during wartime in asia high school students undergrads and general readers alike can get a glimpse into the often dismal but surprisingly resilient lives led by ordinary people those who did not go off to war but were powerfully affected by it nonetheless how did people live on a day to day basis with the cruelty and horror of war right outside their doorsteps what were the reactions and views of those who did not fight on the fields how did people come together to cope with the losses of loved ones and the sacrifices they had to make on a daily basis this volume contains accounts from the resilient civilians who lived in asia during the taiping and nian rebellions the philippine revolution the wars of meiji japan world war ii the korean war and the vietnam war this volume begins with r g tiedemann s account of life in china in the mid nineteenth century during the taiping and nian rebellions tiedemann examines social practices imposed on the civilians by the taiping life in the cities and country women and the militarization of society bernardita reyes churchill examines how civilians in the philippines struggled for freedom under the imperial reign spain and the united states at the turn of the twentieth century stewart lone looks at how meiji japan s wars on the asian continent affected the lives and routines of men women and children urban and rural he also explains how the media played a role during the wars as well as how people were able to spend leisure time and even make wartime humor di wang uses the public space of the teahouse and its culture as a microcosm of daily life in china during tumultuous years of civil and world war 1937 1949 simon partner explores japanese daily life during world war ii investigating youth culture the ways people school children to youth protests to how propaganda affected civilians this volume offers students and general readers a glimpse into the lives of those often forgotten and now we find seated on the throne of france a young monarch of a strange wild unattractive exterior his eye is pale colourless and shifty seeming to be void of all expression he trusts no man and has no real assurance of his power as sovereign he looks long and suspiciously at those about him before speaking rarely bestows his confidence and believes himself constantly surrounded by spies tis a nervous timid child tis charles ix history treats him with an extreme severity and the st bartholomew has thrown a lurid light over this unhappy prince s figure he allowed the massacres on the fatal nights of the 24th and 25th of august and even shot down the flying protestants from his palace roof without going into the interminable discussions of historians as to this last alleged fact which is as strongly denied by some authorities as it is maintained by others i am not one of those who say hard things of charles ix it is more a sentiment of pity i feel for him this monarch who loved brantôme and marot and who protected henri iv against catherine de medici i see him surrounded by brothers whom he had learned to distrust the due d alençon is on the spot a legitimate object of detestation by reason of the subterranean intrigues he is for ever hatching against his person while his other brother henri afterwards henri iii catherine s favourite son is in poland kept sedulously informed of every variation in the prince s always feeble health waiting impatiently for the hour when he must hurry back to france to secure the crown he covets then his sister s vicious outbreaks are a source of constant pain and anxiety to him and last but not least there is his mother catherine de medici an incubus that crushed out his very life breath he cannot forget the tortures his brother francis suffered from his mysterious malady and his premature death after a single year s reign catherine hated mary stuart his young queen whose only fault was to have exaggerated in herself all the frailties together with all the physical perfections of a woman and dreadful words had been whispered with bated breath about the queen mother an italian deprived of all power while her husband lived insulted by a proud and beautiful favourite yet knowing herself well fitted for command she had brought up her children with ideas of respect and submission to her will they were never able to throw off the ill will she bore her daughter in law was the cause of all those accusations history has listened to over readily but charles a nervous affectionate child whose natural impulses however had been chilled by his mother s influence and the indifference of his father henri ii was thrown back on himself and grew up timid suspicious and morose the frantic love of francis for his fascinating queen the cold dignity of catherine in face of slights and cruel mortifications her bitter disappointment during her eldest son s reign her italian origin held then even more than now to imply an implacable determination to avenge all injuries her indifference to the sudden and appalling death of the young king the insinuations of her enemies all combined to make a profound impression on charles giving a furtive and if we may say so a haggard bent to his character presently seated on the throne of france huguenots and catholics all about him exposed to the insults and pretensions of the guise faction on the one hand and that of coligny on the other dragged now this way now that between the two yet all the while instinctively drawn toward the catholic side by ancestral faith and his mother s counsels no less than by reasons of state charles signed the fatal order authorizing the massacre of the saint bartholomew revealing the secrets of reptilian
