lu samadhi the blue lotus philosophia perennis and the mood and the lotus are a series of four books about inner science about the remembrance rediscovery of the self through meditation they are about the realization of your soul and how this realization can change your life completely when you live your life in your mind you live in a horizontal plane when you live your life through your soul there is a quantum leap from the horizontal to the vertical plane this timeless vertical plane is the dimension of the soul where past present and future cease to exist through these four books you will learn one of the most sophisticated methodologies for understanding the 7 strata of organic unity the astral bodies the first one is the physical body which moves forward through time the etheric body which is your emotional layer moves through space the astral body which is your unconscious can travel backwards in time all the way to your birth the mental body has a horizontal dimension and can pierce past the future one at a time the spiritual body has a vertical dimension and can pierce backwards up to empty consciousness the cosmic body also in the vertical dimension is the body where you are essentially diffused annihilated and become one with the cosmos the seventh and last body the nirvanic body is an incorporeal state where you are essentially intrinsic to the empty consciousness immortal eternal these four books will allow you to discover the essential immortality of your soul the methodology of inner science contained in them will help you in the evolution of your organic unity the amazing garden of blue lotus surviving the darkest times of tibetan history in the midst of extreme religious persecution he lived the life of a practitioner whose spiritual realizations were reflected through his actions forbearing every hardship and torture with equanimity he was a physician by virtue who cured hundreds but with meagre substances that one might refuse ghastly if it were in today s time besides being a lama that sees beyond time and across dimensions he was the vajramaster who trained twenty six classes of six union vajra practitioners each of whom assumed a greater role in the spread of the dharma than the other gyala pema namgyal s life will fascinate any reader by the means he worked for the welfare of countless beings the land of golok was indeed fortunate to have been the womb for this noble master at that turbulent time as a novice translator a lazy one at that i found only joy and a rush of blessings in the mornings as i began the attempt to make his life reachable for the english readers because there were no shortages of miracles in the life of this benevolent teacher i hope he will continue to inspire more lives as much as he did while he lived many of us move from childhood to adulthood without much thought of how the events of our childhood impact our lives today some memories are happy others sad or traumatic some we remember childhood play days the earthy smell of rain after a dry spell and the feeling a new mother gets when she holds her baby others we wish to or choose to forget thick black smoke from riots feelings of fear because of death threats and the uncertainty of life in another country in this very personal diary sandra through a first person reflexive narrative shares some of her memories of growing up in a politically charged time of guyana s fight for independence in the 1960s her immigration to canada for an arranged marriage at the age of 16 her life as a journey person hairstylist and her scholarly trajectory toward a doctoral degree she shares her growing awareness of some of the issues that affected and impacted her life issues such as racism gender democracy freedom class struggles privileges unequal power relations resistance to colonial politics and ultimately her own complicity in and efforts to challenge the normative discourse of the dominant ideology watercolor blue lotus desk set would you like to keep track of your daily accomplishments and goals with this journal you can write a few lines every morning or evening come back next year on the same day to write a few lines and look back to see how your life looked on that day in the last few years you can use this journal to record your goals and she uprooted handfuls of purple fragrant little flowers from the earth plucked iridescent seashells from the beach and dug for turquoise stones in her backyard as a teenager she applied glittery shimmer to her eyelids after religiously dabbing on her signature scent of orange blossoms and jasmine and as an adult she coveted gleaming marble countertops and delicate porcelain to beautify her home this obsession with beauty led her to become a home garden and design writer where she studied how beautiful things are mined grown made and enhanced in researching these objects kelleher concluded that most of us are blind to the true cost of our desires because whenever you find something unbearably beautiful look closer and you ll inevitably find a shadow of decay lurking underneath in these dazzling and deeply researched essays katy kelleher blends science history and memoir to uncover the dark underbellies of our favorite goods she reveals the crushed beetle shells in our lipstick the musk of rodents in our perfume and the burnt cow bones baked into our dishware she untangles the secret history of silk and muses on her problematic prom dress she tells the story of countless workers dying in their efforts to bring us shiny rocks from unsafe mines that shatter and wound the earth all because a diamond company created a compelling ad she examines the enduring appeal of the beautiful dead girl and the sad fate of the ugly mollusk with prose as stunning as the objects she describes kelleher invites readers to examine their own relationships with the beautiful objects that adorn their body and grace their homes and yet kelleher argues that while we have a moral imperative to understand our relationship to desire we are not evil or weak for desiring beauty the ugly history of beautiful things opens our eyes to beauty that surrounds us helps us understand how that beauty came to be what price was paid and by whom and how we can most ethically partake in the beauty of the world
