J.A. Berly's Universal Electrical Directory and Advertiser 1891 reading this book is like taking a ride on a marvellously exhilarating time machine alive with colour surprise and sheer merriment jan morris elizabethan london reveals the practical details of everyday life so often ignored in conventional history books it begins with the river thames the lifeblood of elizabethan london before turning to the streets and the traffic in them liza picard surveys building methods and shows us the interior decor of the rich and the not so rich and what they were likely to be growing in their gardens then the londoners of the time take the stage in all their amazing finery plague smallpox and other diseases afflicted them but food and drink sex and marriage and family life provided comfort cares could be forgotten in a playhouse or the bull baiting of bear baiting rings or watching a good cockfight liza picard s wonderfully skilful and vivid evocation of the london of elizabeth i enables us to share the delights as well as the horrors of the everyday lives of our sixteenth century ancestors

Rambles on Railways 1883 the southern railway between 1923 and 1939 was the only british company to carry out a sustained programme of electrification which became known as the southern electric unlike many recent projects each incremental step was completed on time and within budget this successful project was more impressive as it was achieved during a period of economic stagnation including the great depression and despite government disapproval of the method of electrification the driving force behind this endeavor was the railway s general manager sir herbert walker but at his side was his electrical engineer alfred raworth the man one journalist described as an electrification genius alfred raworth s career began working with his father the eminent consulting engineer and entrepreneur john smith raworth following the collapse of his father s business alfred joined the railway industry and devised an ambitious and innovative electrification design this was discarded when the railways of southern england were grouped into the southern railway after which he took responsibility for the implementation of the electrification schemes with walker s retirement in 1937 those who continued to support steam traction took the policy lead a marginalised raworth retired but was later to witness the fruition of many of his discarded ideas
