there are two kinds of breeds in this world one who always thinks about the problems who keeps on crying and blaming the system for it then there is the second breed of people who understand problems and find solutions rather than leaving it for someone else welcome to winners or losers a story of two friends sam and jassi who were sitting idly after completing their mba they were idle out of their own choice they didnt take jobs as they felt that doing nine to five jobs were not their cup of tea they were waiting for some miracle to happen in their lives but parents and peer pressure was mounting every day parental support was weaning away and friends had starting taunting and laughing at them an idle son at home is a curse for the parents and parents could no longer tolerate their idleness sam and jassi were known as losers in their circle and neighbors had started looking down on them neighbors had started advising rather than compelling their children to abhor their company out of compulsion they accept a difficult challenge from the parents did they win or lose from acclaimed political scientist diana mutz a revealing look at why people s attitudes on trade differ from their own self interest winners and losers challenges conventional wisdom about how american citizens form opinions on international trade while dominant explanations in economics emphasize personal self interest and whether individuals gain or lose financially as a result of trade this book takes a psychological approach demonstrating how people view the complex world of international trade through the lens of interpersonal relations drawing on psychological theories of preference formation as well as original surveys and experiments diana mutz finds that in contrast to the economic view of trade as cooperation for mutual benefit many americans view trade as a competition between the united states and other countries a contest of us versus them these people favor trade as long as they see americans as the winners in these interactions viewing trade as a way to establish dominance over foreign competitors for others trade is a means of maintaining more peaceful relations between countries just as individuals may exchange gifts to cement relationships international trade is a tie that binds nations together in trust and cooperation winners and losers reveals how people s orientations toward in groups and out groups play a central role in influencing how they think about trade with foreign countries and shows how a better understanding of the psychological underpinnings of public opinion can lead to lasting economic and societal benefits
