts the chapters span a wide range of energy technologies and sources including fossil fuels carbon mitigation options renewables low carbon energy energy storage electric vehicles and energy sectors electricity heat and transport they cover varied legal jurisdictions and multiple governance approaches encompassing multi and inter disciplinary technological environmental social economic political Transition Elements—Advances in Research and Application: 2012 Edition 2012-12-26 the chronicler distinguishes between traditional prophets and inspired messengers and thereby highlights a radical transition in the meaning of the word of god which takes place in the post exilic period the chronicler summarizes his perspective in 2 chron 36 16 saying that israel rejected his prophets the messengers of god and his word i e torah this distinction is reflected in the forms and functions of prophetic speech in the books of chronicles thus the prophets speak to the king and the inspired messengers e.g. priests levites speak to the people the prophets interpret narrative events for the king they explain how god acts the inspired messengers exhort the people admonishing them how they should act the prophets speeches usually do not use any kind of inspiration formula but the inspired messengers speeches are prefaced with possession formulas these possession formulas are not typical of classical prophecy and mark the rise of a new kind of prophecy namely the inspired interpretation of texts these inspired messengers are thus forerunners of the inspired interpreters of scripture in qumran early christianity and judaism
