blue ink review starred review scholarly world private worlds thinking critically about science religion and your private beliefs karl d fezer xlibris 434 pages paperback 24 99 9781401034146 reviewed march 2014 informal logic is a discipline that examines the validity of the arguments we encounter in everyday discourse from political speeches to editorials to posts on social media karl d fezer s work is nothing less than a tour de force of informal logic this important book investigates under what conditions our beliefs are warranted and the limits of the methods by which we derive them the author is not concerned with validating or debunking any particular worldview religious or scientific but with examining the grounds on which we form the views that we do in fact hold the book s first part discusses the distinction between the views we harbor in our inmost hearts and their extension into the social realm where we encounter a multiplicity of views different from our own in the second part fezer presents good reasons why we might doubt the beliefs we hold in his third section he discusses methods by which we might form views that are worthy of being called rational the final section covers the differences between science and religion and the limitations inherent in attempts to reconcile competing worldviews fezer also contributes to the debate around teaching creationism in schools he makes an argument for limiting the curriculum to accounts of the natural world that do not introduce supernatural principles however fezer is not anti religion and he discusses both religious and humanistic viewpoints neutrally the author notes that he is attempting to fill a void in university liberal arts curricula as such the book has the structure of a textbook complete with questions for further study in an appendix however it is written in crisp readable prose readers who aren t intimidated by the textbook style will find a cogent forceful presentation that is likely to challenge his or her convictions in a non threatening and highly impressive manner many men and women are apparently dropping off the edges of our horizons because of deep personal tragedy or even dramatic failure they sink into a quiet personal despair robotic lifestyle where each day becomes aimless and survival oriented sometimes silently sometimes loudly they cry for help and they re not heard in or out of the church so bewildered and confused they wander off to the side and we ignore them deliberately we don t notice they re not around any longer until its too late the sadness is compounded because the bible along with god s people living out biblical principles offers a remarkable promise of rebuilding and renewal from which no one is ever exempt the future of the christian faith will not be determined by the number of people who fill the pews but by the spiritual depth of those people pastor gordon macdonald revisits the fictional new england congregation of his critically acclaimed book who stole my church to deal with a new dilemma what s his church s story what is it doing that justifies its existence the importance of these questions is anything but fiction through a series of e mails and discussions with friends and parishioners pastor gordon s search for their story leads him to realize that the future of the christian faith and thus the church is at risk as macdonald says we seem to know how to get unchurched people to visit our buildings we even seem to know how to draw them across the line into a declaration of personal faith in jesus but what we do not seem to know is how to cultivate spiritually deep people tomorrow s church could be headed for trouble deep people people who possess spiritual awareness and maturity people with solid grounded life altering faith macdonald shows that the church needs people with a passion for god s presence and a desperate hunger to seek him above all things join pastor macdonald and his congregation on their quest to cultivate spiritual depth and grow into a community of believers whose hearts and minds are truly focused on god
