minimise ambiguities in the subject matter the ongoing effort to develop guidelines is shaping the future towards the creation of a body of knowledge for the management of engineered physical assets increasingly industry practitioners are looking for strategies and tactics that can be applied to enhance the value creating capacities of new and installed asset systems the new knowledge based economy paradigm provides imperatives to combine various disciplines knowledge areas and skills for effective engineering asset management this volume comprises selected papers from the 1st 2nd and 3rd world congresses on engineering asset management which were convened under the auspices of iseam in collaboration with a number of organisations including cieam australia asset management council australia bindt uk and chinese academy of sciences beijing university of chemical technology china definitions concepts and scope of engineering asset management will be of interest to researchers in engineering innovation and technology management as well as to managers planners and policy makers in both industry and government soil organic matter is a reservoir for plant nutrients provides water holding capacity stabilizes soil structure against compaction and erosion and thus determines soil productivity all agriculture to some degree depends on soil organic matter it has long been known that soil organic matter declines when land is taken into cultivation and that the productivity of new agricultural land is governed by fertility contributions from decomposing natural organic matter the expansion of agriculture to ever new and more fragile lands particularly in tropical and developing regions causes environmental degradation with local effects on soil quality regional effects on landscape integrity and water quality and global effects on carbon cycles and the atmosphere this book summarizes current knowledge of the properties and dynamics of soil organic matter in the tropics its role in determining soil quality its stability and turnover and the options for management in the context of tropical landuse systems for a readership of resource scientists economists and advanced students maintenance of organic matter is critical for preventing land degradation case studies and practical applications are therefore an important part of the book as are the exploration of future directions in research and management special children s outreach and prehospital education scope is a program designed to help ems providers care for children with special health care needs scope is divided into 3 sections diseases conditions special technologies and advanced practices although the epidemiology of mental illnesses is innately complex there have been many strides in the diagnosis and treatment of chronic mental illnesses as more research is being conducted in the field as more information becomes available mental health professionals are able to develop more effective plans for caring for their patients chronic mental illness and the changing scope of intervention strategies diagnosis and treatment examines emergent research on the identification and epidemiology of various mental illnesses featuring information on the prevalence of the disease psychopharmacological advancements and strategies for the management of chronic mental illnesses this book is ideally suited for students psychiatrists psychologists neurologists social workers rehabilitation therapists and other health professionals interested in learning more about shifting practices in the mental health sector in surgeons and the scope james r zetka jr describes the impact of the video laparoscope on the work lives of contemporary surgeons the video laparoscope allows surgeons to peer into the inner abdomen with a miniaturized camera thereby enabling them to perform complex operations without large incisions through small ports punched into the abdominal wall this technological innovation revolutionized surgery as we know it zetka blends rich interview and archival data into a compelling account of an important technological development he shows how the new laparoscopic technology challenged surgeons to rethink their approaches to surgery to relearn basic hand eye coordination to master complex machinery and to shift from individualistic to team based work strategies zetka then explains how and why general surgeons embraced this disruptive technology by examining the breakdown of the division of labor between general surgeons and gastroenterologists in response to the unintended and

unanticipated outcomes of the scope technology in surgeons and the scope zetka weaves cultural structural and political economic developments into a sophisticated account of technological change by viewing the advent of laparoscopic surgery within the context of the history culture and ideology of medicine zetka provides a deeper understanding of the politics of technology particularly its effects on job skills occupations and worker control an important amount of research effort in psychology and neuroscience over the past decades has focused on the problem of social cognition this problem is understood as how we figure out other minds relying only on indirect manifestations of other people s intentional states which are assumed to be hidden private and internal research on this question has mostly investigated how individual cognitive mechanisms achieve this task a shift in the internalist assumptions regarding intentional states has expanded the research focus with hypotheses that explore the role of interactive phenomena and interpersonal histories and their implications for understanding individual cognitive processes this interactive expansion of the conceptual and methodological toolkit for investigating social cognition we now propose can be followed by an expansion into wider and deeply related research questions beyond but including that of social cognition narrowly construed our social lives are populated by different kinds of cognitive and affective phenomena that are related to but not exhausted by the question of how we figure out other minds these phenomena include acting and perceiving together verbal and non verbal engagement experiences of dis connection management of relations in a group joint meaning making intimacy trust conflict negotiation asymmetric relations material mediation of social interaction collective action contextual engagement with socio cultural norms structures and roles etc these phenomena are often characterized by a strong participation by the cognitive agent in contrast with the spectatorial stance typical of social cognition research we use the broader notion of embodied intersubjectivity to refer to this wider set of phenomena this research topic aims to investigate relations between these different issues to help lay strong foundations for a science of intersubjectivity the social mind writ large to contribute to this goal we encouraged contributions in psychology neuroscience psychopathology philosophy and cognitive science that address this wider scope of intersubjectivity by extending the range of explanatory factors from purely individual to interactive from observational to participatory in surgeons and the scope james r zetka jr describes the impact of the video laparoscope on the work lives of contemporary surgeons the video laparoscope allows surgeons to peer into the inner abdomen with a miniaturized camera thereby enabling them to perform complex operations without large incisions through small ports punched into the abdominal wall this technological innovation revolutionized surgery as we know it zetka blends rich interview and archival data into a compelling account of an important technological development he shows how the new laparoscopic technology challenged surgeons to rethink their approaches to surgery to relearn basic hand eye coordination to master complex machinery and to shift from individualistic to team based work strategies zetka then explains how and why general surgeons embraced this disruptive technology by examining the breakdown of the division of labor between general surgeons and gastroenterologists in response to the unintended and unanticipated outcomes of the scope technology in surgeons and the scope zetka weaves cultural structural and political economic developments into a sophisticated account of technological change by viewing the advent of laparoscopic surgery within the context of the history culture and ideology of medicine zetka provides a deeper understanding of the politics of technology particularly its effects on job skills occupations and worker control an important amount of research effort in psychology and neuroscience over the past decades has focused on the problem of social cognition this problem is understood as how we figure out other minds relying only on indirect manifestations of other people s intentional states which are assumed to be hidden private and internal research on this question has mostly investigated how individual cognitive mechanisms achieve this task a shift in the internalist assumptions regarding intentional states has expanded the research focus with hypotheses that explore the role of interactive phenomena and interpersonal histories and their implications for understanding individual cognitive processes this interactive expansion of the conceptual and methodological toolkit for investigating social cognition we now propose can be followed by an expansion into wider and deeply related research questions beyond but including that of social cognition narrowly construed our social lives are populated by different kinds of cognitive and affective phenomena that are related to but not exhausted by the question of how we figure out other minds these phenomena include acting and perceiving together verbal and non verbal engagement experiences of dis connection management of relations in a group joint meaning making intimacy trust conflict negotiation asymmetric relations material mediation of social interaction collective action contextual engagement with socio cultural norms structures and roles etc these phenomena are often characterized by a strong participation by the cognitive agent in contrast with the spectatorial stance typical of social cognition research we use the broader notion of embodied intersubjectivity to refer to this wider set of phenomena this research topic aims to investigate relations between these different issues to help lay strong foundations for a science of intersubjectivity the social mind writ large to contribute to this goal we encouraged contributions in psychology neuroscience psychopathology philosophy and cognitive science that address this wider scope of intersubjectivity by extending the range of explanatory factors from purely individual to interactive from observational to participatory
