Issues relating to foreign investment and control of U.S. airlines 1988

United States attorneys, as the chief federal prosecutors in each judicial district, are key in determining how the federal government uses coercive force against its citizens. How much control do national political actors exert over the prosecutorial decisions of the U.S. This book investigates this question using a unique dataset of federal criminal prosecutions between 1986 and 2015 that captures both decisions by the U.S. to file cases as well as the sentences that result. Utilizing intuitions from principal agent theory, work on the career ambition of bureaucrats and politicians, and selected case studies, the authors develop and advance a set of hypotheses about control by the president and Congress, harnessing variation across time, federal judicial districts, and five legal issue areas: immigration, narcotics, terrorism, weapons, and white collar crime. Miller and Curry find that the U.S. is subject to considerable executive influence in their decision making. Supporting findings about the increase of presidential power over the last three decades, in addition, they show that the ability of the president to appoint U.S. to higher level positions within the executive branch or to federal judgeships is an important mechanism of that control. This investigation sheds light on how the need to be responsive to popularly elected principals channels the enormous prosecutorial discretion of the U.S.

U.S. Foreign Policy and International Narcotics Control 1992

In 1948, Americans spent five percent of total consumption on health care. Six decades later, in 2009, this had risen to twenty one percent. What happened? Why did the percentage continue to grow, and given current factors and trajectories, this probably will continue in the foreseeable future? The problem is that a larger health care percentage results in a smaller percentage of other valued consumption: housing, food, education, transportation, and so on. Finally, add health care's bureaucratic burden: often getting health care seems more like an inquisition than purchasing products and services from friendly merchants and medical providers. Addressing these concerns, this study examines the post-war economic history of health care spending, is examined using evolutionary economic theory and an econometric model analyzing 1948-2009 data. Important causes of health care spending growth include: 1) the initial rule change permitting employers to exclude employee health insurance premiums from taxation; 2) a feedback pattern wherein greater insurance generates greater spending, which then generates greater insurance demand; 3) a growing federal presence such as the Medicare and Medicaid programs; and 4) the rise of both private and public managed care services with an ever-growing percentage of health care dollars paid by insurance. It is becoming ever more bureaucratic with rules governing every aspect of health care practices. The conundrum is how to get those consuming health care to become more responsible while providing a safety net for everyone needing health care even for those without an ability to pay the conclusion discusses these issues

A Summary of U.S. Export Control Regulations 1983 in 1973 henry kissinger shared the nobel peace prize for the secret negotiations that led to the agreement on ending the war and restoring peace in vietnam nixon famously declared the 1973 agreement to be peace with honor america was disengaging yet south vietnam still stood to fight its own war kissinger promptly moved to seal up his personal records of the negotiations arguing that they are private not government records and that he will only allow them to be unsealed after his death no peace no honor deploys extraordinary documentary bombshells including a complete north vietnamese account of the secret talks to blow the lid off the true story of the peace process neither nixon and kissinger s critics nor their defenders have guessed at the full truth the entire peace negotiation was a sham nixon did not plan to exit vietnam but he knew that in order to continue bombing without a congressional cutoff he would need a fig leaf kissinger negotiated a deal that he and nixon expected the north to violate ironically their long maintained spin on what happened next is partially true only watrgate stopped america from sending the bombers back in this revelatory book has many other surprises berman produces new evidence that finally proves a long suspected connection between candidate nixon in 1968 and the south vietnamese government he tells the full story of operation duck hook a large scale offensive planned by nixon as early as 1969 that would have widened the war even to the point of bombing civilian food supplies he reveals transcripts of candidate george mcgovern s attempts to negotiate his own october surprise for 1972 and a seriocomic plan by the cia to overthrow south vietnam s president thieu even as late as 1975 throughout with page turning dialogue provided by official transcriptions and notes berman reveals the step by step betrayal of south vietnam that started with a short circuited negotiations loop and ended with double talk false promises and outright abandonment berman draws on hundreds of declassified documents including the notes of kissinger s aides phone taps of the nixon campaign in 1968 and mcgovern s own transcripts of his negotiations with north vietnam he has been able to double and triple check north vietnamese accounts against american notes of meetings as well as previously released bits of the record he has interviewed many key players including high level south vietnamese officials this definitive account forever and completely rewrites the final chapter of the vietnam war henry kissinger s nobel prize was won at the cost of america s honor
